MANY SHORT NEWS ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST

Brief Local Happenings Gathered as They Occur With the Whirl of the World for Quick Reading Within the Past Few Days.

Druggist J. C. Groff is painting his drug store.

For all clothing on which to rely go to I. D. Beneman's.

Don't forget the big sale at Gantz's hotel on Saturday, December 11.

Mrs. H. E. Ebersole, who has been ill the past two weeks, is convalescent.

Mr. D. H. Engle is remodeling his furniture warehouses and undertaking establishment.

Messrs. H. C. Myers and J. Willis Freed are serving as jurors in the county courts this week.

The churches of our town held union services in the First Presbyterian church on Thanksgiving morning.

Wanted—A capable lady or gentleman for book-keeping and stenographer. Apply to Box 96, Florin.

Mr. Jacob Gardner, who occupied the Mrs. L. P. Hellig property on Railroad street, moved to Harrisburg last week.

There some talk of starting a basketball team here. The Mount Joy Hall is being spoken of as the only available place for playing.

It is said that there were real moving pictures at the Farmers' Inn on Thursday evening when it was found that Mr. Turkey was missing.

WANTED—$1,500 secured by first mortgage; interest paid semi-annually if desired; name rate; no agent. Address, "Money" Bulletin Office.

Mrs. John Spertzel, of Cumberland county, formerly of this place, is wearing a broad smile now on account of the arrival of a grandson since Thanksgiving Day.

There was quite a bit of excitement in the vicinity of Old Market street on Sunday evening when Master Allen Morton's pet goat made a crowd of people step lively.

Frank Good, a young son of Frank Good, was removed to the General Hospital yesterday by Dr. Thome where he will be operated upon, having a badly bruised leg.

While Thomas, little son of A. H. Coodidge, of this place, was playing, he fell and cut a severe gash in his leg near the knee. It required a number of stitches by the family physician to close the wound.

Was 89 Yesterday
Yesterday Mr. John Nisley Eby, father of Mrs. D. H. Engle of this place, celebrated his 89th birthday.

Mr. Eby is a native of Manor township, passed his boyhood days near Bender's Mill, near Salunga, and learned the milling trade at the old Moore's mill, following the occupation of a miller for a number of years. Later he farmed near Manheim, subsequently moving to Neffsville, where he carried on farming and horse dealing on an extensive scale.

In fact, the years sit so lightly on Mr. Eby that he is still engaged in the horse dealing business to quite an extent. He resides at Neffsville but is very well known here and it is the wish of his many friends that he may enjoy many more years of activity.

A Female Drunk
Jennie Page, a female knight of the road, was found "pifflicated" on an East Main street door step on Thanksgiving Day and was lodged in the lockup by Constable Eli Williams. She was given a hearing before Justice C. H. Zeller on Friday morning and discharged after promising to leave the town.

This same "duck" imbibed too freely at Lancaster on Saturday night and on Monday the Mayor gave her 30 days.

Try It Again, Fellows
Recently a resident of this place read in a newspaper that by taking a piece of ordinary garden hose and putting it into a rabbit hole, then "holer" into it, Mr. Bunny will come out. A pair of Johns from here went to Rheems yesterday with several yards of hose but returned disgusted. Whether or not the theory holds good they are unable to say as they couldn't find a hole.

Shot a Fine Buck
Mr. A. H. Diehm of White Oak, and Mr. Herman Shelly of Sporting Hill, returned home on Saturday evening from a ten days' hunting trip in Fulton county. Mr. Diehm shot a four pronged buck which weighed 165 pounds when dressed.

Agricultural Year Book
We are indebted to Hon. W. W. Grist for a copy of the Agricultural Department Year Book for 1908. It contains much valuable information.

The Next Number
The patrons of the Star Course will remember that the next number will be Dr. Roland D. Grant, on Thursday evening, December 9th.

