CZOLG. KEXECUTED IN AUBURN PRISON

The Assassin of President McKinley Pays the Penalty in the Death Chair.

LAST ACT IN THE GREAT TRAGEDY.

Sullen and Unrepentant the Anarchist Murderer Goes to His Death, Denouncing Religion, Cursing the Priests and the Church and Declaring That He Alone Was Responsible for the Crime.

Auburn, N. Y. (Special) .- Leon Czolgosz, the assassin, has paid the penalty of the law for one of the most terrible crimes in the world's history.

The anarchist who, on September 6, shot and mortally wounded President McKinley in the Temple of Music on the Exposition grounds at Buffalo, N. Y., was electrocuted at 7.12 o'clock Tuesday morning in the death chair in the State prison at Auburn, N.Y.

To the last he maintained that he alone was responsible for the assassination of the President. His brother and brother-in-law, at their farewell meeting with the condemned man, begged and pleaded with him to tell them who prompted him in his crime, but he only repeated his former statement that he d no accomplices.

He refused all religious consolation and maintained a dogged silence in the presence of the priests who visited him. They begged him to abjure anarchy before his death, but he was emphatic in his opposition.

Czolgosz held two final interviews Monday night, the first with State Prison Superintendent Collins and the second with his brother Waldeck and his brother-in-law, Thomas Bandowski. Both interviews were brief and the visitors did most of the talking until the question of religion was mentioned. Then Czolgosz broke from his seeming lethargy, violently denounced the church and the clergy and made his relatives promise that there should be no religious service for him, living or dead.

Prior to these late interviews Czolgosz reluctantly received Revs. Hyacinth Fud-zinski and Thomas Hickey, Catholic priests. This was after he had once refused to meet them. When they reached the prison Supt. Collins conveyed to the prisoner the request of an inter-Czolgosz sent back word that he view. did not care to see them, but the priests asked to be allowed to go to him despite his refusal

At 7 p. m. Superintendent Collins went into the deathhouse and tried to get the prisoner to talk to him. Although he remained in the cell some time, he was apparently not successful in getting anything material from Czolgosz.

The brother and brother-in-law arrived at 8 o'clock and Superintendent Collins took them down to the condemned man's cell. There was no demonstration when they met. Czolgosz merely stepped to the front of his steel cage and said:

"Hello The brother ventured the remark: "I wish you would tell us, Leon, who got you into this scrape?'

PRISONER PALE AND MOTIONLESS

Kentucky's ex-Secretary of State Convicted a Second Time as an Accessory Before the Fact to the Murder of Governor Goebel -Again Sentenced to Imprisonment for Life-Motion for New Trial

Georgetown, Ky. (Special).- Ex-Sec-retary of State Caleb Powers was again convicted as an accessory before the fact to the murder of William Goebel in January, 1900, and for the second time has been sentenced to imprisonment for life. The second trial began October 8, and has continued with three sessions daily, court adjourning late at night. Arguments were limited so that the case went to the jury at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and a verdict of guilty soon followed. Powers sat pale and motionless when the verdict was announced by the foreman, B. S. Calvert, his old schoolmate Opposite Powers on the other side of the courtroom, with the attorneys, sat Arthur Goebel, brother of the late governor, with his eyes fixed on the prisoner. The attorneys of Powers shook his hand, expressing their belief in his innocence. Women crowded around Powers, em-

pracing and kissing him, and tears were shed. The defense having filed a motion for a new trial, Judge Cantrill, at 2.30 p. m., heard arguments on it

The jury was out only 50 minutes. Then a motion for a new trial was overruled, and the case will be appealed. The sentence was read and judgment suspended pending the decision of the higher tribunal. to more than $500,000 is the awful result of a fire which occurred in the heart of Philadelphia.

The number of injured is not known definitely, but fully a score of victims were treated at various hospitals.

The buildings destroyed were the eight-story structure, 1219 and 1221 Market street, occupied by Hunt, Wilkinson & Co., upholsterers and furniture dealers, and three three-story buildings occupied by small merchants. The furniture building extended back a half block to Commerce street and was owned by Henry C. Lea.

Never in its history has Philadelphia experienced a fire which spread with such great rapidity.

At 10.20 o'clock a. m. the blaze broke forth in the building occupied by Hunt, Wilkinson & Co., and one hour later the body was torn almost in half. A BATTLE ON THE BORDER LINE.

Cause of the Trouble Said to Be the Efforts of the Negroes to Kill One of Their Own Race Who Had Been Compelled By the Whites to Light the Fire by Which a Negro Was Burned to Death.

So far as can be gathered from the meager sources of information at present available the cause of the bitterness that has led to the outbreak is the determination of the colored men of the region to kill one of their own race, who, under orders of the whites, last Wednesday set fire to a pyre about a negro, who was being put to death for a brutal assault and attempted murder.

Of the men already killed as a result of several rifle battles that have been going on since Sunday, five are whites and the remainder colored When the fighting began the colored men met their foes n the open, but in the afternoon several of them fled across the Mississippi line, where the Columbia State Guards are stationed to protect them, and others are entrenching themselves in houses in the heart of the town.

In all probability the struggle is now resolving itself into a man hunt, with the negroes seeking whatever shelter they can find. The whites far outnumber them in the neighborhood of Balltown. Squads of men are reported patroling the country round the settlement, and they are shooting them down in cold blood wherever they find them. Sheriff Si-mons, of Washington Parish, has telegraphed to Governor Heard that it will be impossible for him to restore order without the assistance of the militia.

Last Wednesday Bill Morris, a negro, assaulted and attempted to murder a white woman, Mrs. John Ball, who now is said to be dying at her home. Morris was caught on the same afternoon, and, in the presence of several hundred people, was burned at the stake in the middle of the town, after being chained to a pine sapling and surrounded by a great heap of pine knots. Another negro was forced to set fire to the wood, and as soon as the colored population heard of the affair they held a meeting and denounced the man for his cowardice in complying with the demands of the white. Violent speeches stirred them to action, and they determined to catch the offender and burn him at the stake in revenge.

DR. RIXEY'S REPORT.
