

had sunk into a chair and covered her face with her hands. He came closer to her.

"Mrs. Trevelyan," he said, "dear Mrs. Trevelyan, how gladly would I have spared you the pain of this moment, how willingly have foregone it to remove the happiness which it has given me. Hear me, Mrs. Trevelyan—Elinde!" she started at hearing him thus name her—dearest Elinde!" again he took her hand, "why should we be foes? Before I knew who you were, I had ceased to be so—your generosity had conquered my selfishness—be generous again, and pardon me who never meant to offend, who loves you, Elinde, dearer than life itself!"

Is it not wrongs who singe—

"Let me say that there is need
Of time for love to grow?"

And do not all who have ever truly loved, admit that a single moment suffices to color every future hour of existence? To such—and doubtless they form the majority of my readers—I need not minutely tell how the law-suit ended to the discomfiture of Messrs. Quillet and Quirk, how Mrs. Trevelyan became Lady Norham, and how the "Canaria rapita" was disposed of. To the best of my belief, the last named subject was never advertised to, though Lord Norham smiled very mysteriously the first time he saw the preparations making for his bride's "trousseau."

As for Susan, she never ceased wondering at the way things is brought about?

To think, she used to say, lifting up her hands and eyes, "to think of my lord and my lady being introduced to each other by means of a scrimmisher, who the forin wally calls it!"

THE LATE FOREIGN NEWS.—The startling fact that Paris has recently been the theatre of a new revolution—another "trois jours"—has created a tremendous excitement throughout the length and breadth of the United States, and in fact throughout the civilized world. To the monarchies and oligarchies and hierarchies of the old world, it comes in questionable shape, but with an aspect ominous of a new era, which demands the downfall of tyrants and asserts the equality of men. The great fact that governments are, or ought to be, instituted for the good of the many, and the protection of all, instead of the aggrandizement of the few at the expense of the many, first taught in the American Bill of Rights, and practised by the American Government, has not been carelessly overlooked by other nations; but it has grown with our growth, and strengthened with our strength.—The seeds of true government, which have been wafted from our shores to distant countries have found congenial soil; the roots of the bright exotic of the west, have struck wide and deep upon the other continent; and the present movement is but the first fruits of the bountiful harvest for which our fathers worked and prayed.

The Crown of France, abominated in favor of his son, by the late Sovereign, has been made a nullity by the act of the people; and we verily believe that the last King of the French, is among the things of the past. The allied powers may—probably will—attempt to overthrow the young republic; but England has Ireland to watch, as well as the growing spirit of freedom among her own people—never so strong as now—and Poland, and the crushed, but not vanquished, States of Europe, will furnish ample employment for the other powers, until a general outbreak shall restore to the down-trodden their long with-held liberties.

Was it, then, a mere vagary of the poet's brain, when, with full confidence in the might of right, he sang—

"There's a good time coming."

The debt of gratitude we owe to the land that gave us a La Fayette, as well as the sympathy every American must cherish for all efforts in the cause of freedom and of man, will doubtless impel thousands of ardent spirits in the United States, to rush to the succor of our brethren "beyond the wide Atlantic Sea."

The news by the next steamer, will be looked for with unusual interest; and we envy the daily papers the privilege of being first to herald it to the world.

RESOVAL.—On the first of April next, the office of the Columbia Spy will be removed to the building now occupied by Mr. Raub, on Front street, when and where we shall be prepared to receive and execute all orders in the line of printing. And as our office will be in the third story, which commands an extensive prospect of the Susquehanna and surrounding country, we hope to secure for the Spy a more extensive visiting acquaintance.

READING ROOM.—A subscription is in circulation for the establishment of a Reading Room in Columbia. All who feel disposed to encourage the enterprise can leave their names at this office, where further information on the subject may be obtained.

LECTURE.—Prof. Skellenger will lecture on the subject of Phrenology and Physiology, at the Town Hall, this (Saturday) evening. After the lecture an examination will take place—the subjects to be selected by individuals appointed by audience. We would advise all who feel an interest in these sciences, to be on hand.

It is desirable that correspondents should be as brief as the nature of the subjects will allow—Lengthy communications exclude variety, but multum in parvo is comme il faut.

THE JAMES GIVEN.—A fine Canal Boat bearing the name of our venerable fellow citizen, James Given, was launched from the Boat Yard of Mr. Simpson, this week. Her breadth of beam is fifteen feet, and she is calculated to carry seventy-five tons.

FATIGUE.—The Susquehanna commenced rising on Thursday night, and is now in good navigable order. The lumber trade will shortly commence, and give additional life to our borough, which already wears an unusually thrifty aspect.

TO HON. MR. HAMPTON.—Our thanks for public documents.

THE JOHN DONKEY of this week is stupid almost to a fault.

LITERARY NOTICES.

EWBANK'S HYDRAULICS AND MECHANICS.—This is one of the most important as well as interesting works that has emanated from the press during the past or present year. Aside from the interest with which its novelty invests it, it is a really useful book, and gives a fund of information which is nowhere else to be found, and which no mechanic or scientific man should be without. It has been ascertained that many of the patents now held are identical in principle with machinery used centuries ago, and which are explained and illustrated in this work. Part fifth has been published. From some cause we have failed to receive all the numbers, and those we did receive are not now within our reach. We will endeavor to reciprocate the favor if the publishers will forward us a set.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—This highly popular monthly promises to publish in its next issue, a beautiful plate, entitled "The Queen of May," printed in colors,—the first attempt of the kind in any magazine in this country. Also a mezzotint, entitled "A Spring Flower," from an original picture by Sully.

