Thieves Active.

At a late hour on Saturday night burglars effected an entrance to the residence of David M. Eyer, near Schock's Station, by forcing a second story window, access to which had been gained by means of a ladder. Mr. Eyer's room was ransacked without disturbing him, but his niece, Miss Hoffman, was awakened and the burglars were scared off. Only a small sum of money was secured.

Two Italians Killed.

Shortly after six o'clock on Sunday morning two middle-aged Italians met death on the Pennsylvania railroad, a mile east of Bainbridge. The one man was struck and his body sent through space at a terrific force. The flying body struck the other man and both were hurled into the canal. One was instantly killed and the other died shortly afterwards.

Quite a Curiosity.

On Friday afternoon we saw quite a freak of nature on the farm Benjamin E. Brubaker, near Strickler's Meeting House, two miles northeast of town. It was a one week old calf which was born without eyes or a tail. The calf is quite a curiosity and is still well and hearty. The backbone terminates at the hips. This we think would be a good attraction in some side show.

On Saturday morning the Court granted a charter to "The Salunga Cornet Band," of Salunga. The officers are John Weidman, president; Arthur Diefenderfer, secretary and treasurer, and Harry K. Way, musical director.

The Roof Garden.

The crowds that attend the performances at the Woolworth Building Roof Garden all of last season were but an attestation of the time honored fact that persistent effort must result in success. When the Roof Garden project was launched two years ago by Mr. F. W. Woolworth and Capt. John B. Peopples, he of bathing resort fame, it was a business venture pure and simple. During the entire season the wants and wishes of the amusement loving public of the county were carefully watched and studied assiduously. While it must be admitted the first season was not a paying one, the object in view was attained, the exact kind of amusement wanted had become known. Acting upon this knowledge the second season was carried through with gratifiable success to all concerned. With two years' experience here, backed by many years' experience along other amusement lines, Capt. Peopples is now nearly ready to open the garden's third season. As sole manager this year Capt. Peopples promises to not only maintain the high standard of last season but to excel this, if such a thing be possible. The garden will open on May 4, with a strong bill and the different week's bills, from time to time, will present "headliners" from the best vaudeville houses in the country, notably Keith's Prouler's and the Orpheum Circuits. The booking of the performers will be done through the Norris Agency of New York City, the very best of its kind. In securing the "top-notch" variety talent money will not be spared and the results must and will speak for themselves. When in Lancaster visit the Garden. There is nothing like it anywhere outside of a few of the very largest cities.

A Superior Court Decision.

Superior Court on Monday handed down an opinion, reversing the case of Albert Gull vs. Philip Frank. This suit was on a settlement between landlord and tenant, the claim amounting to about $3,000. The landlord Philip Frank, defended on the ground of payment and a receipt in full given by the plaintiff. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for about $1,300. The defendant moved for a new trial. On this motion, the Court reduced the verdict to about $400. The defendant appealed from this judgment, to the Superior Court, who reversed the judgement, without a venire, which means that judgement is entered in favor of the defendant, without any further trial. W. U. Hensel and Henry Carpenter Esqs., represented the plaintiff, and Coyle & Keller, Esqs., represented the defendant.

A Serious Accident.

Some time ago Samuel Holwager who lives three miles north of town purchased a valuable sorrel horse from Jacob Wagner. On Friday the animal met with a serious accident. Mr. Holwager was hauling stone and the horse which is a spritid one, was prancing along when it tread very heavily on a stone, when one of the fore legs slipped out of position at the shoulder. A veterinary surgeon was at once summoned but present indications are that the horse will have to be killed. This is the second accident of this kind that happened Mr. Holwager.

A Bad Fall.

Jac. Snyder gave up the job of trying to move the old brick Lutheran church and now it is being torn down. On Monday morning while Eli Shreiner and a number of other workmen were busy on the second story, several heavy timbers gave way and fell to the floor. All escaped injury except Mr. Shreiner, who has a badly wrenched leg and several bad bruises. He fell about eighteen feet.

Benjamin S. Stauffer is breaking all records in this vicinity for fattening cattle. Last Fall he got a lot of steers and fed them until April 3, and during that time increased an average weight of 408 pounds on each head.

Did you notice how the caterpillars are making their appearance on the fruit trees? It is an easier task to destroy them when they are young than when left alone until they are full grown when they do a great amount of damage to the fruit trees.

Death of Amos Zeager.

Amos Zeager died at his late home in this borough on Thursday night at 11.45 o'clock of consumption aged 28 years. He is survived by a wife and three children, the youngest an infant, his mother, two brothers and two sisters. Funeral services were held on Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the house. Interment at Mount Joy Cemetery. Mr. Zeager was a painter by trade but of late had been employed at the Grey Iron Works. His shopmates at that place, remembered him by collecting $15 with which they purchased the finest floral tribute ever seen in Mount Joy, "The Gates Ajar." H. H.
