Is there any appropriation to cover the cost of mowing the grass that is growing over the front walk of the White House?

This is the open season for bull moose, and the hunt for them is diligent.

Woodrow Wilson got the nomination without a wilting collar.

News that the Cammerists' trial finally came to an end, leads to the conclusion that the world must be doing likewise.

Then again—Mr. Taft is our greatest President—circumferentially.

The most encouraging features about the American heroes in the Olympic games is that from their names we're in doubt as to whether they are Hungarians, Poles or just Chicagoans.

While making the moving picture shows safe, cannot Mr. Ericsson suggest some way of making them cool, also?

Urchin's Line of Fun With Man Who Needs Must Pry Into Other People's Business.

The small urchin climbed up the car steps and wormed himself into a seat beside the Busybody. The basket he was carrying the youngster fixed carefully between his feet, with several anxious glances in the process.

"What have you in that basket, my boy?" asked his neighbor, bending over confidentially. "I noticed how careful you were of it. It must be something quite valuable. Isn't it?"

"Ye're hep, old sport. It's something that's worth a whole heap."

"Well, won't you tell me what it is?"

"Not on yer life! Thing I want to get pinched?"

This was too much for the Busybody. His curiosity, heretofore merely casual, grew suddenly pointed, and he bit.

"Well, sonny, I've a notion that if I gave you a nickel you'd tell me what you had in that basket."

"Make it a dime, and I'll do it!" whispered the boy. "Only ye've got to promise not to give me away to de cop."

"Why, of course I'll promise."

The boy pocketed the coin. "Well, sport, dey's a baby in dere. I hooked 'im, an' put 'im inside when dey wasn't nobody lookin'. Now I'll get a reward for returnin' 'im."

"Why, you young villain! Do you mean to say you have a baby in that basket? Lying in that thing will kill it. Where did you get it?"

"Oh, I picked it up in front o' one o' dem big stores. It was all alone, so I jus' took it. I guess it won't be missed, an' I wanted one, any way."

"Not be missed! Do you mean to say that its mother had deserted it?"

"Sure! Its mudder wasn't nowhere round."

"How old is it?"

"Oh, a few months, I guess. Big enough to squeal—so I tied a rag round its mouf."

"Well, lift up the cover and let me see how it looks."

Altered the Case.

Mrs. de Mover—"Good gracious! This is the noisiest neighborhood I ever got into. Just hear those children screech!" Maid—"They're your own children, mum." Mrs. de Mover—"Are they? How the little darling are enjoying themselves!"—Tit-Bits.

A Backsliding Santa Claus.

Mrs. Feavish says that before they were married Mr. Feavish used to say that if she would let him be her Santa Claus he would devote his life to sliding up and down the chimney for her. And now it makes him mad to have to take up ashes from the grate.

Young Offender.

A woman left her baby in its carriage at the door of a department store. A policeman found it there, apparently abandoned. As he passed down the street, a gamin yelled: "What's the kid done?"—Collier's.

In New York.

New York now has all-night banks, all-night saloons, and all-night restaurants. We are informed that the churches continue to close early.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Called.

"I asked the audience to lend me their ears," said the verbose speaker. "But in three-quarters of an hour they were dozing." "I see," replied the financier. "They called the loan."

China's Long Waterway.

China has the longest canal in the world—the Grand. It is the longest certified waterway, and goes from Tungtu to Hangchoo, a distance of 600 miles.

Open to Suspicion.

The man who opposes the revival of the knee breeches idea will be subject to suspicion, no matter how impersonal his motives.—Atlanta Journal.

Fear Well Founded.

"I fear," said the postage stamp, when it found itself fastened to a love letter, "that I am not sticking to facts."

A Misanthrope.

There is no use wasting sympathy on a man who can't be happy with good health, good meals and good weather.

Ray-Killed Bacteria.

A method for sterilizing milk without heating or adding preservatives is claimed to have been effectively demonstrated recently in Holland. An apparatus has been constructed, it is explained, whereby the milk flows in a thin stream along an electric light, the ultra-violet beams working on the bacteria. The result is attributed to the quality of the ozone formed under the influence of the light.—The Argonaut.

Scotch Alarm Clock.

A tourist in rural Scotland took refuge for the night in the cottage of an old lady. He asked her to wake him up early in the morning, warning her that he was quite deaf. Upon awakening much later than the appointed hour he found that the old lady, with strict regard for the proprieties, had slipped under the door a slip of paper upon which was written: "Sir, it's half past eight."

Prize Steers Not Good Meat.

The meat of more than one prize steer has proved disappointing in the eating, though fine to look at. In the development of the animal for competition his flesh is sometimes, if not always, seamed with small veins of fat which are dilated by cooking into tough strings. Hence, the range-fed steer, not nursed into prominence, affords the better steak or roast.

Must Have Been Her Lucky Day.

In a lot of old papers and magazines that Mrs. T. G. Payson gave to the Salvation army of Jersey City the other day was an envelope containing $225 in bills that Mrs. Payson had overlooked. After 20 men had searched for hours in the army's waste paper pile, Mrs. Payson looking on, the money was found and restored to her.

Love Must Be Present.

A crowd is not company. Faces are but a gallery of pictures, where there is no love, and talk is but a tinkling cymbal.—Francis Bacon.

Easily Explained.

"On what footing is college hazing now?" "It isn't on any footing at all while they are making fellows stand on their heads."

Christian and Missionary Alliance.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance will be held at Rock Springs Park, Lancaster, August 18. This encampment comprises all of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia. The Rock Springs convention is very well known throughout the east as one of rich blessing and spiritual profit. Many eminent speakers, missionaries and Christian workers will be present as well as leaders for young people's and children's services.

The more than one hundred tents together with the commodious dormitory and rooms in homes near the park—for those who do not wish to stay on the grounds—ensure ample accommodation for all. If you have never been to an Alliance Convention, attend and you will wonder why you have missed such a treat for so long.

Information concerning renting of tents, cots, rooms in dormitory or accommodation as well as any matters relative to the encampment may be had by writing to Rev. E. B. Dunbar, 237 West Chestnut street, Lancaster, the local superintendent, or to the District Superintendent, Rev. E. J. Richards, 27 Roosevelt Avenue, Binghamton, N. Y.

Since the people of Chicago have been discovered in possession of personal property valued at $657,000,000 they may be regarded as tolerably well to do.

Since the telegrams from folks back home had so much influence with the democratic convention, perhaps they can do something with Congress.

The Pennsylvania railways decision to serve no more bottled beverages is in line with the present tendency to regard railway travel as a necessity and not a luxury.

Another excuse for national political conventions is the chance they give otherwise insignificant people to be snapped.

Contrary to the law of gravitation every time somebody parachutes out of Tedyd's dirigible it goes down instead of up.
