Washington Produces Coke

Washington is the only state west of the Rocky Mountains that contains coal possessing coking qualities, and the coking industry of Washington is restricted to a limited area in Pierce County. Tests made at the experimental plant of the United States Geological Survey at Denver in 1908 showed that a fair quality of coke could be made from the coal mined in the northern part of the Roslyn field in Kittitas County (the only workable coal in Washington east of the Cascades). . . . .

The total production of coke in Washington in 1909 according to the United States Geological Survey amounted to 55,337 short tons, valued at $347,540, against 42,981 short tons, valued at $240,604 in 1909. Both in quantity and value the production in 1910 exceeded all previous records. . . . .

The coke industry of Washington began in 1884 when 400 tons of coke were made in pits. The first ovens were built in 1885.

Messrs. Graham and Hoban Invade Reading

Last week the North American's famous sporting editor and his cartoonist came to Reading and took in the ball game. Incidentally meeting many of the baseball fans.

What they saw and heard would fill a book, to say nothing of the funny sketches made by Hoban.

Their ideas of the game as played by the local team, together with copious notes, will appear in the issue of the Sunday North American of July 2, 1911.

Don't miss this issue, as their account of the game will make history for the Reading B. B. C. In order not to be disappointed place your order early, as there is sure to be a big demand for this issue.

They Want Bids

Sealed proposals for the labor and material for the erection of a bridge according to plans and specifications over Little Chickies Creek, between Rapho and East Donegal townships, on the road from the Marietta and Mt. Monday, July 17, 1911, to be opened at noon on the said day. . . . .

VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR OUR SUBURBAN FRIENDS

Necessary Drainage on Farm Land—The Manure Pile a Menace to Health—In the Case of Water Spouts—Provided Shade for Cows

Wagons, rakes, forks, racks and everything should be in good order before the harvest begins.

A garden hoe plow will prevent backache and do three times as much work as the common hoe.

A good double coat of paint on the kitchen floor will make the housework a great deal easier for mother and the girls.

In fixing up the garden fence widen the gate so as to admit a team with plow or wagon. This will lessen the work in the garden by half.

A spool of fine copper wire will find a thousand and one uses on the average place. It will be used for repairing everything from forks to the sewing machine.

A few drops of gasoline applied with a medicine dropper to the heart of each dandelion plant will, it is claimed by several who have tried it, kill the weeds quickly.

To make harness look almost as good as new apply a dressing of one pint of neatfoot oil to which are added a large teaspoonful of lambblack and an ounce of beeswax.

Have a stationary yardstick in your sewing room, string it to the wall near the machine. Always at hand, and much more convenient for measuring than a tape measure.

If your teams are to be used much in hauling heavy loads where backing is necessary use a harness with a wide and heavy breeching. It will add to the horse's confidence and his backing power.

The cow that is compelled to stand in the hot sun all day during the summer months will suffer while she fights flies that congregate upon her body and suck her blood. Large trees should grace the cow pasture.

Here the cow will come to rest and chew her cud in contentment while the overspreading branches protect her from the sun's scorching rays.

Water sprouts will usually develop in a greater or less number after a vigorous pruning has been given, but these are easily removed and should be cut out each season. All wounds over an inch and a half in diameter should be protected with a thick coat of lead paint. After the pruning has been done steps to combat insects and fungous diseases should be taken, for it is now impossible to grow good fruit without spraying.

Owners of country homes sometimes forget that the manurepile is a menace to health of the family, particularly when within easy reach of the dwelling. Although a most excellent fertilizer, there is nothing that will breed flies more quickly or certainly than stable manure. And if it be true, as no doubt it is, that they carry disease then the unsightly heap would be removed to the garden or field, where its value is appreciated.

In hundreds of cases where drainage is desirable it is not necessary to employ an engineer to lay out the work nor to use expensive systems of excavation. Much of this work can be done by the farmer himself after the exercise of a little thoughtfulness. After a heavy rain in summer—any time when there is standing water on the field—let the farmer go over his land and determine if the water at its height seeks a natural runaway. It is easy to see where water would escape if a few places are leveled down to a point below the water above them. Place stakes at these high places and as soon as the ground will permit of working get busy with team, plow and scraper and cut down these high places. When another rain comes see if the water flows off. If not, observe where the high places are and again go over them with team and scraper. Begin work at the lower end of the natural water course and work up towards the sloughs. There may be places where greater excavations may be required, and this can often be done with a spade at seasons of the year when there is a lull in other work. Open ditch work of this character for a few years will relieve many fields of wet and unproductive places now existing, and the farmer will scarcely realize the cost, while the expense of cultivating the entire field will be reduced and its productivity increased.

