USEFUL INFORMATION FOR THE FARMER

Cultivating the Soil Retains Moisture. Increasing Feed Yield—The Dairy Cow—Potato Beetle—Keeping of Cows—Notes

It is good time about now to prune back the raspberry canes of this year's growth. If the job is done it will tend to thicken the stalks and cause them to put forty lateral shoots which will give a greater bearing capacity for next year.

The right time to put a strain on a wire fence is when it is being stretched the first time. If you can "lay to" with all your might with a good stretcher without pulling up the end posts you have done your work like a man.

Keeping bees may seem in the opinion of some a sort of small potato kind of vocation, yet one of the leading northern beekeepers has produced as high as 24,000 of white clover honey in a single season, while another professional bee expert of Texas is credited with having produced 100,000 pounds in a single season.

A herd of common red cows that the writer passed through the other day, numbering some twelve to fifteen individuals, did not contain three that it would be safe to say were more than paying for their feed. Just what satisfaction the owner gets milking these cows during the hot summer month or, for that matter whether the weather is hot or cold, it is hard to see.

Some experiments which have been conducted by the Missouri station with milk cows during the few weeks immediately following calving show that cows that are fat at calving time give richer milk in the interval following than do cows that are thin and richer than they themselves will give after three or four weeks. By an interesting process the fat on their bodies is reabsorbed and converted into butter fat in the pail.

The ways of nature are surely past finding out. An interesting illustration of this truth is the failure of the potato beetle to put in an appearance this year in many sections where it was a veritable pest last year. Weather conditions have anything to do with this nonappearance or whether it is due to the inroads of some parasite it would be interesting to know. However, the important thing is that the beetle has not appeared on the scene as yet.

Statistics compiled by the department of agriculture show that the population of the country, as well as its number of dairy cows, has doubled within the past thirty five years, the present number of the latter being put at 22,000,000. It is a matter for interesting conjecture just where the 44,000,000 dairy cows are going to come from in the next thirty five years if the process of elimination continues as a result of applying the Babcock test. However, there won't be so many cows needed if the star boarders are eliminated from the herds of the country.

A good deal may be done toward augmenting the output of feed from the field of corn by sowing rape either just before or just after the last cultivation at the rate of about five pounds to the acre. If the summer is very dry the seed will be slow in starting, but the plants will grow rapidly with the moisture and cooler weather of the early fall. The rape pasture is especially good to those who practice hoeing down their corn or turning sheep into the field. South of latitude 42 cowspeas may be used more advantageously for the same purpose, having this advantage over rape—that they not only furnish good feed, but enrich the soil at the same time.

The stirring of the soil for the purpose of conserving moisture rather than the killing of weeds should be the primary object in cultivation. For this reason the soil in which crops are growing should be stirred frequently, whether there are any weeds in sight or not. This point is nicely brought out in a cross fence colloquy between two corn belt farmers during the dry spell last August. The one who had given his ground none too thorough preparation in the spring and who somehow had the idea that the sole purpose of cultivation was killing weeds was sort of coddling his neighbor for cultivating his corn so much when there were no weeds in sight, his contention being that the more the soil was stirred the more the moisture would escape. His neighbor, at the moment turning the row with his riding corn plow, tried to explain to him the real reason for cultivating, but it made no impression. At husking time the one who kept up the cultivation of his field got forty-five bushels per acre, while the fellow who tilled to kill weeds got only twenty-five bushels. And the only difference between the two fields was the separating barbed wire fence.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

How Mrs. Reed of Peoria, Ill., Escaped The Surgeon's Knife.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative was relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also, Avoided Operation. Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed. "Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.

Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

The Week in Grain compiled for the Mount Joy Bulletin, at Mount Joy, Pa., by Wm. L. Bear & Co., Pennsylvania Building, Philadelphia, Pa., by D. B. Lehman, Manager, Woolworth Building, Lancaster, Penna. Monday, July 29, 1912. There has been little in the way of developments to force definite trend, prices for the most part showing little change from a week ago. Liberal covering for short account has nerved to gradually raise trading levels in several deliveries, but buying of consequence has failed to follow advances and commission house activity has been limited largely to periods of depression. Crop progress in the northwestern states has continued all that could be desired, occasional rust scares soon allayed by a return of weather unfavorable to its spread in those localities where it has made appearance. Against an impending harvest of a liberal yield of spring wheat, has been a good inquiry from abroad and between these two influences the market has moved actively over a limited trading area. The movement of new wheat has not yet appeared in appreciable quality, the visible supply again showing a decrease where a liberal increase was expected. This condition has served to strengthen cash markets and create a fair inquiry for futures.

The coarse grain list has had the help of drought conditions in sections of the southwest and a meagre inward movement of cash drought. Chicago stocks are very low in both corn and oats, and active bidding among shorts caused the current delivery of both grains to make extended price gains. The more distant deliveries have not fully responded, although the new crops of corn have met fair buying for investment at some advance, and commission houses have taken oats in liberal quantities upon repressions.

DECIDE YOURSELF

The Opportunity is Here, Backed by Mount Joy Testimony. Don't take our word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's statement. Read Mount Joy endorsement. Read the statements of Mount Joy citizens. And decide for yourself. Here is one case of it: Mrs. M. M. Frank, Main St., Mt. Joy, Pa., says:

"I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as I did in 1907. They cured me of kidney trouble at that time and I have had no return attacks. Hard work was probably the cause of this complaint in my case. My back ached a great deal and I was nervous. I tired easily, did not sleep well and had headaches. Hearing a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills, I decided to give them a trial and procured a box at Garber's Drug Store. Their use brought prompt relief, in fact, I did not think any medicine could act so quickly. In a short time I was cured and today I am enjoying good health."

The State Council of Penna., Jr. O. U. A. M., incorporated by Act of Assembly, March 1st, 1870, will be held in Altoona, Pa., Sept 17 and 19 1912. It is expected that every Council of the seventeen counties in Lancaster county will be represented.
