THE LOAN CARRIES.

Now We Will Get a New School Building.

The special election for the purpose of obtaining the consent of the voters of this borough on the proposed school loan was held yesterday and carried by a majority of more than three to one, as 175 votes were polled for and 58 against the loan.

The subject was discussed from every point of view by our citizens and local papers for the past six weeks, which was indeed very interesting and the result could come none too soon for the inquisitive ones. The vote was seemingly a surprise for the following reasons: Many landlords who own a dozen or more houses and their tenants that if they vote for the loan and their rents will be expell'd from their houses would have room for dozens of other reasons.

Also that if the vote were expell'd from their houses would have room for dozens of other reasons. Now look out for the school building with a good ventilating system. It passed off very quietly. The vote was as follows:

E. W. W. W.	Total
107	68
175	33
58	58

Over many whether or not be raised. The land- a little question: charge so on to the properties. That there very few in town that should pay as much rent as in business stand is really worth the cost. All landlords can favor the poorer class by paying a few dollars more taxes without making rents any higher than they are at present.

Another Lie.

The Mount Joy correspondent to the North American this morning is away off in his item in reference to yesterday's election. The dispatch says, "It was decided by 47 votes (plus 66) to increase the School Board debt." The truth of the matter is there were 175 majority. This is but one of the few bluff items that Philadelphia papers publish from time to time from this same informant. Give us correct information or nothing.

For the Mount Joy Trolley.

Those persons interested in the building of a trolley line between Lancaster and Mount Joy by the way of Rohrerstown, met Monday afternoon in the rooms of the traction company in the Woolworth Building Lancaster. The committees presented reports, which were very encouraging, and the committees were continued. From present indications there are no doubts about the construction of the road.

Florin's Ball Team.

A base ball team was organized at Florin on Monday evening which is ready to meet all comers in its class. Manager, J. D. Easton; Secretary, F. Klugh; Capt. and pitcher, R. Baker; third base, H. Echler; catcher, I. Bish; left field, J. Watson; 1st base, A. Hershey; second base, L. Martin; right field, E. Bailey; center field, H. Cutler; substitutes, C. Nissley and C. Musselman.

Wedded at Pittsburg.

George L. Pyle, a son of Jno. E. Pyle of this place, was united in marriage with Mrs. Leila W. Shook on March 9th, 1904. The newly wedded couple are at home at No. 16 Shetland Avenue, Pittsburg, Pa.

A Temperance Theatre.

It is interesting to note that the Woolworth Roof Garden sets at naught what has been accepted by theatrical men and others interested in amusements as an indisputable fact. It has been held that no theatre of this kind could be a success without the sale of liquor in connection with it. That is undoubtedly why there is not another roof garden in the entire state of Pennsylvania, the laws of this Commonwealth prohibiting the sale of intoxicants in places where musical or theatrical entertainments are given. The Woolworth is strictly a "temperance" roof garden—the only one in the United States—yet in proportion to its limited field of patronage and seating capacity one of the most successful. It is a splendid illustration of the principle that a business conducted on a purely moral plan can and will succeed without the aid of any questionable expedients. Manager Peoples has always given clean wholesome entertainments, and he has been rewarded by the liberal patronage of a people proud of a local achievement that has won national recognition. He opens the fourth season of the garden on Monday afternoon, May 2, promising a continuance of the same excellent high-grade entertainments as in the past.
