GASOLINE TANK EXPLODES

Mr. John K. Young Had an Arm Badly Lacerated

On Monday morning Mr. John K. Young, a farmer living at the Back Run, about two miles north of town in Rapho township, had his hand and arm badly lacerated by the explosion of a gasoline tank. Mr. Young was trying to start his engine when he discovered that during the heavy rain of Sunday night considerable water found its way into his large gasoline tank. He tapped the gasoline and water and to make sure that the tank was entirely empty, struck a match and held it into the tank.

Immediately there was a loud explosion and Mr. Young had sustained a badly lacerated hand and arm. Dr. W. M. Thome attended him.

Farming Tobacco Certainly Pays. That farming tobacco is one of the most profitable ventures is evidenced by the following facts. Mr. Ezra Hostetter, a farmer living not many miles from here, farmed thirteen acres of the weed. It was a good crop, cured very uniform in color, and was sold at the stereotyped price to Mr. John Beamesderfer, a dealer in this place. The tobacco was delivered last week and the check for the payment of same called for $2,748.84. This is undoubtedly the most money ever realized for one man's crop in this section. What other crop could a farmer raised on an equal area of land with the same amount of work, that would have netted him an equal sum to his bank account.

Hand Us These Kind. John Keller, living on the Litzitz pike has a large lemon, called the American wonder. Its circumference is 14 1/2 inches and its weight one pound and 12 ounces. It attained to this size in one year, the tree having bloomed last January. The tree is about 30 inches high, and bears five of these large lemons.

Fell From a Tree. Mr. Isaac L. Mager, a machinist, fell off a tree which he was helping to cut at Manheim yesterday and had his nose fractured and face cut. He was removed to the General Hospital. He is 68 years old. Mrs. J. E. Schroll of this place is a daughter of the unfortunate man.

The Missing Word. A "new missing" word contest has just appeared. It is as follows: A good church deacon sat down on the pointed end of a sack. He at once sprang up and said only two words. The last was "it." Any one guessing the first word and sending us fifty cents cash will be entitled to the Bulletin for one year.

Slaughtered Big Porks. Henry A. Bradley, killed nine hogs for Andrew McKee, who tenants the Seachrist farm in Donegal township. The total weight of the nine, dressed was 4662 pounds. The largest weighed 591 pounds and the smallest 380 pounds.

That Oyster Supper. Please remember the oyster supper in Mt. Joy Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings, February 10 and 11, by the local Ladies' Auxiliary, of the General Hospital. This is a good cause so don't fail to assist when the occasion presents itself.

Went Out Serenading. The Foresters Band, and by the way it is some band, were out serenading last evening at the home of a number of new ones and they are going nice. Keep 'er up Wesley.

Why Not Mount Joy? The citizens of Marietta are very enthusiastic over the prospects of the new town. A new lease of life and if work that has been started by the enterprising and progressive men of that town continues they will surely have a "greater Marietta."

Will ERECT A NEW BUILDING

The Universal Hardware Works Will Get A New Home

As may be seen by an item elsewhere in this issue, the Universal Hardware Works became the owner of the five acre tract of land in the west end of the Borough, fronting on the Columbia road. It was purchased from Mr. H. S. Garber and the deed transferred last week.

It is the intention of Mr. M. A. Rollman to move the large tobacco shed, which occupies a portion of the land, to another location, and convert it into a first-class, and modern tinning plant. The tinning plant will be installed at once and it is expected after its completion, to begin work on the new factory building.

Plans and specifications are now being prepared by a Philadelphia firm, for a one story concrete building—and will be of as fine and modern a manufacturing plant as seen anywhere, everything very complete, as regards to heat, light and sanitary equipment.

The outlook for the future of the Company is very promising and the demands for its goods necessitates this change, they not having ample room for the production of their line quickly and economically, and in addition to this fact, their line will be increased by several new items which will require more room.

These changes being made, Mr. Rollman will do all his own tinning, consequently throwing all his work on castings into our local foundry—the Grey Iron Casting Co., they having a contract with that concern. In fact the latter have been busy on part of their work for some time past.

The Company hopes to occupy their new building by the end of the month and will be the only manufacturing plant in the West Ward.

The pay of carriers on the rural free delivery routes is to be increased $1.00 each year by an amendment added before the final vote on the measure was taken. That Wasn't Bad. Ralph M. Decker raised on the farm of Elias Groff, Jr., near Strasburg, what was stepped off as two acres—about 13,000 plants of tobacco and his yield was 5,070 lbs. The price he received was 11.60 and 3.

Destroyed by Fire

FARM HOUSE AND CONTENTS COMPLETELY BURNED ON MONDAY

The Farm House Owned by Mr. John Snavelly and Occupied by His Son, at Lancaster Junction, With Its Contents, was Completely Destroyed on Monday—Origin Unknown

The residents of Lancaster Junction were given a big fire scare on Monday afternoon, when, with a high wind prevailing, the large two-story stone farmhouse owned by Jonas Snavelly, situated a short distance from the station, was completely destroyed. Some of the furniture was saved by hard work, but otherwise the blaze wrought complete destruction.

The farmhouse was tenanted by the owner's son, John Snavelly, and family, and Mrs. Snavelly and an infant child were in the house when the former discovered the fire. Mr. Snavelly is at a loss as to the origin of the blaze, but believes it started on the second floor or in the attic.

Mrs. Snavelly immediately sounded the alarm, and in a short time the entire village had turned out and lent the helping hand in saving what they could. A bucket brigade was formed, and a considerable portion of the furniture was saved from the building, but nothing could be done against the high wind that prevailed, and which for a time looked as if it might cause a more serious conflagration. Situated in close proximity to the farmhouse was a summer house, and this was saved only from the fact that the wind was coming from the opposite direction. The fire broke out at 2:30 o'clock, and burned for several hours. The loss on the property is not known. Mr. Snavelly carried insurance on the dwelling.