POW-WOWS IN YORK COUNTY

Convince Rural Populace That There is a Lot of Philosophy in Them

The recent widespread interest in the unique defense which saved Mrs. Minnie E. Tracy, of Chanceford township, York county, from the death penalty for the poisoning of her husband, has called to attention the mysticism which exists today, firmly established, among country folk all about York, in the city itself and even in many parts of this county.

The accused woman's story that she had been duped by her lover, a man from the same section of the county, and had put strychnine in her husband's whiskey under the impression that it was a love potion—something that would make him cease his brutality toward her—was not generally believed, yet a York county jury, knowing the superstitions of the class she represented, gave her the benefit of the doubt thus arising and found her guilty only of manslaughter.

While the "pow-wow doctor" of York county, whose position among his own people is as exalted as that of the "medicine man" among the heathen tribes of Africa, and is much the same, deals in love potions, it is in other directions that his services are most often required. He or she (for some of the local pow-wow doctors credited as most efficient are women) gives the service desired without charge, accepting whatever the supplicant sees fit to give.

In York county the pow-wow doctor is perhaps most often called upon to diagnose the condition of sickly children as "oppneppma" or the "faking-off" which is based upon a theory that the height should equal seven times the length of the foot. The pow-wow doctor holds that if such measurement shows the person's height to be only six times the length of the foot, or less, death will follow.

Most often the measurements shows six times the length of the foot, and a fraction more, whereupon the doctor "says words" and "the patient is cured." There are those in the county not claiming the versatility of the pow-wow doctor, yet professing to be able to cure this malady, "take the fire out of burns" and perform other small services.

There is the authentic instance of the wife of the tenant upon a West Manchester township farm, only about five miles from York, who can be found in the city markets every week. One night a few weeks ago, about 100 chickens, almost her entire flock, were stolen from the barn. In despair she sent her husband to the pow-wow doctor, who after accepting a small fee and muttering a few words announced that he had thrown a spell over the thief, that the chickens would begin to return in four days, and that in four days more they would all be back. It happened almost exactly as the doctor said, and the woman is naturally reluctant to consider that chickens, if given their liberty several miles from home, will, nine times out of ten, find their way back. Running a nail completely thru her foot a few days later, this same woman again sought the pow-wow doctor to have him exert his art to keep the wound from getting sore.

Every Little Bit Helps
The rains of last week, followed by snow, have been just the thing for the growing wheat. There has not been enough moisture to strengthen the flow of springs and wells and as the ground, except near the surface, is still exceedingly dry, it will take a great deal more of the present weather to bring conditions back to the normal.

A Fire—But What Caused It
When Clayton Stehman, of Rapho township, threshed a few weeks ago he blew the chaff on the manure heap. A few days ago fire was discovered in the chaff and extinguished just in time to save the barn from burning. It is supposed that the chaff heated and produced spontaneous combustion.

Will Organize Monday Evening
A public meeting for the purpose of organizing two basketball teams, one to represent the High School and the other the town, will be held in the High School room next Monday evening at 7.30. The public is invited to attend and assist in the project.

A Badly Cut Hand
Mr. Charles K. Witmer was removing a pane of glass from a window at the home of Mrs. Minnie Breneman, North Market and Frank Streets yesterday when his hand slipped and was badly cut by the glass.

Thief, Please Return Them
A basket of groceries were stolen out of the wagon of Mr. Harvey Sink in this place on Saturday evening. Also a shoe and a pair of rubbers. The party would better return them and avoid prosecution.

New Lime Kilns
Landis Brothers are erecting a lime kiln on their farm occupied by Mr. Phares K. Landis, senior member of the firm, and will engage in lime burning at Rheems.

Two Light Contracts
Mr. M. L. Greider, of this place, was at Churchtown last week where he secured the contract for the installation of a large acetylene gas plant of forty lights capacity. He also secured a similar contract for a plant at Bird-in-Hand, this county. Both plants will be installed immediately.

