

TOBACCO A GOOD POULTICE

of the Ankle Cured by a Brief Application of Little-Known Remedy.

Last summer I was taking a spin one day in a light trap out in the country, and in attempting to pass a farmer's wagon on a narrow road my trap was overturned and I was thrown heavily to the ground, sustaining a badly sprained ankle," George Maxwell says, in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "The farmer came running up to assist me, and when I found what was the matter returned to his wagon and came back with a new tobacco leaves under his arm. 'If you'll let me make a poultice out of these and place it on your ankle it will be all right in the morning,' he said, and as I was about five miles from a doctor's office, I told him to go ahead it couldn't do me any harm, I thought, and is might have a slightly cooling effect while I was driving back to town. He dipped the leaves in the water of a creek near by, then bound them tightly around my ankle, with the aid of a handkerchief, and assisted me into my vehicle. When I reached my rooms I was surprised to find that the pain in my ankle was much lessened, and decided to give the poultice a fair trial. In the morning when I awoke there was absolutely no pain in my ankle whatever, and only the slightest suggestion of a swelling. I was able to don my shoes without trouble and that day attended to business as if nothing had befallen me. Since then one of my friends suffered a sprain and consented to have a leaf tobacco poultice applied, which resulted in his case just as it did in mine. I have also tried it in other instances of slight injury, where there was pain and danger of swelling, and have found that invariably it relieved the pain within a remarkably short space of time, and generally prevented any swelling. A friend of mine claims to have tried it with good results for a slight attack of rheumatism, and I have no doubt that it actually did what he claims for it. but, at any rate, for sprains or similar injuries, I am now a firm advocate of the simple, homely remedy to which I was introduced by my accident in the country a few months ago."

Smallest Coin the Maltese Grain.
The smallest coin in the world having a genuine circulation is probably the Maltese "grain," a tiny fragment of bronze about as big and round as the top of a slate pencil, and worth only one-twelfth of a penny.

King of All Cough Medicines
Mr. E. G. Case, a mail carrier of Canton Center, Conn., who has been in the U. S. service for about 16 years, says, "We have tried many cough medicines for croup, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is king of all and one to be relied upon every time. We also find it the best remedy for coughs and colds, giving certain results and leaving no bad after effects." For sale by J. S. Carmany, Florin and all Mt. Joy Druggists

Goodness of Gold Fork!
Fry one tablespoon minced onion in a tablespoon meat drippings until of a golden color; then add two cups diced meat, one-half teaspoon butter, a seasoning of salt and one teaspoon paprika. Toss up over the fire until the meat is heated; sift over one tablespoon flour, stir well, then add one cup rich stock or one cup boiling water and milk mixed. Cook five minutes, add a minced potato, cover closely, cook 15 minutes, then serve.—Good Housekeeping.

The House of Weinberg

A House Coat
—OR—
Lounging Robe

Would make a suitable present for that "Big Brother" who is so hard to buy for—and we feel certain that there is a pattern here to please him.

The makers thought that we were a little foolish in making our selections—but then we wanted something different from the usual kind—and here they are. The prices start at five dollars, but there is more than five dollars' worth of fit and comfort in any of them.

Brown is the dominating color—some with flecks of white—all have fancy collars, cuffs and pockets.

The Lounging Robes are a handsome lot, too—some gay colored, others more subdued. One style buttons down the front. Prices are four dollars up. You'd better stick a pin in this advertisement—for you and your brother will be glad you did, Christmas morning.

Garber's Pharmacia

Garber's Improved Poultry Powder!

POULTRY POWDER.—We claim that this Powder will largely increase egg production, strengthens weak and drooping fowls, promotes the health and growth and development of all varieties of Poultry, and insure fine condition and smooth plumage. Compounded upon the most scientific chemical principles, being highly tonic, stimulating, antiseptic and alterative makes it a most powerful and natural preventive and curative agent, beside being specially adapted to making hens lay. As an egg food for making hens lay it has no superior. For carrying fowls safely through moulting; fitting for exhibition and market, increasing the size and strength, and hastening the growth of young poultry, it has no equal; is absolutely pure and highly concentrated. One ounce is worth a pound of any other kind. Strictly a medicine, to be given in the food, once daily, in small doses. Prevents and cures all diseases of hens. Worth its weight in gold when hens are moulting and to keep them healthy there is no other food on the market like it 1 1/2 lbs. 25c, 3 lbs. 65c.

There's Money in Growing Ginseng

Prof. W. L. Howard of the Missouri State Agricultural College says: "I advise American farmers to cultivate Ginseng. Big profits may be realized. It is a hardy plant and is easily grown."—A recent bulletin issued by the Pennsylvania State Agricultural College in part says: "The supply of native Ginseng root is continually diminishing and the price per pound is correspondingly increasing, while the constant demand for the drug in China stands as a guarantee of a steady market for Ginseng in the future. The market for our cultivated root will exist as long as the Chinamen exist."—Counsel General W. A. Rublee of Hong Kong says in the U. S. Consular reports: "The sale of Ginseng root grown in America is very large here and the demand is so great that much more could be disposed of advantageously." The root is indispensable to the 400,000,000 Chinese as is their rice.

Ginseng is a staple on the market the same as corn, wheat and cotton. The present market price varies from $5 to $8 per pound according to quality, while the cost of production does not exceed $1.50 There is room in any ordinary garden to grow several hundred dollar's worth each year. The plant is hardy and thrives in all parts of the United States and Canada, except in the arid regions. We are successful growers and can show you how to make money growing Ginseng. You can get a good start in business for a small outlay, and soon have a comfortable income. We have several thousand choice roots for sale for Fall delivery. The planting season is in August and continues until the ground is frozen for literature.
