Some of the presidential candidates talk like "white hopes."

The more a true magnate wants, the less the others follow gets. What will we dash for now, since both poles have been discovered.

Give Spring chances enough and she will get here in all her radiant glory.

La Follette swallowed the North Dakota Republican delegates' horse wagon and dragon.

A woman never thinks her husband unreasonable as when he expects her to be reasonable.

Our idea of a pessimist is the man who is worrying about how hot it is going to be next August.

How appropriate that while it is yet in its infancy the Chinese Republic is to establish kindergartens.

There is no reason why the United States should follow the example of European nations in coal strikes.

Three-fourths of the people of Brooklyn are aliens, most of them having emigrated from New York.

Mr. Roosevelt would like to see business prosper, yet he wants it to remember all the time who is boss.

Prof. Scott of Evanston, says if your feet are cold, you are displeased with something. Perhaps the weather.

Whether Captain Amundsen beat Captain Scott to the South Pole or not, he certainly beat him in the race back.

Cap Hobson should cheer up—the Panama Canal may be blown up by the volcano before the Japs decide to take it.

Dr. Wiley didn't resign under fire, except such fire as is directed at all times against the man who is doing his duty.

"Kaiser changes his mind twice in one day," says a headline. What a great candidate was lost when he was born a king!

Our idea of a liberal-minded man is one who would contribute an equal amount to each presidential candidate's campaign.

Only a fire, cyclone, cataclysm, or act of Congress will save Washington, declares Doc. Wiley. Well, we have no preference.

The speaker of the New Arizona legislature is a railroad switchman, but what the baby state really needs is an engineer.

J. P. Morgan told Lin Cavalier that he wished he knew her beauty secrets. Well, sir, the Sunday papers cost only a nickel.

Simultaneous outbreaks against officers of the law in New York, Virginia and Nebraska have prevented any sectional mud-slinging recency.

Governor Hadley, the Republican governor of Mississippi has liberated 504 felons. It is going to be mighty hard for the Democratic party to carry Missouri.

These congressional ovations to Speaker Clark will be commended by his friends to the Baltimore convention as models of style.

A sixteen-inch gun that will shoot fourteen miles will be a powerful argument for arbitration in the minds of a government which does possess any such weapons.

The minister's wife who testified in court that she had moved into thirty homes in eight years is competent to sympathize with the Methodist preacher's daughter who used to tell her friends that she was born all along the South shore.

One of the Vanderbilt women gave a dog party at Palm Beach. Champ Clark's famous houn dawg was not there, not having been invited. It wouldn't feel at home anyway, with a campaign approaching in which its master expects to appeal to the plain people for support.

A Vacuum Cleaner Bargain Price $10

THE DOMESTIC JUNIOR is a vacuum cleaner that will do more work than many high priced cleaners and much more than any other cleaner of an equal price. It looks like a carpet sweeper—works like a carpet sweeper—but is a vacuum cleaner—a cleaner that cleans your carpets and rugs through and through.

This shows the amount of solid dirt which the Domestic Junior took from a carpet which looked clean.

All we ask of any housewife is that she give it one fair trial—pick out the cleanest carpet in the house and run this vacuum cleaner over it—then open the cleaner—look at the amount of dirt you got out of your carpet or rug which you thought was clean.

The cost of this wonderful little vacuum cleaner is just $10.00 and is sold to you with the guarantee to be perfectly satisfactory in every respect or we will refund your money. Drop card for circular and demonstration.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

By Dr. David Reeder, La Porte, Ind.

A GREAT WALK:—A musician of New York, Mrs. David Beach, is walking from New York City to Chicago, a thousand miles, and on the long tramp will eat nothing but raw food. She is an enthusiast on the "no meat" diet, and she is taking this long walk to prove her theory and contention that through a diet of raw foods lies the road to health, wealth and prosperity.

There is no wager to be laid on the feat and it will not even come under the newspaper heading, "Sports of the Day." Moreover, the lady is not performing the feat for notoriety or any other gain than that which she hopes to achieve for all the world in the matter of showing how the general health may be increased. She is evidently a "well-to-do" woman, as she will be accompanied on the tramp by her own automobile, chauffeur and maid, and a correspondent who will give the details of the trip to the press. Moreover, she pays all of her own expenses.

The lady will walk the entire distance, not for spectacular purposes, but as the most palpable way of exhibiting to all the world, that one may undergo great exertion, and continuous, like any other kind of labor, upon a diet from which meat or any other cooked food is excluded, and yet she does not advocate the idea that folks should not eat cooked food, but no meat, and is, on this trip, merely excluding cooked food to emphasize her contention that the simplest food is best for people to live on, and that much decreased quantities are better. She also admits that this should all be arrived at by degrees and should not be radically begun.

