THREE YEARS' LABOR COST.
 The Piece of Mexican Drawn Work Entirely Ruined Just After Its Completion.

spend three years upon a piece of and then, by the simple overturning of a table, ruin it all is not due to good spirits, but such was the case of a Germantown woman who three years worked unceasingly on a piece of Mexican drawn work, the Philadelphia Record. A few days ago marked its completion, and it laid out upon a table to await the action of a purchaser, who had offered a sum far beyond the limit of what would imagine fancy work to be worth in any quantity. The purchaser of the work was suddenly awakened from a nap by a scream from her daughter, and, looking at the work, imagined she was in the midst of a nightmare, for the greatest piece was dripping with the black sweat of the inkstand, upset by the child. Chemists and drug stores were telephoned to for recipes and articles for removing the stain, and after a quantity of acids the ink had been washed away, and when the drawn work had been placed in the sun to bleach, it was partly restored in the upper household. When it came to bring its precious piece of linen, the first which made it practically dissolve into nothing, so thoroughly had the acids been put into the fabric.

WHY CIGARS COME UNROLLED.
 They Get Twisted in One Direction in the Factory and in Another by Smokers.

"It is an every-day occurrence to hear a man complain of poorly made cigars," said a well-known tobacconist one day last week in discussing the matter with his patrons, according to the Philadelphia Record. "It is not always because a cigar is indifferently or badly made that the wrapper curls up and comes off. Very much oftener this comes from the cigar having been rolled by the maker's left hand and later smoked from the hand of a right-handed man. All cigar makers must use both hands equally well, and economy, both in time and material, is the prevailing thing in the tobacco factories. When a piece of tobacco is cut from the wrapper it is cut on the bias, and rolled from left to right on the filler, and at the same time by the other hand the remaining pieces are used being necessarily rolled in the opposite way. For this reason the man who holds a cigar in his right hand, which always receives a few visits during the course of a smoke, twists the wrapper the wrong way, and finally enough it becomes loosened."

CAT FOUGHT AN EAGLE.
 A Cat Was Pretty Severely Scarred, But Put an End to the War-Like Battle.

A cat owned by the engineer of a freight train on a western road seemed to enjoy sitting on the pilot while the train was in motion, says a Chicago paper. A lively adventure befell this fearless pussy during one of his master's runs. As they were slowly rounding a curve one morning the engineer noticed an eagle sitting on a tall dead spruce. Just as the locomotive came abreast of the tree the eagle suddenly swooped downward and fiercely attacked the cat. For several seconds there was a battle royal. The eagle made half a dozen attempts to carry away the cat bodily, but each time the cat would make a savage onslaught upon the bird with teeth and claws, and the air was full of feathers. As the train pushed ahead, the two men in the cab were filled with apprehension for the cat. The whistle was blown, but neither combatant paid the least attention to the sound. Finally the engineer armed himself with a bar of iron and started out on the running board to aid his pet; but before he reached the scene of action the cat had torn a great hole in the eagle's throat, and the bird was in its death struggles. It was carried into the locomotive tender, where it died in a few minutes. The cat bore the scars of battle, but recovered.

Prominent Members of the Medical Profession Declare It to Be Such in Fact.

Despite the fact that denials have been made by various physicians of the existence of hydrophobia, several prominent members of the medical profession, at a meeting of the County Medical Society of the College of Physicians, declared that the disease has a "pathological entity" and should be so recognized, reports the Philadelphia Inquirer. Dr. G. Morton Ilman presented a paper entitled "A Report of a Case of Hydrophobia, with Autopsy." Dr. Ilman described the symptoms as exhibited in the case, and maintained that hydrophobia existed as a separate disease, with peculiar symptoms, and he asserted that it is a grave error to call it excessive hysteria, as has frequently been done. Dr. M. P. Ravenel, of the veterinary department of the university, said in discussing the subject: "I have personally experimented on 150 cases of animals which I have inoculated with the serum of rabies, and I found that the brain in each case showed the same symptoms, and those symptoms have been found in 30 other diseases."

NEWSPAPER "DOPE" SHEETS
 Educating Even the Children of the Cities in Race-Track Gambling.

