Climbing for Cats.

A boy in northern Michigan was out hunting and saw two cats up a tree. The family needed a pussy about, and so he laid down his gun and took a climb. What he didn't know until too late was that the animals were wild-cats. Before he could lay hold of the cats they hid behind him, and the doctor who attended his hurts counted up 41 bites and scratches. In hunting for cats be careful that you don't get the wrong breed.

A Beggar's Luggage.

When Bridget Flanagan, who described herself as "a poor lone Irish widow woman," was arrested for begging at Wells she had the following articles distributed about her person: Tea, sugar, fresh cut beefsteak, piece of bacon, two blotters, bread and cheese, four buns, bag of biscuits, cooked fagot, two apples, onions, two clay pipes, tobacco, cigarettes and snuff.—London Evening Standard.

The Man That Counts.

"Remember each of you that the chance for heroic endeavor of a rather spectacular kind does not often count; that the man who really counts in this life is not the man who thinks how well he could do some bit of heroism if the chance arose, but the man who actually does the humdrum, workaday, every-day duties as those duties arise."—Theodore Roosevelt.

Browning Temporarily Forgotten.

Professing Union (at the Boston Browning Club)—No, my hearers, we can not linger too lovingly on the grand words and refining thoughts of our great master of—"Child of our God (entering suddenly)—"John L.'s gain by 'yer war' ter see him." (Club suddenly adjourns to the window.)—Puck.

Local Pride.

"Why do you insist on investing your money away from your home town?" "Well," replied Farmer Cornstossel, "I've got a good deal of local pride, I have, and I regard the people in this here township as bein' so smart that none of 'em is goin' to let any real bargains git away from him."

Editor's Mean Revenge.

An editor who was courting a woman of uncertain age, but positive bank account, was cut out by a gentleman from a neighboring town, who married her and took her home. Whereupon the editor sought a mean revenge by heading account of her wedding: "Another Old Resident Gone."

Turn to Wooden Flooring.

The wooden flooring is on the increase in Italy, taking the place of the former extensive demand for marble, tiling and cement. Oak, larch and pitch pine are mostly adopted, and but little, if any maple, birch or beech has been brought to the market.

Not to Speak Of.

"Has anything ever been discovered on Venus?" asked the student of astronomy. "No," replied the old professor, whose mind had slipped a cog and transported him into mythological fields; "not if the pictures of her are authentic."—Chicago News.

The Man of the Hour.

The country is filled with reformers. But where is the man to be found that will stand for the things proposed by another faction aside from his own because it is everlastingly right?—Des Moines Capital.

Where Tea is Eaten.

The tea grown in Burmah is almost entirely made into letpet (pickled tea) and eaten as a condiment. It therefore does not affect the world's supply of tea for drinking.

What Was in Her Heart.

"Tell me," she sighed—"tell me, beautiful maiden, what is in your heart?" The girl gave him a look of icy disdain, and then vouchsafed the monosyllable, "Blood!"

Early at the Ivorys.

James E. Zitek, three months old, has four teeth and is expected to be able to play the piano when two years old.—Chicago Evening Post.

More Than That in Life.

It would be a bad day for humanity if a man's debt to his fellow-men should come to be calculated and paid solely in rates and taxes.

English Snobbery.

Many will open their purses to a society which has a countless for a patron, but will not help the poor neighbor next door.—London Mail.

Choice Reading.

There is no doubt that a good detective story is better than a bun-love story or a president's message.—Acheson Globe.

Endless Chain.

A mouse is afraid of a man, a man is afraid of a woman, a woman is afraid of a mouse—and there you are.—Chicago News.

He Would Better Keep Still.

A man who smokes and belongs to clubs never has any chance in an argument with his wife about expenses.

POULTRY HOUSE FOR FARMER

Expensive and Elaborate Structure is Not Necessary, but Dry, Well Ventilated One Is.

(By J. W. GRIFFIN.)

The size of our home poultry-building is 16x40 feet, 6 feet at the front eave, and 7 at the rear eave, and 8 feet at the comb. The floor should be the natural earth if the house is located on a well drained place. If not, there should, of course, be a plank floor.

For the convenience of the keeper, the building should be divided into three rooms in the front part; the hallway at the rear should run the entire length of the building. The hallway is 4 feet wide; this will leave the three rooms 12x13 feet.

The partitions between these rooms should be made solid two and one-half feet high. The rest of the partition can be of poultry-wire netting.

The upper part of the partition between the hallway and the rooms is made of wire netting. In the hallway we keep the supply of food for the poultry, and a few barrels of road-stuff that we gather up during a dry time in the summer. This is for the dust-boxes during the winter, when the hens should not be out on the cold ground.

The watering and feeding troughs are set along the slatted partition, just inside the hallway; the chickens reach through between the slats for their food and water.

The nests are placed on a platform just above the slatted part of the partition, and the dropping-board is placed on the nest-boxes, and the perches on the dropping-boards. The platform for the nests, the dropping-boards, and the perches are put in 12 divisions, three of 13 feet each. This facilitates the cleaning as all of the interior arrangements are removed at housecleaning time, which is twice a year—spring and fall.

This is the general cleaning time; the pens are cleaned each week, and the dropping-boards each day. The manure saved by cleaning the dropping-boards each day from a hundred hens pays handsomely, not only in the value of the manure, but in keeping the house cleanly. The boxes are each one complete within itself.

The openings of the curtained windows are covered with poultry netting. The house is made perfectly tight except the curtained windows. There is a ventilator in each end at the gable for summer ventilation.

The floors of the pens should be covered with cut straw, or better still, dry leaves gathered in the fall and stored away to be used through the winter.

The grain food when scattered in these leaves or straw gives the fowls the much needed exercise. The dry mash-feeds and meat-scrap, etc., are fed in the troughs.

Poultry House.

The interior should be thoroughly sprayed with lime-and-sulphur solution. Use equal parts of lime and sulphur in making the whitewash and you will not be troubled with lice, chiggers or mites that trouble the poultry.

Corrective for Overeating.

Charcoal is an excellent corrective of the excess of indigestion overfeeding, and is also a good remedy in bowel disorders in poultry. Having wonderful absorbent powers, especially for gases, only a small quantity should be put into the feed hoppers at a time on account of its absorbent nature.

It should be kept in a thoroughly dry vessel with a close-fitting cover, so as to exclude the air. If charcoal is heated well before given to the poultry, it will have a tendency to drive off the impurities which may have become absorbed, and it will be equal to fresh charcoal.

Keep Off the Grass.

Little chickens should be kept off the grass as much as possible, when it is wet with dew. The hen should be well fed and watered, so that she may rest content in the coop; then if the little ones range far enough on their own account to get damp, they have a dry mother to return to and will take no hurt.
