Any person desiring to buy a fine mare should call on J. W. Horst.

Harry Jackson hired himself to Ezra Zercher for the summer of 1902.

A little more rain and Ezra Zercher's would have been drowned out of their house.

Several loads of tobacco went through here in the rain last Friday. We reckon it had plenty of weight.

Donegal Springs

Reuben Emechiser moved on Thursday.

Lucy Cherry was at Harrisburg over Sunday.

Frank Spidel accidentally took a bath in the Donegal creek recently.

Cyrus Schroll is through stripping tobacco and is ready for the buyers.

Solomon Hoover and Abram Keller took their tobacco to Landisville on Thursday.

We are pleased to say that Jacob Omer Nissley, son of Clayton L. Nissley, has been elected check clerk of the Union Trust company at Lancaster. At present Mr. Nissley is a student at Mercersburg.

A Decided Success

The Forester's fair in the Mount Joy Hall during February, was the centre of attraction in our community and the many people present accounts for a neat surplus after all expenses were deducted. The following persons were among the lucky ones: John Kemick, gent's gold watch; Walter Grissinger, a parlor lamp; Louisa Hershey, couch; Michael Shue and Abram Shires, each a rocker; M. N. Brubaker, a pair of lace curtains; Harvey Ream clock; Samuel Bookman of York, fancy rug; Mr. Miley of Lancaster, a silk cushion; Mrs. William G. Shickley, set of dishes; Pearl Rineer, ladies' gold watch; Mrs. Geo. Poff, Morris chair. Any person holding coupon No. 197, is entitled to the bed room suite.

Leap Years and Fridays.

The twentieth century will have the greatest number of leap years possible for a century—namely twenty-five. The year 1904 will be the first one, then every fourth year after that up to and including the year 2000. February will three times have five Sundays—in 1920, 1948 and 1976.

Business Slow Without Advertising

The Advisor, with truth, maintains that no man who expects to succeed in business can do without advertising; no matter how large or small his business may be, how little or well known he is, advertising is the magic key that unlocks the door of the gate which is closed fast between the man in business and the public. Of course, if a man is satisfied with a few things, if he has no aspiration toward big things, he does not need to advertise; but just as surely as the sun rises and sets, just so surely will the non-advertiser go down to oblivion and disaster. And when you do advertise, always spend your money where you are sure to get the widest publicity. Advertising in mediums of small circulation never pays.

Narrowly Escaped Death

Henry Mumma of town, is stripping tobacco for Monroe Sheaffer, a farmer 1/2 mile east of this place. Last Tuesday Mr. Mumma was busy working in the tobacco cellar and was overtaken by gas from the stove. The chimney on the tobacco shed only being temporary the wind blew the gas back into the cellar. He was discovered by William Sheaffer in an unconscious condition and was immediately taken out into the fresh air. Dr. J. J. Newpher was summoned and revived the victim. Had it not been for Sheaffer, Mr. Mumma would have without doubt asphyxiated.

Must and Did Keep Cool

Last week the linemen of the various telephone and telegraph lines spent several days repairing wires in the vicinity of our sanctum. It's interesting to watch them climb nimbly to the top of tall poles, perch themselves on a cross arm and work away with apparently as much ease and confidence as we stiffened, fearful creatures who work in chairs a foot and a half from the floor. Assuredly a lineman must keep cool—and when we looked at the thermometer it was apparent that they did.

"In the winter of 1898 and 1899 I was taken down with a severe attack of what is called La Grippe," says F. L. Hewett, a prominent druggist of Winfield, Ill. "The only medicine I used was two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It broke up the cold and stopped the coughing like magic, and I have never since been troubled with Grippe." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy can always be depended upon to break up a severe cold and ward off any threatened attacks of pneumonia. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by J. S. Carmany, Florin, Pa.

Flowers Are the Fashion.

The smart girl has taken to wearing flowers again, and it's not as if she looked more bewitching. Not long since violets were the only flowers permissible for street wear. Now a big bunch of lilies of the valley,

BIG BUNCHES OF LILIES OF THE VALLEY, orchids or even a cluster of roses for certain occasions may be substituted for the violets.

The girl of the mode and the moment wears flowers on her muff, flowers tucked in between the frills of her boa, flowers in her hair, flowers on her hat and flowers pinned at her corsage.

It is no longer a question of whether it is correct form to wear flowers. Instead the question of importance is, in what new ways can flowers be worn?

And there are many attractive fashions in flowers.

Roses are arranged in one way and lilies of the valley in another, and so it is with the other flowers.—New York Journal.

Far Fashions.

As the season advances furs become more and more attractive. The tendency seems to be toward fancy effects. Fur animals are no longer considered the smart thing by women who faithfully observe the changes in fashions. Flat stoles and cape effects prevail, but by stapes are meant the short ones reaching only about the shoulders and terminating in the front in two long stole shaped pieces. Capes reaching to the waist line are considered suitable only for middle aged women. Three-quarter capes, however, of sable, mink and ermine are used for carriage wear and for theater wraps. Chinchilla, ermine, sable and silver fox are the most costly furs. The silver fox ranks highest in the scale, a good mink selling for as high as $750. Chinchilla is becoming rarer and rarer. It is eked out with sable and other furs in a variety of ways. As it wears hardly more than one season, it is a most extravagant purchase.

Silk Mittens For Roadside.

Children's fashions are not liable to the storm and stress of their elders' fashions. For party occasions this year, just as last, soft silk with lace insertions for wee girls and ring spotted net for lassies over ten or eleven are ordered. To show little white silk mittens on soft, pink hands and arms sleeves are cut sometimes to three-quarter length.

Flooded the County

It has been many years since such a condition of affairs prevailed in Lancaster county as exists now, due to the continued rains and thaws. Every stream is full and over its banks, and many have done great damage to property. The state of affairs found in one district is applicable to the entire county. Small bridges over what are usually little creeks or rivulets have been washed away and the country roads are almost impassible.