Any morning in Chicago or New York one may see girls of 16 and 17, with their heads close together over a newspaper tabulation, trying to figure out "winners" during their street car or elevated road ride to the factories and offices where they are employed. Listen to them and you will hear the language of the track. They know the relative reputations of the jockeys, and can talk glibly of their riding weights and of their seats in the saddle. They know the horses and their supposed likings for track, weight and distance. They are ready for handbook plucking, says Edgar Grant Sisson, in the World Today.

Meet them on the way home and you will hear them say sadly that "luck" had not been with them that day, and will see them tear up their tickets and throw them away. Only one thing is worse for these girls than losing, and that is winning. Losses may bring a tardy, dejected reform. Winnings lead to the frenzy of daily trips to the race courses themselves; to the spurring of all wild emotions; to the plunge into the black, engulfing chasm where life is the least of the things lost.

Observation will show that boys take their first gambling lessons earlier than girls. If they have sucked the poison, they will be hardened gamblers when not half way through their teens. The idea of working for a living is lost as soon as the fever of chance is in their blood. In pool rooms, on race trains, at the tracks, the majority of "regulars" are young in years, though old in everything else.

But though their schooling is sooner acquired than that of girls, it is begun at the same place—the handbook kindergarten, and the instructor is the same—the newspaper "dope sheet."

BEAUTY OF AMERICANS.
 Secret of It Lies in Freedom from the Mercenary Spirit in Marriage.

The beauty of the American race has for a long time been the wonder and the envy of the world. The tall, the young men of America, with their bold, intelligent faces, and the tall and graceful young women, so pretty and clever, have impressed foreigners profoundly. It remained for a distinguished foreigner, Dr. Emil Reich, the Hungarian philosopher, to tell the world the secret of American beauty.

Dr. Reich, in conversation with an American woman in New York, said: "The beauty of nations differs very much. The Latins are less beautiful than the Anglo-Saxons. The angularity of the North German woman is notorious. Money-bag married money-bag, and the result is a people of severely plain aspect."

"The Americans are a beautiful race. The American marries because he loves the woman, and she loves him. The American is insulted if any mention of dowry is made in his wedding arrangements. Hence the American people have become exceedingly beautiful."

"Love is at the bottom of it all," Dr. Reich ended. "Love marriages alone produce beautiful, healthy children. America is the one country where love marriages prevail. Hence the American race is the world's most beautiful race."

 Is Brought Into Use for Reasons Which at a Glance Are Understandable.

Everybody puts the telephone receiver to the left ear. For this reason the man who holds a cigar in his right hand, which always receives a few visits during the course of a smoke, twists the wrapper the wrong way, and finally enough it becomes loosened."

"Do we hear better with the left ear? Is that, why we always use it in telephoning?" a man asked. "No," the pretty telephone girl replied. "But the receiver, you see, is hung on the left side of the phone. Hence you have to use the left ear in talking, unless you want to inconvenience yourself."

"But why is it hung on the left side?" she went on. "Was it hung there originally because the left ear had been found acuter than the right? Ah, no. The receiver was hung at the left, so that the left hand could manage it. The right hand, in the early days of telephoning, held all it could do to turn the crank—round and round and round—ding-a-ling-a-ling-a-ling—don't you remember?"

"Now, the right hand is idle in telephoning. Therefore, for anyone desiring it, it would be possible to hold the receiver to the right ear. The companies should take this fact into consideration, and they should hang the receiver, not on the left or right of the instrument, but directly in front of it. Then we could use, in telephoning, which ever ear we preferred to."

SHAKE IT OFF

Rid Yourself of Unnecessary Burdens. A Pennsylvania Citizen Shows You How. Don't bear unnecessary burdens. Burdens of a bad back are unnecessary.

Get rid of them. Doan's Kidney Pills' cure had backs; Cure lame, weak and aching backs; Cure every form of kidney ills. Lots of local endorsement to prove this.

Mrs. Casper Krug, of 116 North Fourth St., Reading, Pa., says: "You are at liberty to repeat the statement I made for publication in 1897 in which I told of the great benefit I had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. For a year I had pain in the small of my back very sharp and penetrating and when I stooped or lifted anything it was additionally severe. It even caused me to suffer when I was lying in bed and it was difficult for me to turn over. I tried numerous remedies, but never seemed to get any benefit until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me and I have had no more trouble from kidney complaints. Seven years have passed and I have regretted making the statement which I made at that time; on the contrary, it gives me pleasure to state that the cure then effected by Doan's Kidney pills has remained permanent." M. S.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agent for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