Danced for Charity
A ball was held at the Stevens House, Lancaster, last Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Lancaster Charity Society. Those that attended from here were: Dr. James P. Ziegler, Miss Mary Schock, Mr. Clarence Schock, Mr. and Mrs. P. Frank Schock and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Schock.

Fell Off a Pole
Mr. Clarence Engle of this place, while at work on a telegraph pole, it broke and he fell to the ground, sustaining slight bruises about the body. The accident occurred last Wednesday.

A Good Watch Dog
One night last week robbers tried to effect an entrance at the home of Mrs. Sarah Ebersole on Hemp street. The faithful watch dog however, was not asleep and frightened them away, the robbers making a hasty retreat.

ESTATE TO CHARITIES

Mrs. Adaline C. Strickler Makes Bequests to Presbyterian Bodies

In the will of Mrs. Adaline C. Strickler, of this place, admitted to probate on Friday, are the following charitable bequests: To the trustees of the Mount Joy Presbyterian church $4,000 in trust, the income to be applied to keeping the church in good condition; to the burgess and council of Mount Joy borough, $2,000, the income to be distributed to the worthy poor of our town; to the Board of Freedmen of the Presbyterian church, $1,000; to the Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church, $1,000; to the Foreign Missionary Society of that church, $1,000; to the trustees of the Henry Eberle cemetery, $200, the income to be applied to keeping her lot in order. After a few private bequests are paid the residue of the estate is bequeathed to the Mount Joy Presbyterian church, the income to be applied to the pastor's support. The residue is estimated at $3,000.

In addition to the above the will embodies the following: The residence now occupied by Mr. J. Fred Fenstermacher was given to Mrs. Bruckhart, the one occupied by Mr. M. M. Leib is now the property of Miss Mary Zeager, and the other two were given to Mr. H. S. Newcomer. Miss Zeager was also bequeathed a certain amount of money as was also Mr. Paul Bruckhart, of this place, but now at Erie, Pa.

Forney Loses the Case
The suit of J. G. Forney against Mrs. Amelia Stoll of Florin, was heard in court yesterday. The plaintiff is a real estate dealer of that city and he sued to recover a commission for selling the Florin hotel. He claimed that Harry Trout, son-in-law of the defendant, engaged him to sell the property. Plaintiff sold the place to A. W. Miller for $6,500, but Mrs. Stoll refused to abide by the agreement of the said sale. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant had authorized Mr. Trout to have the property sold. Mr. Forney sued to recover one per cent. commission. Court granted a non-suit on the ground that both Mrs. Stoll and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Trout, should have been the persons sued.

It Will be a Good One
No better program than the one now in course of preparation, will be heard at a spelling bee for some time to come, than the one to be rendered in Mount Joy Hall, on Saturday evening, December 4th, by St. Mary's Guild of this place. There will be two spelling and a general information class with four prizes to each class. A play, His Sweethearts, by Prof. I. D. Scott and ten young ladies, a roaring farce comedy, A Neighbor's Wife, and Masters Ellis with coon songs, are a part of the programme. Admission 15 and 20 cents. Chart at Garber's drug store this morning.

A Good Musical Concert
Miss Gertrude Murdock, the expert one hand pianist, gave a musical concert in the hall here on Friday evening for the benefit of the G. A. R. of this place. There was a good attendance in attendance and they witnessed a rare vocal and instrumental musical program. The manner in which Miss Murdock performed on the piano, minus the fingers of her one hand, was marvelous. Miss Murdock was very ably assisted by Miss Gertrude Metzgar, an expert pianist of this place.

John Zerphy's Entertain
Henry Zerphy, wife and daughter Sarah and granddaughter Minnie Stoner, Clayton Helsey, wife and daughter Stella and son Raymond of Milton Grove, Misses Katie, Annie and Lizzie Zerphy, Mr. Peter Zerphy David Zerphy, Mr. Clayton Craley, Miss Lottie Loraw and Miss Elsie Brown were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Zerphy on Sunday.
