

Failure! Failure!

$25,000 Worth of Clothing & Shoes to be Closed Out Regardless of Price

The failure of a large Clothing Manufacturer and Shoe House enables me to purchase these stocks at a very low figure. I will place them on sale Saturday, November 28th, 1908, for 15 Days. Not in the history of the city has there been such inducements offered to the public. Early buyers are the winners. The reliability of the house is a guarantee to the quality of the merchandise.

HUMOR OF THE HOUR

Obeying Instructions.

A milkman who lives in a town of New England and collects milk from the neighboring farmers had in his employ a boy whom he sent about with a wagon every morning picking up his supply. There is a rather dangerous railroad crossing on the road, and when the boy began work for him the milkman said, "When there's a train coming just stop and sit still in your wagon till it gets by."

The boy went about his task, but instead of collecting the milk in about an hour and a half, as should have been done, he took at least two hours and sometimes more.

The milkman grumbled a little, but the boy said nothing, and as he seemed honest nothing was done.

One evening the milkman went over his route to see some of his customers. "What ails that boy of yours?" asked one of the farmers.

"Why, nothing, only that he's rather slow," was the reply.

"Slow! Well, I guess you'd think he was slow if you saw him resting for half an hour in his wagon down there by the railroad track every morning."

"Is it true that you stop half an hour every morning down at the railroad track?" the boy was asked.

"Yes, sir; I have to," said the boy.

"Have to! What do you mean?"

"Well, sir, you told me to stop when there was a train coming and to wait till it got by. There's a crook in the track there, so 't I never can see whether there's a train coming down the track or not. So I just stop and wait till there's one goes by anyway, and then I just skip over lively!"—Harper's Weekly.

How Johnny Managed It.

"You and that little Wattle boy seem to play very nicely together," said Johnny's mother. "I am glad there is one boy in the neighborhood that you can get along with."

"Yes," replied Johnny. "I lick him every morning, and then he's nice to me all day."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Admirable.

"Is he matrimonially inclined?"

"Well, not so much as he was, I believe."

"How is that?"

"He has been matrimonially declined too often."

Remembered the Taste.

"They didn't have perfumed soap when I was young."

"There must have been some."

"Well, if there was my mother didn't use it to wash out my mouth when she heard me swearing."

In Demand.

"Making my own living now."

"That so? How?"

"Inventing white lies for society people."

The Reason.

"The writer of this anonymous letter says it is not prompted by malice, but is written for your own good."

"Sure. That's why he was ashamed to sign it."—Kansas City Times.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

ALONE.

What's the difference if I win
Or am distanced in the race,
As a leader coming in
Or can hardly show for place?
Nothing to the world at large,
To admit it I am free,
If I merit a discharge,
But it means a heap to me.

Others may dissent my case
In calm, cold blooded tones,
Be it honor or disgrace,
They praise or cast a stone,
Or their shoulders they may shrug
And dismiss it with a sneer
Or a smile serene and smug
If I happen to be near.

If I suffer and am sad,
If I get the double cross,
If my schemes are to the bad,
Every deal a total loss,
Still the old world wages along
Quite contented on its way,
Finding nothing very wrong,
Finding life serene and gay.

Clearly I must do my own
Weeping if it's done at all,
In my secret chambers groan,
Useless 'tis to hire a hall.
And perhaps 'tis better thus
If the world should pause to show
Sorrow at each private fuss,
When would it find time to go?
