Home Health Club

Preventable Maladies—Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, of the Chicago bureau of vital statistics, exhibited four panels at the opening of the City Club lately, in which he demonstrated some startling facts connected with his specialty. The panels showed that out of 32,800 deaths in Chicago last year, 13,500 were caused by preventable diseases, that one baby out of five dies before two years of age, that many of the deaths from preventable diseases arise from bad ventilation. In 1911 there were 4,929 deaths, or 15 per cent. of the total number of deaths in Chicago from pneumonia; in the same period there were 3,726 or 11 percent from tuberculosis or consumption.

A great many persons laugh at the idea of prevention of disease. They say: "Do you suppose anyone is going to be sick just for the fun of it?" or "How is anyone to avoid being sick if the disease gets after him?" And yet here is a scientific man, employed by a great city, who comes with indubitable facts and figures showing how a frightful percentage of people in his bailiwick die from preventable diseases.

Any intelligent person knows that if he goes out in zero weather, with his coat off and his collar thrown open and in summer shoes that he is going to get a severe illness—that he will probably "catch his death" as the old folks used to express it. Of course this is an extreme example. But where are you going to draw the line? There are thousands of ways for obtaining diseases that a strong healthy person would laugh at. An old soldier who has a deep-seated case of chronic rheumatism said to us a few days ago: "During the war I was that strong and healthy it seemed as if a cannon-ball would have some trouble hurting me very much. Many a time after a long and fatiguing march of many miles, in the heat and dust, when we would go into camp at night, I would throw myself down in the wet grass, that seemed to be the most comfortable place I could think of, to sleep. Older men would say: 'You'll pay for that. One of these days, youngster.'"

I could not understand why anything that didn't hurt me, right there and then, could hurt me years after, but I know now. If I had taken the trouble to cool off in even the same way that a sensible horse handler would have used to take care of his horse that had been on a heating dash; dried myself properly and cooled off by sensible degrees, the chances are a thousand to one that I wouldn't be hanging to this pole of a walking-stick right now, and I wouldn't be having the pains that rack me day and night."

This is another extreme case. But let us tell you, careless one, that when you cram your stomach with what you consider luxuries, and eat a big hearty meal everytime the dinner-bell rings, whether you want it or not; when you sleep in a hot, unventilated room, or even a cold, unventilated room, or take alcoholic or other unnatural stimulants; use tobacco in any unreasonable way; or become a coffee fiend; drink water that is not pure, or indulge in any excess, or expose yourself unnecessarily, to inclement weather, no matter how young and strong you are, you are laying yourself liable to one of the preventable diseases that Dr. Drake has shown up. And yet there is nothing much more contemptible in personal habit than "molly-coddling." The Home Health Club does not advise that by any means.

Be temperate, use common-sense, fight for fresh, pure air and the same sort of water; cultivate good humor; be kind and helpful; "Do unto others as you would that others should do unto you," in which, the Nazarene has said: "is all the law and the prophets," and the chances are that a preventable disease will never even reach the neighborhood of your good health.

CLUB NOTE

Dear Doctor:

Is there any cure for carbuncle?

Have been troubled with them for the last five years. Had them removed three times and they are still growing and are very painful. I like your new department very much.

J. E. D.

A carbuncle means a destruction of the skin and the tissues directly beneath. It is most common with elderly or feeble persons, and produces severe constitutional symptoms. Occasionally more than one carbuncle may appear on the body at one time, and if so the constitutional symptoms are apt to be graver.

Poultice the spot with flaxseed. Sprinkle over with goldenseal. Have an incision made across the carbuncle, which should be cut deeply and then apply the poultice as before, although it would be beneficial for you to mix it with a little myrrh and glycerine. Apply around the edges compound tincture of myrrh. Change these poultices every four hours, also washing around the ulcerous surface with extract of witch hazel one ounce, borax one dram, warm water one pint. A small syringe should be used. The stream will wash away all accumulations. While suppuration lasts these poultices should be constantly applied. In order to keep up your general health and strength you should have every nourishing diet, sufficient exercise and sleep in well ventilated rooms.

"DON'T" FOR THE PUBLIC

Conestoga Traction Company Trying to Prevent Accidents

The Conestoga Traction company realizing the importance of educating the public along lines which will tend to lessen the number of accidents occurring daily, by reason of people throwing caution to the winds have discontinued outside advertisements, on the back of their transfers and have, instead of the advertisement, the following:

CAUTION

DON'T—Cross tracks without locking both ways.

DON'T—Fall when leaving a car to look up and down the street for an approaching vehicle.

DON'T—Jump on or off a car while it is in motion.

DON'T—Get off facing rear of car.

DON'T—Cross opposite track without looking for car approaching in opposite direction.

DON'T—Let your children play near street car tracks.

This move on the part of the Traction Company will no doubt result in preventing many accidents, and should meet with the commendation of the public.

Next Excursion to Mexico

B. A. Hadsell, who has spent over two years trying to interest the River Brethren, (Dunkard) Brethren and Mennonites in Mission work in the Tropics of Mexico, reports the work progressing nicely. Several of our town people, including Daniel Wolgemuth, Harry Engle Clinton Engle and Abram Martin, accompanied him on one of his excursions and all were delighted with their trip and the Country and speak very highly of it as a great Mission field, also as a land of perpetual seed time and harvest, a land formerly devoted to stock raising, where they are fat and ready for the butcher at all times of the year, running on the evergreen grass without hay or grain, but things are changing. The tide of emigration from the United States has turned southward and those large tracts are now being divided into small American farms, devoting it to cattle fattening, hogs, corn, sugar cane, rice, tobacco, cotton broom corn, coffee, rubber, coconuts, Heneguen chocolate, oranges, bananas, limes, pineapples, lemons, papayas and other tropical fruits too numerous to mention. Mr. Hadsell has made eight trips to Mexico, traveled extensively and gotten out eight booklets or bulletins. The last bulletin, No. 8, is highly illustrated and just off the press. He will be pleased to furnish an assortment of them free on application.

His next excursion is set to leave Lancaster Feb. 28, leaving Wall St., N. Y., Feb. 29, by Ward Line Steamer by way of Havana, Cuba, to Vera Cruz, Mexico. Second excursion leaves New York April 18. For further particulars address

Next Boxing Show

The next show of the Lancaster Athletic club takes place on Thursday night, Feb. 15. It will include six bouts with nearly all local boys as follows: Young Russell and Young Seybold, who was accidentally injured on New Year's; Johnny Greiner vs. Johnny Lober, of Philadelphia, who will put up a forfeit for his appearance; Tim Droney vs. Frankie Honck, brother of Leo Honck; Patsey Flannagan, of Harrisburg vs. Young McGrady, of Columbia, and Kid Clinton vs. Johnny Weimer, two rattling light weights, who have never before been seen in any ring, but are corkers. Charley Collins of Columbia, will meet Abe Willis of Lebanon, who is said to be a corner.

A Girl's Wild Midnight Ride

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskill a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Texas, "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by S. B. Bernhart & Co.

A Teamster Hurt

Mr. Joseph Dorsey, colored, a teamster for Mr. Kraybill at Elizabethtown, was returning home from Mannheim when he fell off his horse, and the wheels of a heavy wagon passed over him. Mr. Harvey Hawthorne happened to come along and brought the unfortunate man to town where Dr. A. F. Snyder attended him. He was taken to the General Hospital. His wrist was dislocated and he suffered a fracture of the arm and cheek bone.
