Reist Reunion

HELD ON THE OLD HOMESTEAD NEAR HERE ON THURSDAY

Second Gathering of the Descendants of John B. Reist, Sr., a Very Successful One—The Next Reunion to be Held in 1915.

On August 18, the descendants of John B. Reist, Sr., who died in 1877, held a reunion at the Reist homestead, near Mt. Joy, now occupied by E. G. Reist. In addition to the descendants of John B. Reist, Sr., there were a number of others, representing other branches of the family, present.

This reunion was the second one held by the Reist family. The first one was held in 1904, on the Reist homestead, near Manheim, now occupied by John B. Reist, Jr.

In the forenoon the descendants began to gather and spent the time renewing friendships and in social intercourse. After the various families present had partaken of refreshments the company was gathered together under the trees in the orchard where a programme was rendered. The meeting was called to order by the President, E. G. Reist. New officers were elected, as follows: John B. Reist, Manheim, President, and E. G. Reist, Mt. Joy, Secretary, Rev. Peter R. Nisley, Mt. Joy, offered the invocation. Prof. Ira Kraybill, Mt. Joy, gave an address of welcome, in which he emulated the traits of character of the ancestors, and urged that they should be prized highly by the present generation, and that they be perpetuated.

Henry G. Reist, of Schenectady, N. Y., delivered an address on "The First Century of the Reist Family." He discussed the early persecutions of the Mennonites in Europe, which led to their emigration to America. The passport of Peter Reist, founder of the Reist family in America, bears the date, September 23, 1723. He also described vividly the dangers attending a trans-Atlantic voyage. Peter settled near what is now Kissel Hill, near Lititz, but soon moved a few miles further west, where he took up an tract of 540 acres of land, for which he received a patent deed from Thomas and Richard Penn, dated 1738. This is the old homestead now occupied by John B. Reist.

Clarence Reist, of Hanover, Pa., read a paper, "The Old Homestead," describing the buildings and conditions existing on the homestead near Mt. Joy, where the reunion was held.

An address was given by Prof. A. Reist, of Bryn Mawr, on "The Reist Family in America." He dwelt upon the qualities and traits of character of the early Swiss Mennonites, and the influence of their principles upon the shaping of events. The Reist family believing in the principle of non-resistance, it is natural that they would not take an active interest in political affairs. Two of them have held minor offices. They have been decidedly a rural people, mostly devoted to agricultural pursuits. The family has taken an active part in religious affairs, and a number of the descendants have been engaged in ministerial duties.

The programme was interspersed with songs.

It was decided to hold a reunion in 1915, including all descendants of the Reist family in America.

Senator Cameron is in his seventy-eighth year, but he looks younger than when he left the Senate, thirteen years ago.

I can tell you that the farmers in my part of the country are prospering and that crops are excellent." Harrisburg Star Independent.

A Fine Crop of Pears
Councillman John G. Reist of this place, who owns a large farm near Rheims, has one of the finest and best kept Bartlett pear orchards to be found anywhere. On Monday he began harvesting these pears. Some time ago Mr. Reist had men go over them, picking from the trees all the knotty and imperfect ones and a finer crop cannot be found. He has pears for dessert, canning preserves, butter or any other use that they can be put to. His teams will pass thru the surrounding towns and if you want choice fruit you had better watch for them or telephone. You can reach him by both the Bell or Independent telephones.

Will Not Work Now
The theory that a certain plan worked well ten years ago, it will do the same now, does not apply to advertising methods. Business has changed and people have changed since our ancestors traded oats for overalls at the crossroads store, and the man who does not keep up to the minute with his advertising plans does not hit the mark except occasionally.

Postal Savings Bank
Forty-four postoffices in Pennsylvania have asked to be made postal savings banks, and 116 banks have asked to be designated as depositories of the postal savings bank funds. The banks appear to be taking more interest in the proposed establishment of the savings banks system than the general public.

Henry P. Nolte and Mary R. Weaver, both of Columbia.
Samuel M. Lindemuth, of Mt. Joy township, and Lizzie R. Hess, of Penn. Fred. France, Lancaster and Martha E. Zuch, of Marietta.
