IS PRACTICAL AND INEXPENSIVE.

This Design Provides For a Dwelling Containing Five Rooms and Bath--It is a Cottage of Simple Exterior, but Not Without Individuality.

Design 82, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW--FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

Herewith is shown a very practical and trim looking cottage which can be built at a small financial outlay. The dwelling has the appearance of a house that would cost more money, and, while it is designed to meet the needs of a small family, the five rooms it contains, besides the bathroom, are all of fair size, and their arrangement is modern. The exterior of this cottage, although quite simple, is not without individuality. The advantages of the house both from a viewpoint of economy and desirability are striking. Comfort and even coziness are suggested from without. The porch and its large window add to this impression. The hall, living room and dining room are thrown together by large casement openings, tending to make them appear larger. The Dutch window in the dining room is effective viewed from the outside or inside. Size of cottage is 20 by 24 feet, exclusive of the piazza, which is seven feet wide. First story eight and one-half feet high, second story eight feet. Birch finish in the first story, pine in the second, with birch floors. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $1,200.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish a complete set of plans and specifications of design No. 82 for $10. GLENN L. SAXTON.

NEW SCHOOL CODE Will Be Effective in Public Schools This Term

The new school code will govern the public schools, which will reopen on September 1. The provisions of the new school code, which concern every parent, guardian or patron of the schools of Lancaster county are as follows:

One—Every parent or guardian having charge or control of a child or children between the ages of eight and sixteen must send such child or children to a day school in which the common English branches are taught. The attendance must be continuous during the entire school year.

Two—Children attending private schools or other institutions in which the common English branches are taught, or children tutored in the same branches daily, regularly, and for the specified time, by a proper qualified tutor, will be complying with the provisions of the code, provided a certificate stating this fact is furnished and is satisfactory to the superintendent.

Three—Children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen who are holders of properly issued employment certificates and who are regularly employed are not required to attend day schools. Those children who are during the months of July and August found any kind of employment and engaged therein and who are not entitled to or holders of properly issued employment certificates must attend at once either the public schools of their district of a private school or institution, or be tutored in the English branches.

Four—Every Principal or Teacher of a school or institution other than a public school, or tutor of a child or children, "shall, immediately after their admission to such schools or institution, or at the beginning of such private teaching," furnish to the superintendent of all such children lists of the names and residences of all such children between eight and sixteen years. He shall report the name and date of withdrawal of any such pupil to the same officer. He shall report to the superintendent during the compulsory attendance, without lawful excuse.

According to Section 1, Article 23 of the "Rules and Regulations of the Common Schools of Lancaster," every child entering school for the first time must have a written permit. The section of the "rules" referred to reads as follows:

The Week in Grain

Compiled for the Mount Joy Bulletin, at Mount Joy, Pa., by Wm. L. Bear & Co., Pennsylvania Building, Philadelphia, Pa., by D. B. Lehman, Manager, Woolworth Building, Lancaster, Penna.

Phila., Pa., Aug. 27, 1911.

The extreme activity in the stock list has detracted from commission home activity in the grain market, and price changes as a rule have been nominal. So far as this interest has participated, the preponderance has been toward liquidation of holdings, and with such price changes as have been recorded tending toward a higher level, the logical conclusion is one of definite strength. At least it may be said that in the grain market alone, has it been possible to reduce commitments following the rapid change in speculative and business sentiment of the past month, without any sacrifice in prices.

Naturally trade sentiment largely centres upon the outlook in the Canadian provinces more specifically than in former years, by reason of probable reciprocal relations. Press despatches generally have dwelt upon glowing prospects all over the Dominion, with the official estimate for a total crop, in round numbers of 200,000,000 bushels. Some trade estimates are higher, even, than this total, altho the status of the crop is by no means undisputed. No less an authority than Inglis places 170 million as the maximum yield, and mentions the possibility of sharp reductions should the frosts that are occurring almost nightly become more severe. He estimates that not more than 25 per cent. of the acreage is beyond frost damage at the moment with fully 25 per cent requiring an additional two weeks to escape possible damage from this source.

On the whole, the undertone of firmness through the cereal list, has been pronounced at a time when declining prices has been the rule.

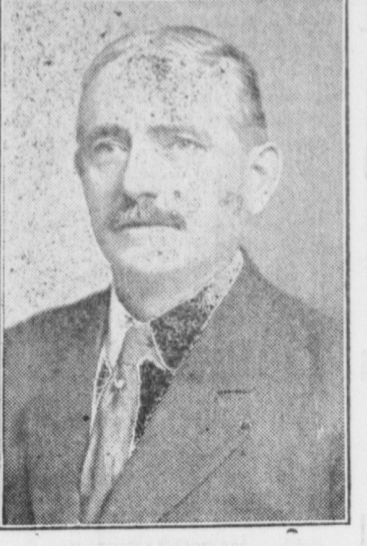

THE FAMILY OPENS A Big Bill is Being Offered This Week

The Family Theatre, at Lancaster, Pa., opened for the season on Monday afternoon, and the promise of the management to give a thoroughly good and up-to-date performance at unheard of prices was more than realized. Indeed, it is hard to understand how a show so entertaining can be presented on a scale of admission that gives a seat for five cents and the theatre. But the public is not likely to puzzle their brains over this point; they are more likely to go and enjoy the good performances. The entire opening entertainment was first-class, and a humorous bicycle act of the Booth Trio. It made such a hit that it was retained for the entire week. All the other acts are replaced by new ones on Thursday. The new management will change the show twice every week, and there will be performances every afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and every night at 7:30 and 9 o'clock. Besides the vaudeville two reels of the best and latest moving pictures are shown.
