LIKES HIS NEWSPAPER HOUR

Time When Mr. Crotchetty Wants to Be Let Alone, and He Doesn't Care Who Knows It.

"When I'm reading the newspaper," said Mr. Crotchetty. "I'm like a dog with a bone. I don't like to be interrupted. My newspaper hour is to me a time of great enjoyment and I like to have it all to myself, unbroken. This clear, printed page on which is spread before me the news of the world is a marvel; a mental meal of many courses, with a new bill of fare daily, a feast unending and of endless variety, and I love to take it without a break in my enjoyment of it. I don't like to have anybody speak to me or approach me when I am reading a newspaper. I want then to be let alone, and so even when Mrs. Crotchetty comes up and says: 'Stephen, when you go down town this morning will you—I am apt to reply rather absently and without looking up, and if she persists with 'You know, Stephen, don't you, that I—' why, then, I fear, I reply almost peevishly: 'Yes, yes, I'll attend to that, but now—' and then I turn back to the paper and search for the place I have lost, but with the current of interest now broken or lessened because I have permitted myself, just a little, to lose my temper.

"But they don't break in on me often. Sometimes they start to speak to me and then they stop. More than once I heard this said: 'Don't speak to him now; he's reading the paper.' And that makes me feel a little mean and sometimes I say: 'No, no; that's all right. What is it?' But as a rule, I confess, I let 'em wait till I'm through, for the newspaper is one of my chief enjoyments and it disturbs me much to have that enjoyment broken."

SHAVED IN PRIMITIVE TIMES

Sharp Pieces of Flint or Sharks' Teeth Answered in the Early Days for Razors.

We wear things and use things daily of the origin of which we have not the slightest idea, and were we to be asked concerning their history we would be at a loss to answer, the Fort Elizabeth Advertiser remarks: This was illustrated when two young men were admiring a well known picture of life in the time of Julius Caesar which was exhibited in a show window. One of the men remarked, while looking at the picture, that he wondered how the Romans kept their faces smooth, and whether they ever shaved, and if they shaved, what were their razors like? Neither of the men could answer the question, and so they immediately consulted various authorities on the subject and found, to their surprise, that razors were used for shaving in a very early part of the world's history.

The Egyptian used some kind of a razor, though the Levitical code expressly forbade the shaving of the beard. It is believed the primitive shaving instruments were made of sharpened flints. Savages in the remote islands scattered throughout the Pacific still use two pieces of flint of the same size for this purpose, and pieces of shells or sharks' teeth are also used.

Motors in Arabia.

Aden, Arabia, is five miles from Steamer Point, the shipping junction of that region. Heretofore camel carts have conveyed merchandise for export and import. But camels are slow and the carts are unwieldy. The camels could, at their best, make only two round trips a day between the town and the wharf. The road is steep and full of gravel and flint. But this did not deter business men from employing automobiles as substitutes for camels, says an exchange. One skin exporter paid $4,000 for a three and one-half ton, twenty-two horse power French truck, which he used in lieu of the camel carts. It carries fifteen bales of skins and makes six round trips daily. The Aden-Steamer Point automobile service will shortly test a steam car that has been rebuilt into a gasoline car. The intention is to revive the passenger service. It cost $1,200 to convert the car, which originally cost $2,916. A chauffeur has been obtained from England to make the tests. The owners declare that if the car is a success they will have five others placed in service.

Torpedoes Guided by Aircraft.

A patent has been issued to Bradley A. Fiske, United States navy, for a device that guides submarine torpedoes from an aircraft. The torpedo is the first transported through the air to a point of desired proximity to a target by means of an aircraft, after which the propelling mechanism of the torpedo is started and then the torpedo is released to fall by gravity to the water. In the apparatus, a strap is employed for retaining the torpedo below the aircraft and a manually controlled lever releases a latch for the strap the lever also actuating transmitting mechanism to operate the starting device for the propelling mechanism of the torpedo.

Aerial Taxicab Is Tested.

Some remarkable flights have been made by the aerial taxicab built by Blertot for a European firm. A 140 horse power engine has been installed in place of the 100 horse power motor with which the machine was originally equipped. Loaded with about 650 pounds of ballast, it carries a cargo equivalent in weight to that of four passengers besides the pilot. As yet no four passengers have ventured to take their seats in the taxicab body.

Insect's Call Means a Death.

There is a superstition connected with the death watch which, like most superstitions, is based upon the theory of probabilities. The death watch is usually heard in the spring of the year and a superstition runs to the effect that some one in the house will die within the year. Persons who are superstitious are never very strict in the interpretation of the predictions and therefore, whenever a person dies in the house or out of it, in the same room where the death watch was heard, or across the Atlantic, so that there be some kind of a relationship, or even acquaintance, between the person who hears the omen and the person dying, the omen is sure to be connected with the prophetic sounds of the insect.

Safe Deposit Vaults.

The safe deposit vault is an American idea, and was developed at the time of the Civil war. Bank robberies were so frequent at that time that banks refused to take care of their customers' valuables. An institution referred its clients to the porter as willing to take the risk. For a small sum he took charge of the boxes and safes and made a fortune. From this arose the modern safe deposit, which is now part of every bank. The English, ever slow and cautious, did not take quickly to the idea of storing their valuables in public vaults, when the idea was introduced in London, and it was 25 years before safe deposit vaults were widely established.

Infinitesimal.

Visitor—Your rival town, Bunkville, is quite a town, isn't it?
 Uncle Eben—Bah! That town isn't big enough to get a metropolitan daily's scarehead on "The Eyes of the Entire Country Are Turned on Bunkville Today" when they hold a Presidential preference primary.

Maple Grove School, so ably handled by Miss Martha Eby, has been fortunate enough to be one of the number in West Hempfield to have installed a new Waterbury Heater. Judging from the size, Maple Grove need no longer fear the wintery blasts.

Original Panamans.

The Choccos Indians, who live on the southwestern coast of Panama, are believed to be descendants of the tribes which inhabited that part of the world when Columbus discovered Santo Domingo. They are tall and stalwart, with kindly natures, a free hospitality and an innate honesty. Few white men have ever been among them. Tribes of a somewhat similar nature are also found on the southeast coast, many of them having never seen a white face in their lives. While the republic of Panama nominally rules this section, the truth is that these Indians govern themselves entirely, and have absolutely no intercourse with the white. They do not allow a white man to visit their lands and still fly the Colombian flag. Their houses are grass huts, their clothing is almost nothing, but they seem to enjoy life in spite of the fact that they are unacquainted with the benefits of religion, fashion, society and government.
