THE NEW TROLLEY SITUATION

The Company's New Schedule Causes Much Dissatisfaction

A new schedule went into effect on the local trolley line last Thursday which is not satisfactory to the patrons here, much less our borough Council.

About six months ago, when the company was given permission to enter the borough, a clause which is embodied in their ordinance states that cars shall be run between Lancaster and Mount Joy at intervals of one hour.

According to the new schedule which appears in another column, cars are run every hour and twenty minutes.

President Longacker called Council into special session last evening for the purpose of considering the violation of Section 4 of the trolley ordinance and taking such action as Council deems advisable under the circumstances.

All the members were present except Mr. Mumma. Upon motion of the Clerk the Council was instructed to notify the presidents of the Conestoga Traction Company and the Rohrerstown, Landisville, and Mt. Joy Street Railway Co. calling their attention to Sections 4 and 11 of the ordinance.

The clerk notified the presidents this a. m. and it is quite likely that the company will be heard from soon.

A Bulletin representative in conversation with trolley officials was told that if requested by the borough, the company will quite likely return to the hour schedule by putting an express car on the local line or abolishing some of the stops between here and the county seat.

How's This Mr. Smart?

Some months ago when this paper made mention of the fact that the P. R. R. was arranging to run electric cars on its lines, a certain editor of a little country weekly got funny about it. Now the Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Lancaster dailies are coming out with statements from P. R. R. headquarters with information exactly as the "Bulletin" gave its readers weeks ago.

Following is part of an article from yesterday's Phila. Inquirer:

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 25.—That cars will soon be run on the Pennsylvania Railroad by electricity is substantiated by the statement of an official of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Harrisburg today, when he said that work would soon be started on a large power plant to be erected at Iroquois.

When Did It Happen? Yesterday Register Boyd granted following letter: Theresa (Wil) Spickler, executor of Theresa

This is the first intimation that is recent evidence that the wedding were chiding in the vicinity of Washington House recently.

Business and happiness accompanied M. A. Spickler and his wife on their journey through life. Selections by the calithumpian bands were other bands would be present.

The Rheems Lyceum

The Rheems Lyceum held an interesting meeting on Friday evening the programme was well rendered. President W. L. Heisey occupied the chair. Referred questions were answered by Clair Barnhart and Henry B. Heisey. Miss Mary G. Nissley recited in an acceptable manner. The debate was on the question, "That the Government Should appropriate More Money for Warships than for Education." Miss Bertha Heisey and Simon B. Landis discussed the affirmative side, while the negative was sustained by Walter Gish and Arthur B. Heisey. The judges were B. H. Greider, Anna W. Wolgemuth and Mrs. A. L. Campbell, who decided in favor of the affirmative side. The society decided in favor of the negative side. The singing under the leadership of Simon B. Landis, the teacher of the school, was a feature of the exercises. Elizabeth Nissley presided at the organ. The next meeting will be held on Friday evening, December 7, at which time an interesting programme will be rendered. By a unanimous vote the secretary was instructed to issue a challenge to the Florin Lyceum to engage in a joint debate. Miss Anna W. Wolgemuth is editress of the society paper and its reading proved quite entertaining to the audience.

A Family Reunion

On Saturday night Harry G. Stoler and brother Lincoln left for Wilmington, Del., where a family reunion was held the following day in honor of their father Christian Stoler, in honor of his 84 birthday. All the children were present as follows: Harry G. of this place; Lincoln of Oskaloosa, Iowa; Mrs. Lizzie Boynton of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Ella Cunningham of Jamaica, I. I.

That Humorous Philosopher

The second entertainment of the Star Course will appear in the hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 4. The attraction will be Lou J. Beachamp, the humorous philosopher, who is beyond a doubt, one of the leading entertainers on the American stage today. He is a man of extraordinary ability as a thinker and speaker, so don't fail to hear him. Chart opens at Garber's Friday, at 8 a. m.

Hand Mangled in Press

Samuel Royer, employed at the Herald office, had one of his hands so badly mangled in a machine Monday that Dr. Ziegler, his physician, feared amputation was necessary. He took him to Lancaster, to the General Hospital, and an effort will be made to save the member.

A Free Lecture

Rev. Shanahan of Elizabethtown, rector of St. Mary's Catholic church here, will deliver a free lecture in Mount Joy Hall on Thursday evening, December 6. His subject will be the Catholic Doctrine which he will fully explain to all that attend. Persons of every denomination are invited. Lecture at 8 p. m.

PERSONALS.

The Whereabouts of Your Friends For the Past Few Days

A. H. Coolidge is home with his family for the present.

Chas. Nobs of Middletown, spent a week here with his brother.

Harvey Shelly of Kinderhook spent Thursday here with friends.

James Glatfelter erected a tombstone in a cemetery at Ephrata yesterday.

Benj. Haverstick of Ardmore, was here with his mother over Sunday.