Drainage is necessary for good roads and good fields.

When prices of live stock decline do not give up the business. Year in and year out there is always good money in raising hogs, sheep, cattle and horses.

Before the rush of spring work begins have all the harnesses and machines in readiness. At that season of the year one can prepare them better than later.

A small water system in the house and barn increases the conveniences about your place and reduces the work. Later you can add to the comfort of yourself and family by installing library, auto, telephone and electricity.

Keep the flank and udder of the cows clipped. It is much easier than to clean the parts before milking. It helps to keep dirt out of the milk. To clip the cows all over twice a year will do them good.

There are some cows that are never profitable milkers, however we fed them. There are many, however, that are unprofitable through no fault of their own. With these an observance of correct methods of feeding, care and management will change them from a source of loss to a source of profit.

It is poor business keeping the hogs in the same lots year after year without renovating them. You will have very little disease among hogs from one lot to another frequently. This practice and allowing running water will reduce the mortality among these animals to a remarkable extent.

The best poultrymen sell their stock as soon as marketable age is reached and a satisfactory price can be obtained. They feed with a definite end in view and give such a care as is essential to the securing of the quickest growth in the shortest time with the least expense. If he intends to send a certain number of his stock to market and use the remainder for breeders or egg production he separates them at an early age and feeds and cares for each lot as its future requires.

Discard the dishcloth and the dish towel when the milk utensils are being washed. Wash them in warm water first, with plenty of some washing compound, and use a brush to do the work, but never a rag. Get into every part of them, after which rinse off with clean warm water and then either put them in boiling water or pour boiling water over them. Stand the parts up so that they will drain and use no cloth to wipe them. The hot surface will dry them. Leave the parts in a sunshiny place if possible.

There is more or less dry weather during the summer, and the runs not infrequently become bated and in heavy soils more or less filthy. The man who has the best interests of his flock at heart will come once a week use a hand plow in such yards and stir up the soil so as to make it loose and fresh. If he does this at night, the next morning the fowls will get at work, scratching, hunting worms and stirring things generally. It is wonderful how much they find in this turned up soil that furnishes them both amusement and food.

Select sows from families that lead you to expect good litters of vigorous growthy pigs. Keep proved sows as long as they do well or as long as you can control them. Feed them enough to give the sows a chance, remembering that for developing themselves and their pigs a large percentage of protein is needed. Keep their bowels in order, especially at farrowing time, taking care not to feed a loosening enough diet to scour the pigs.

Remember that the development of the mammary glands depends largely on the number of pigs in the first litter, and last but not least make the sow take care of her pigs by compelling her to stay with them a considerable part of each day.

DOUBT DISAPPEARS

No One in Mt. Joy Who Has a Bad Back Can Ignore This Double Proof

Does your back ever ache? Have you suspected your kidneys? Backache is kidney ache. With it comes dizzy spells. Sleepless nights, tired, dull days, distressing urinary disorders. Cure the kidneys to cure it all. Doan's Kidney Pills bring quick relief.

Bring thorough, lasting cures. So Mt. Joy people say. You have read Mt. Joy proof. Read now the Mt. Joy sequel. Renewed testimony: tested by street Mrs. Jacob Childs, Mt. Joy Street, Mt. Joy, Pa., says: "It would be hard to describe how severely I suffered from kidney complaint. I think I had all the difficulties that attend this trouble. My back ached a great deal and the kidney secretions were unnatural. Finally I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills procured from Garber's Drug Store and they relieved me promptly. I am in better health now than I have been for years and this great change is due solely to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills." (Statement given October 26, 1907.)

A Permanent Cure On January 29, 1910, Mrs. Childs said: "The cure effected by Doan's Kidney Pills two years ago has been a lasting one. I am now free from pain."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn & Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Tol. O. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
