It looks as if the standpatter has undergone revision downward.

The price of cotton is held up by scarcity; that of wool by veto.

A wise man doesn't try to break his wife's will until she is dead.

Some people are good because it pays while others are good for nothing.

Oysters are in market. Thought that long session of r-rain would start something.

A bigamist recently arrested, asserted that he hypnotized. That's what they all say.

With poker and bull fights prohibited, the Panama Canal will be the proverbial narrow path.

What's going to become of all the pickles that the women of this country are putting up nowadays.

Well, at least Senator LaFollette can't claim that President Taft vetoed any of his magazine articles.

The Charleston News and Courier has dismissed the weather bureau with a breath of withering scorn.

No doubt Admiral Togo has a much clearer idea of the dangers that are likely to beset the Japanese invader.

"Senators," says President Taft, derive their power from the people. This will be news to many of the senators.

The San Francisco woman who buried the wrong man as her husband may have better luck the next time.

Again the Franco-German war over in Morocco is finished without bloodshed, though with terrific inkshed.

There are said to be 800 chinamen in American Colleges. How on earth can we keep this a secret from San Francisco?

The Connecticut Legislature is still in session. It must be careful or it will run the year round and bump into itself.

The Brooklyn Eagle says that 1,000,000 pounds of poultry went into cold storage last month. No wonder chickens are tough.

"These days you never know what some politicians will do but you always know what a clothing store dummy or a wooden indian will do.

Omaha is another city of goodly size that has seen the light and adopted the commission form of government. Let the good work go on.

Congressman Carter is seven-sixteenths Indian. He whipped four men recently, which makes Indian efficiency difficult to estimate in figures.

Thomas A. Edison in a recent interview in Paris gave forth the opinion that people sleep too much. May be that's why he invited the phonograph.

Chairman Mack of the Democratic National Committee, presents Gov. Dix as a presidential possibility. We shall look for some remarks from Colonel Bryan on this subject.

If a drunken man gets a two-year sentence for turning in a false alarm of fire, what ought to be the length of term for calamity prophets, howlers and rain crows who sound alarms during prosperity and sunshine.

From Cambridge, Mass., comes the report that a comet can be seen with the naked eye. The naked eye is very sorry, but it is busy with politics now and the comet will have to come back a little later.

Any doubt that Champ Clark is an aspirant for the presidency is now dispelled through his action in starting an Ananias Club with President Taft as a charter member. For what is the presidency without an Ananias Club?

The state of California has done some very bold, progressive, and intelligent things in the last few years. In making Louisa G. Glavis secretary of her new Civilian Commission California leads the world where she can.

Norman Minnich and Harry Hotteberger, two of our young men, were driving over the state road to Neffsville on Sunday evening. Near the latter place there is a dangerous curve, an automobile came the opposite direction and ran directly into them, throwing the young men out on the road, bruising and cutting their faces very badly. Their wagon was wrecked, their horse ran away and was caught near Frick's school house. The cause of the trouble was that the auto did not have the lights lit. The accident happened about 8 o'clock. The young men have the number of the automobile and the parties said they came from Coatesville and had no carbide in the generator. They were traveling at a great speed when they struck the team as one of the ladies was thrown out of the car onto the road, but she said she was not hurt. The young men got the loss of another buggy and drove to Petersburg where Dr. Garrison dressed their cuts and bruises.