Harry Nissley left on Monday for Nebraska where he will visit his brother.

Mrs. W. H. Morton is seriously ill at the home of her parents at the Farmers' Inn.

John Long celebrated his 84 birthday on Sunday. He is enjoying good health.

Christ Charles arrived home on Friday evening after spending 16 months at Upland, Cal.

Lincoln Stoler of Oskaloosa, Iowa, spent several days here last week with relatives and friends.

Miss Hanna Hoffer spent several days at Harrisburg, visiting the family of Rev. I. E. Runk.

Mrs. A. A. DeLong has returned after spending four weeks at Washington, D. C. She was accompanied by Miss Anna Blew.

Mrs. Harry Reesler and Mrs. Martha Larye attended a family reunion at the home of Samuel M. Knight, near Lancaster, last Sunday.

Proprietor John McGinnis is again minus his speech. He was in the same predicament about a year ago when he was unable to talk above a whisper for several months.

Henry Schwitzenberger and wife, Mrs. Josephine Klime, Mrs. Charles Schwitzenberger, Vincent Swabb, Philip Kirchner and wife, Mrs. Lou is Hoffman and Miss Ellen Kelly of Lancaster, attended the funeral of Mrs. Haas in this place Thursday.

New Primary Law

The county commissioners have decided that the new primary law applies to the city only and that the boroughs and townships must hold their winter primaries under the provisions of the old law.

This follows the advice of Attorney General Carson that the new uniform primary law does not necessarily include the winter primaries, but leaves the matter to the option of the commissioners. In Lancaster, however the new law will have its initiation. At the later primary, in June, for county officers, the law also includes both city and rural districts.

The law provides that the State is to bear the expense, but the last legislature made no appropriation for the same. Except the next legislature makes appropriation the county will have to stand the expense.

These Families Can't Agree.

On a warrant from Aldern N. Stauffer Frank Garber of Lancaster has been arrested on a charge of failing to support his young child.

The suit is brought by his wife, who does not ask him to support her, but wants the child looked after. Garber gave bail for the January court.

The case of John Phelan and wife, was heard before Court on Thursday. The latter claims her husband struck her with a poker.

John's story was that his wife and daughter refused to get his meals, that she struck him with a broom, etc. The jury divided the costs. The family formerly lived here but now they reside at Lancaster.

Very Unreliable.

The local journal that makes a practice of printing sensational articles for the sake of "being in the swim," is certainly proving about blindly. When we heralded electricity on the P. R. R., that organ pronounced it an untruth because we had it first, but nevertheless the company is working on same now.

Last week, the little journal gave the Stoll-Metroth wedding thirty-six hours before it occurred.

Celebrate Wedding Anniversary

On Monday evening at their home on Mount Joy Street Frank Pennell and wife pleasantly entertained a number of their young friends in honor of their wedding anniversary. After taking part in various games, the attendants were escorted to the dining room where they partook of a sumptuous supper, ice cream and cake, all kinds of candies, etc., which were served in Mrs. Pennell's usual excellent style. Those present were Misses Annie Dyer, Frances Masterson, Sadie Murray, Anna Buohl, Annie Krauer, Emma Fuhrman, Irene Nixdorf, Mary Dearbeck, Lizzie Dieter, Sallie Morton, Emma Pennell, Bertie Pennell, Mrs. F. G. Pennell sr. Mrs. Poist of Lancaster, and Messrs. Paris Hiinkle, Daniel Schroll and Mr. Character of Marietta. All present were so well pleased with their evening's entertainment that they expressed a desire of assisting to celebrate Mr. and Mrs. Pennell's wedding anniversary half a dozen times a year instead of once.

OBITUARY NOTES

WILLIAM HAINES

William Haines, a prominent farmer, died on Wednesday night at his residence in West Donegal township, a short distance west of Elizabethtown, after a lingering illness. Blood poison, which he contracted in the spring, was the direct cause of his death. Mr. Haines had been a resident of West Donegal township for about twenty years, having moved to his present home from near Florin. A widow and daughter remain to mourn his death.

The funeral took place from his late home on Sunday morning at the United Brethren church in Elizabethtown. Interment was made in the Florin cemetery.

Stole a Watch

A tramp who refused to give his name, called at Kern's jewelry store yesterday and asked to see a watch.

He was shown a watch when he laid down 50 cents, took the watch and left the place in a hurry. Mr. Kern followed him and after a chase of a few squares, caught the rascal. The watch was returned and the tramp taken before Squire F. A. Ricker who committed him to jail for his appearance at the January court. Constable George Vogle took the hobo to Limbo.

Well Known People Wed

On Friday Rev. Richard Rengier of this place, united in marriage at Lancaster, Harry S. Stoll, the well known section foreman on the P. R. R., and Mrs. Amelia Metroth both of Florin. They are now off on a wedding tour to Philadelphia, Washington, D. C. and points in New Jersey.
