DOULTRY BREED CHICKENS FOR PROFIT

In Making Selection One Must Be Governed to Great Extent by Market—Cockerel is Important.

In making the selection of breed, one must be governed somewhat by the market. Birds that sell best on the block should be medium in size, plump condition, with yellow skin and legs. Most all our American breeds have these requirements, and by careful selection at breeding time one can build up a profitable laying strain from this class of birds, such as the Plymouth Rocks or Wyandottes.

The common practice of breeding from the flock as a whole has done more harm than anything else in making the flock unprofitable as egg producers. Breeding from birds that produce but one or two clutches of eggs during the year will produce birds of like nature, and breeding a sire that has not the laying quality and characteristics bred in him cannot but help to make the situation worse.

The success with egg production must begin with breeding. When you have a hen that will lay a large number of eggs each month during the winter, breed from her. The trait of superior egg production is a habit that may be acquired and transmitted. A hen whose ancestors were poor layers cannot be expected to be a good layer. No amount of coaxing or coddling with mash or feed will induce her to produce an unusual number of eggs, because the trait of superior egg production was not acquired by her ancestry and could not therefore be transmitted to her.

The selection of the male to head the flock should not be neglected. He should have been bred from productive ancestry. The male is half the flock, and if his dam and grand-dam were good producers, he should be worth much more as a sire than those whose dam produced only a limited number of eggs.

He should have a good constitution, showing short beak, broad head and bright eye, neck short and stout, breast of good width carried well forward and of fair depth. The mating of such a sire to a flock of hens bred from laying ancestors cannot but help to give good results with proper feeding and housing.

The breeding pen should be yarded separate from the whole flock, selecting for this pen only the very best egg producers, and this should be done each year. One male with 10 or 12 females will give best results and eggs will be of stronger vitality for incubating purposes. The breeding pen should be well cared for. Quarters should be roomy, well lighted and ventilated. The quarters should at all times be kept clean and disinfected. A variety of grain feed, green cut bone and green feed is absolutely necessary to insure fertile eggs, and grit and water should be kept before them at all times.

Lay Good Sized Eggs. Hens that produce not only a goodly number of eggs, but eggs of moderate to large size, (eggs weighing two ounces each on an average) are Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds, Orpingtons, Minorcas and some strains of Leghorns.

DOULTRY NOTES

Never wash eggs. The hen must have a variety to lay well.

Feed gives small returns when given to a lousy hen.

The egg should be perfect in shape, with fresh, clean appearance.

The feed is the first thing to be considered if one is to obtain fertile eggs. Give ample feed and see that every hen has plenty, but see that she works hard for it.

The flesh of the guinea is white and tender and they are often served in city restaurants as game birds.

There is money in poultry culture, as there is in gold ore, but either takes science and labor for its extraction.

It is a difficult matter to keep lice and mites from attacking and multiplying on the sitting hen. These pests won't germinate and grow fat to wood and metal.

How long would it take their honors the Judges to clear their calendars if they attacked the stacked up cases with zeal shown by the members of a political national committee?

Taft men say that they'll let the Roosevelt men do the talking after this. A task for which the Roosevelt men show a peculiar fitness.

What Makes a Woman

One hundred and twenty pounds more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. Its a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters give her. Thousands bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, backache and tired, listless, worn out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Depew, Okla., "and I thank you with all my heart, for making such a good medicine." Only 50 c. Guaranteed by S. B. Bernhart & Co.

Seriously, why not hand a few bouquets to the graduate? He will remember them gratefully in the occasionally melancholy days to come.

One pleasant thing about moving pictures is the elimination of the inhuman dialect exploited by so many actors.

People who would never think of buying worthless mining stock will occasionally purchase a pre-season watermelon.

Doubtless Mr. Hines and Mr. Lorimer think the steam roller is doing all that rolling just to vindicate them.

Why this furor over the United States official who was once an office boy? A good many of them are yet.

It does not seem as if anyone could ever be as bad as the rival political managers say their opponents are.

Meanwhile the man who predicted failure for postal banks has gone into permanent retirement.

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE PATENTS

WE SHALL NOW HEAR A FEW HIGH-BROW REMARKS ABOUT SOAP-BOX CONVENTIONS.

Convention tickets in Chicago were so high that in some instances it was cheaper to buy a delegate to get one.

One reason why the Colonel did this year's crop of sweet girl graduates not shoot the steam roller's pneumatic tires full of holes is the fact that the steam roller does not wear if not an improvement this will at least be a change.

IN ORDER TO GET AN EXACT AND AUTHORITATIVE DEFINITION OF WHAT WOULD CONSTITUTE A BOIT IT MAY BE NECESSARY FOR MR. ROOSEVELT TO SUSPEND HIS OTHER ACTIVITIES FOR A FEW HOURS AND COMPOSE A DICTIONARY.

It is just possible that some of the delegates will be delegates to the national conventions four years from now. That the steam roller does not wear if not an improvement this will at least be a change.
