Killed by Fall from a Ladder

Mr. Isaac Wealand, of Rheems, Is the Unfortunate Victim

Was Standing on a Ladder When He Made a Misstep and Fell to the Cellar, Breaking His Neck—He Died Instantly

Rheems and vicinity was greatly shocked late yesterday afternoon when the news spread that Mr. Isaac Wealand, one of the best known residents of that community, fell and broke his neck, dying almost instantly.

Mr. Wealand is building a new double house in Rheems and he was assisting as well as superintending the work. Late yesterday afternoon he was standing on a ladder when asked for a chisel by one of the employees. In reaching for the tool he was obliged to remove his foot from one of the rungs of the ladder and when in the act of replacing his foot he missed the rung and fell head foremost into the cellar, a distance of seven feet.

Messrs. Amos Engle and El Williams, who were working there, hurried to his assistance but when they got there he was dead.

In his fall he struck on his head, breaking his neck. Although he did not fall very high, his weight was sufficient to cause the above results. Dr. Blough of Elizabethtown, was immediately summoned and he found that death was caused as stated above.

Mr. Wealand was a farmer and a cattle dealer in the community in which he lived for many years and therefore enjoyed a large circle of friends. He leaves his wife and one daughter, Mrs. B. H. Greider of Rheems. Deceased was 72 years of age.

The funeral will be held from his late home on Friday forenoon with services in the Church at Rheems. Interment will be made in the burial grounds at Green Tree Church.

Estella Bucher, Supt. Home Department—Dr. E. W. Garber, Supt. O. A. B. C. Department—Mr. J. W. Eshleman, Supt. Teachers' Training Department—Rev. F. G. Bossert, Supt. Temperance—Mrs. John S. Eby, Supt. Missions—Miss Ada Nissley.

IT WAS ONLY A DUMMY

Pennsylvania Railroad Passenger Crew Gets a Fright

A few days ago Train No. 276 ran over near town what they thought was the body of a child. The emergency brakes were applied at once and the train stopped quickly, causing the passengers to be thrown from their seats, but no serious injuries resulted. Upon backing the train to the scene they found that it was nothing but a dummy, placed on the tracks evidently by some person who thought it would be a good joke on the trainmen. It may prove a little more serious for the jokester, as railroad detectives are on his trail.

From Maine To 'Frisco

Clarence Staley, a Boy Scout, Is Walking That Distance

He Called at The Bulletin Office Yesterday For Our Signature--Walked From Lancaster to Middletown Yesterday--Dog and Two Indians Flinch.

Yesterday afternoon a young man sixteen years of age, dressed in a khaki suit, stepped into our sanctum. He said: "I am Clarence Staley, a member of the Boy Scouts of Boston and I am walking from Portland Maine, to 'Frisco for my health."

Leisurely turning in the chair, just enough to go one eye on the stranger, he was answered thus: "That story listens good. How much do you want?" We are so frequently molested, if Knights of the Road will excuse the term, that we thought it was the same old story, but this time we erred.

This young man has taken a fancy to hiking and he was in earnest. He is carrying a message from the Mayor of Boston, Mass. to the Mayor of San Francisco, Cal. Every town of any consequence that he passes through he procures the signature of some one in the town. Here he received the signature of the editor of this old rag of freedom and in his book-let was also stamped "The Union National Bank, Mount Joy," as well as "The First National Bank, Landisville, Pa." The young man, Clarence Staley by name, left Portland, Me., Oct. 2, 1911 and expects to reach 'Frisco some time next June. He left without a cent in his pockets and earns money by selling his photo and plays theatrical engagements to pay his expenses. He is not permitted to ride an inch of the way.

When he left he was accompanied by two Indians and a dog. The redskins bit the dust after footing it but 40 miles but the dog stuck with him to Philadelphia, where he tagged.

The young man is quite an expert to hiking and he was in earnest. He is carrying a message from the Mayor of Boston, Mass. to the Mayor of San Francisco, Cal. Every town of any consequence that he passes through he procures the signature of some one in the town. Here he received the signature of the editor of this old rag of freedom and in his book-let was also stamped "The Union National Bank, Mount Joy," as well