Altogether this person is the most remarkable "enthusiast" that has come into public notice, so far as we know. While she insists that walking is the handiest exercise for one to take, she does not insist that one should walk a long distance to work and back. She does not insist that one should carry a lot of grain in a pocket, to be eaten between meals, that the kitchen range should be thrown out of a window, that one should eat anything that is not desired, but she declares that if she can persuade a great many to quit eating meat and very much of anything else, her mission will have been performed, and while she has a set of rules for diet that she strictly follows herself and thus keeps herself strong, healthy and competent, she only declares that the more of her rules that are adopted, the greater will be the benefit of those who adopt them.

While declaring that coffee is bad for the health of anyone she says: "If you believe that you must have your dem-tasse after dinner, have it, but please give up coffee at luncheon and drink milk instead. If your palate craves bacon and egg, eat as little of the bacon as possible. "I know that if you are liberal minded and take enough interest in my form of diet to read what I write about it you will be willing to try a few of its features. Once you obey one of my rules consistently or try half a dozen of my recipes, you are lost. Gradually the habit of following my advice will grow upon you and you will become healthy in spite of yourself.

"Everybody wants to be healthy, but few want to take the trouble. It is difficult for a person who lives in boarding to diet, no matter how much he may want to. I will tell you though, how even the man who lives in a boarding house can improve his health.

"Most of my recipes need a kitchen at least, a kitchenette—for their preparation. I am going to give a great many recipes for dishes that require cooking. Even I eat cooked food when in my own home. I am going to touch nothing but raw foods on my long tramp, however. I want to undergo the most severe test possible to prove that my theories apply as to the many who do manual labor as they do to the woman who has servants to wait upon her and who seldom goes out of her home."

Evidently this lady is very intelligent, decidedly philanthropic and very much in earnest. Moreover, many of her theories are sound, though to some extent impractical at this stage of the world. She will do a great deal of good, and it matters not how good it is done so that it is accomplished. The Home Health Club constantly advises the non-use of coffee, the very considerable reduction of meat and at two of the meals, out of the three, none; the reduction of quantity in all foods consumed by the individual; the simplest food that one can possibly bring oneself to eat alone with this, with plenty of exercise, deep-breathing, pure air and water, sanitation and all cleanliness, will work wonders in the advancement of health, capability and consequent happiness and prosperity.

As Mrs. Beach says: "Everybody wants to be healthy, but few want to take the trouble," and means far more than physical good feeling. It means a better state of mind and heart, a greater capacity for doing well and to the extent that it prevails, a better people and a better world to live in.

Wants New Trial Harry Waring, of Harrisburg, found guilty by a jury at quarter sessions court in Lancaster. Wednesday afternoon, on two counts of false pretense, last evening entered bail in the sum of $1,000 before Judge Hassler for his appearance there in September. It is understood that an effort will be made for a new trial. Waring was prosecuted by H. C. Schock and Clarence Schock, of Mount Joy. The alleged offense was committed in exchanging certain certificates.

CLUB NOTES Dear Doctor:— Please tell me what can be done to gain flesh. Am well, but very thin. Have been drinking warm milk with little satisfaction. Am 23 years old and married.

Practice deep breathing systematically, three times daily about one hour after each meal. For desert eat daily 2 ounces salted almond nut meats or chocolate almond candies. Lie down after dinner for at least 30 minutes, sleep between 8 and 10 hours every night. If you can do so, go to bed early and get up late. If you follow this regime religiously for six months and don't worry in the meantime, you will be as plump as you wish to be. If you don't gain the desired amount of fat under this system, they of you should have a thorough and careful examination made by a reliable and experienced physician who is familiar with re-lux nervous troubles and have the cause of mal-assimilation discovered and removed.

All readers of this publication are at liberty to write for information pertaining to the subject of health at any time. Address all communications to the Home Health Club, La Porte, Indiana, with name and address and full and at least four cents in postage.

NORTHWEST RAPHO Henry C. Frey delivered his 1911 crops of tobacco on Saturday.

Shad are reported scarce, but the horn was tooting on Monday.

Many farmers are engaged in hauling their spring fertilizer.

Mrs. Maria Werner visited in the family of C. B. Brandt on Sunday.

John Gebel and family spent Sunday visiting relatives in Milton Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Werner and son William spent Sunday in the family of F. W. Gebel.

Frank Shenk and family spent Sunday in the home of his brother, Clayton, near Green Tree church.
