EDITORIALS

After reading a party platform one feels that the fog-horns should be blowing.

The Chicago convention having adjourned, we resume Cuba will not intervene at this time.

W. J. Bryan can hardly be said to resort to mudslinging. When he goes after a man he uses a club.

When Tom Pratt made Roosevelt Vice President he certainly had no conception of what he was starting.

It would require no Daniel to interpret for the bosses the handwriting that now appears on the wall.

Of course there will be some objection to a third party on the ground that two is all the country can stand.

The next lesson will be teaching the many Tiger to raise its voice in exact unison with the lion on tiger.

Roosters in Democratic newspapers are beginning to flap their wings to remove the dust of many unused years.

What does it profit a delegate if he nominates his candidate and returns home to find that the bugs have eaten up the tater patch.

Any city that undertakes to entertain a big convention must expect to hear a great deal of harsh criticism of its hotel and restaurant facilities.

Chicago claims that in 25 years she will be the metropolis of the United States. Not if New York has to annex Connecticut to prevent it.

In the interest of public morals it is to be hoped that our authorities will not permit an exhibition of the Chicago fight pictures in the movies.

Baltimore got her money's worth out of the Democratic National Convention, and can also compare notes with Chicago as to sensational and dramatic climaxes.

Persons who fear for Col. Roosevelt's health because his daily statement to the plain people is now only about a quarter of a column long will be relieved to know that the rest of it just had to be cut out to make more room for baseball news.

Boots and Shoes Baffle Time and Wear

Isaiah Zug, of Milton Grove, is the owner of a pair of boots that, in a way, are as out of the ordinary as the famous slipper of Cinderella. They promise to be everlasting, for the shoes have resisted 30 years the efforts of Zug to wear them out, while the boots would fire the enthusiasm of former Governor Pennypacker with their record of 25 years' wear. The shoes are of the variety known in the rural regions as the "Sunday Shoes" while the boots are his "waddags" or work-day footwear.

Both pairs were the production of Abraham Ebersole, now dead, who had a cobbler and shoe shop at Mastersonville. Zug and the shoes have never missed a Sunday at church in the 30 years since Ebersole made them to order for him.

CORDELIA

Paul and Nora Bard are visiting their brother Jacob Bard, in Harrisburg.

Stanley Richmond of Martindale, was the guest of relatives here for several days.

Miss Edith Wagenbaugh of Lancaster, is the guest of her aunt, Miss Mabel Rettew.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Guy Eshleman of Lancaster, were visiting the former's mother, Mrs. J. B. Eshleman. Mr. Eshleman will sail tomorrow for Europe with a party of friends.

Farmers are busy gathering their wheat crop and from all indications will be finished by Saturday. It is one of the largest in years. The rain benefits vegetation considerably.

The last quarterly conference of the Centerville Circuit will be held Tuesday evening, July 23, in the United Brethren church. Rev. Dr. Lowery, the presiding elder, will be present.

Strange but true, because when otherwise you buy four 10c bottles of ordinary vanilla (40c) you need only buy one bottle of

Chandler's 25c Vanilla

and yet secure far better flavoring results while saving

15 Cents

Chandler's is richer, purer, stronger. Bottle filled and small quantities sold, though the best and cheapest way is to purchase a large 25c bottle.

New Holland Clarion Changes Hands
This week C. R. Martin, who has been one of the publishers of the Clarion the past nine years purchased the interests of his partner, H. A. Showalter. The change goes into effect on August 1. Mr. Showalter has been the business manager and editor of the Clarion for nine years. He has agreed to conduct the business for Mr. Martin until autumn but has not decided what he will do after that time. Mr. Martin expects to take personal charge of the business on October 1.
