

SEND EVERYONE A "BIG HELLO"

ment plant located east of Marietta.

A panel of experts discussed the use of the sludge by farmers as fertilizer, incorporation of the sludge into the soil, the environmental impact within the community, and application procedures.

Speaking as a representative of the Pennsylvania Environmental Resources was Keith Kerns who summed up the procedures and requirements enforced to utilize the sludge. His department is responsible for enforcing regulations drafted by the Legislature.

Richard Fox, from the Pennsylvania Extension Service, showed slides of examples of systems in action.

A question and answer period followed the information session.

A "BIG HELLO"

Send a "Big Hello" to your mother. Your uncle. Your mother's uncle. A "Big Hello" is a gift certificate that you now can get at your Phone Shop or Telephone Business Office.

Your friends and family all over the United States and Canada can do a lot with the "Big Hello" gift certificates you send them.

With a "Big Hello," Aunt Rose can say good-bye to her plain old phone and say hello to a brand new decorator phone.

Your cousins Bill, Dan and Murray can reach out and touch their family and friends who are far away and use their "Big Hello" gift certificates to pay.

In fact, your telephone company has lots of great-looking phones and a variety of very useful services to choose from. And that's why people who send their friends a "Big Hello" get a big smile in return.