The present number contains two beautiful engravings, and the usual variety of reading matter, wood cuts, and music.

Persons desirous of obtaining this elegant magazine, can do so by application at the office of the Spy.

THE LADIES' BOOK and the COLUMBIA Spy, will be furnished for one year, for THREE DOLLARS IN ADVANCE; the best offer we can conceive of, to those wishing the best magazine and newspaper extent.

THE COLUMBIAN MAGAZINE.—It will be remembered that this is the publication that presents to each of its new patrons, a superb engraved likeness of Washington. The number for April contains two beautiful engravings, a plate of the Fashions, a piece of music, "The Carrier Dove," and a good amount of literary matter.

The Columbian is worthy of patronage and is furnished, together with the large portrait of Washington, for $3 per annum in advance.

J. S. Taylor, 151, Nassau Street, New York.

TEACHERS' AND PARENTS' MANUAL OF EDUCATION; being a plan for a uniform course of study for Schools and Academies.—This is the title of a new work just published, a copy of which we have received from the publishers. It is designed principally as a text book for parents and teachers, setting forth a "systematic plan by which certain and regular progress will be secured to the learner."—From a cursory examination of its contents, we have been favorably impressed with its merits.

WHICH Indian Vegetable-Pills are one of the most extraordinary medicines in the world for the cure of goutiness, because they purge from the body those stagnant and corrupt humors which when floating in the blood, are the source of all disease, and the removal of rust of blood to the bone, and the elimination of rust of bone to the skin, and this is done in a manner which is incomparable.

BURGESS OR COLUMBIAN AND INDIAN PILLS.—Remember that the original and only genuine Indian Vegetable Pills have the written signature of WILLIAM WARD on the top label of each bottle.

These pills are to be had of FRY & SPANGLER who are the only authorized Agents for Columbia, also by agents advertised in another column.

SONGS FOR THE PEOPLE.—Part 4 of this elegant and popular work is on our table. It contains some of the best songs and pieces of the day, splendidly illustrated. G. B. Zieber, & Co., Philadelphia, publishers.

MURDER IN PHILADELPHIA.—The Philadelphia dailies of yesterday morning contain accounts of an atrocious murder committed upon the person of Mrs. Redemacher, and her husband was at the same time, severely, if not mortally wounded. The particulars occupy two and three columns, and are of nature to appal the stoutest heart.

We learn from the Ledger this morning that a fellow named Charles Langfeldt has been arrested and charged with the murder.

Hopes are entertained that Mr. Rademacher will recover.

ALBANY, N. Y. has become a city. Having been once the loveliest village of the plain!—although rather illerel in its location,—it is now, of course, one of the "cities of the plain." We hope there may always be found righteous men enough to secure it from the fate of Sudom and Gomorrah—but the fact that there dwelt within its limits, several hundred convicted felons, should make insurance rates several per cent. higher than elsewhere.

So, the French are going to have a Provisional Government!" exclaimed Mrs. Gatherington, after reading an account of the late Revolution in France. "Well, I hope the honest, hard-working citizens will have enough to eat now; and if the new government only sells its provisions at a fair living profit, I'll engage there'll be no more revolutions in France!" And the excellent old lady resumed her knitting with cheerful alacrity, while a serene smile of satisfaction lighted up her placid countenance.

ACT OF A LUNATIC.—Recently, at Aberdeen, O., the daughter of Mr. Evans, an infant of three years, was deliberately butchered by a lunatic. Mrs. Evans, having occasion to visit a neighbor, left her child asleep in the cradle, and a boarder in the family, Struthier B. Reed, sitting by the fire reading the bible. She had been gone but a few minutes, when Reed went into the yard and procured a board, which he laid on the floor, and stepping to the cradle, jerked from it the little innocent with such violence as to force the arm from its socket, and laying her head on the board, deliberately chopped it with a broad-axe in five different places. After the deed was done, Reed walked to the kitchen and called the attention of the servant woman to the horrid spectacle, who instantly ran to the neighbors and gave the alarm. When the house was reached, Reed was again seated by the fire intently reading his bible. He was subsequently sent to the Lunatic Asylum.

You and I started into active life together. We were married about the same time. We received the same wages for our labor, and you have earned as much money as I have. The reason that I am better off than you are, is because I save my earnings. I drink no liquor, smoke no cigars, and chew no tobacco, all of which is as unnecessary to me as counterfeiting.

For Horatio—Kilmstock's Perfume will eradicate and cure every disease, and give you a long and healthy life. Those of all ages, the name is well known, and the date of birth is the name of the inventor. Price 25 cents per bottle.

No, said I, "Joe, I will do neither. You have no great claims on me for any thing of the kind, and, to speak plainly, I am afraid if I did either the one or the other I would be the loser, and the tavern-keepers only in the end would be the gainers; therefore, I think it but right that either those who have received your money for their liquor, or those who, in the first place treated you, should bear the loss, if any is to be sustained. But I want you to listen to me, I tell you something that will be for your benefit. It seems that three of your creditors, who supplied your family more than a year with the necessities of life, and after patiently waiting on you without receiving anything in payment, have sued you, and will sell you out unless you pay, or get bail. This is an unfortunate situation for a man to be in, but, from your own statement, it is no more than ought to be expected.

Further particulars you will find in the "Advertiser," to be had gratis, the sum of one dollar, or the Mother's Relief to be prepared only by the firm of C. Stockwell & Co., Courtland street, New York.
