

HOT FLASHES.

Women in middle age often complain of hot flashes. They are at that stage of life when their delicate organism needs a tonic and helping-hand which only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give them. Many women suffer needlessly from girlhood to womanhood and from motherhood to old age—with backache, dizziness or headache. A woman often becomes sleepless, nervous, "broken-down," irritable and feels tired from morning to night. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, ask your neighbor about

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Mrs. J. Imhof, of 321 S. Bentall Street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I wrote you about nine months ago, telling you of my condition. I have a fine baby girl—she weighed nine pounds when born. She is my third child and the strongest of them all. My suffering was only for two hours. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Dr. Pierce's Smart-Weed. I never had a bad day before I took your medicine. I was surprised how well I felt—could eat—was always hungry, and never had a sick stomach. The nurse who was with me said the medicine was wonderful because I got along so nicely after having had so much trouble before. She intends to recommend it to all her suffering patients. Everybody is astonished at me because I only weighed 102 pounds before and now I weigh 135. I have had several ladies come to me and ask about Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am willing to recommend it to all who suffer and want help. If any want information I will be glad to give it."

FOUR QUARTERS OF EARTH ARE TO MEET

Pageant of Darkness and Light, at "The World in Baltimore," Will Surpass in Excellence All Those of the Past.

A great revival of interest in pageantry has sprung up in this country and abroad during the last few years. We have had historical pageants, many patriotic and semi-political pageants in various cities and towns; but none of these will approach either in operatic splendor or in unity of story the Pageant of Darkness and Light to be given at Lyric theatre in Baltimore from October 25 to November 30, in connection with "The World in Baltimore" Missionary Exposition.

KALI TEMPLE, INDIA SCENE, "THE WORLD IN BALTIMORE."

It is no mere string of scenes, passed like a bewildering panorama before the spectators, while the orchestra plays snatches of Beethoven, Grieg and Rantock. Instead, it was built around a set motive, and drew its scenes from incidents of missionary history. The excellent libretto by John Oxenham, although short, contains some lyrics of great rhythmic beauty.

The first scene is an Indian camp in the northwest. The chief of the tribe and his wife are in distress over the loss of their little daughter, who has strayed away. A band of Esquimaux come to trade with the Indians and the medicine men of the latter incite the braves to kill the visitors. Just then a missionary brings the chief's little daughter into camp and, having gained the chief's good will, preaches to the people his message of light.

The world has recently been shocked at the revelation of atrocities in the Congo region. The Central African exhibit at "The World in Baltimore," showing native Industries, idols and idol-houses, and the home of mission-aries and natives, will give Americans an intimate knowledge of the conditions under which these atrocities are practiced.

The scene shifts to Africa, at a spot where Livingstone, the famous missionary explorer, is resting from his journeyings. Here Stanley, who has been searching for him, finds him lost in thought and begs him to return to England, but Livingstone determines not to go until his work is done. At this news his men break into a song of thanksgiving.

From the forests of Africa, the scene changes to the streets of a city in India. A funeral procession is seen, leading a young widow to the funeral pyre. Just as the pyre is about to be lighted, however, an English official comes in with a proclamation against the barbarous custom of burning widows and the missionaries break into a jubilant chant.

The most dramatic scene of all is a coral beach in Hawaii, where the natives are gathered for a wedding. In the background the volcano Kilauea towers. A priest of the goddess Pale approaches and demands that the bridegroom and a child playing in the flowers close by be thrown into the volcano as a sacrifice to the angry goddess. As he is about to lead them down, Queen Kapiolani bids defiance to the goddess. She taunts Pale insultingly, but there is no answering wrath from the crater of fire, and the power of the goddess is broken forever.

The music for these episodes was written by Hamish MacCunn. It is naturally full of wild, foreign dances and dirges. There are gloomy Indian chants and bloodthirsty war songs; missionary choruses of jubilee and hymns of praise; fanatical invocations of medicine men and native priests; and many solos of every description.

The Indian goddess, Kali, to whom many temples have been erected in India, and who wears a necklace of human skulls, is one of the unique exhibits at "The World in Baltimore," October 25th to November 30th.

An old-fashioned prairie schooner will be shown at "The World in Baltimore," October 25 to November 30.

TEA HOUSE IN JAPAN SCENE, "THE WORLD IN BALTIMORE."

A STRIKING feature of "The World in Baltimore" is the collection of idols. Tall totem poles from Alaska, little squatting men carved in Africa, weird and gorgeously bejeweled Burmese gods, the repulsive goddess Kali with her necklace of human skulls, all mix in happy democracy.

The hut of the tropical Indian of South America by some peculiar coincidence has the same form as the icy igloo of the Esquimo. Both will be shown at "The World in Baltimore."

Worst scenes at prayer in a Buddhist temple of Japan may be seen at "The World in Baltimore."

teacher of the Florin Primary School, discussed in an able manner "How to Keep Interest in the Primary Grades." Miss Brandt not only gave theory, but very many helpful and simple devices, which are not only devised to afford mere employment, but instruction, training and skill, as their object.

Miss Helen Springer, teacher of the Bellaire school, sang a solo, which was highly appreciated by the institute.

"Methods of Teaching Penmanship" was ably discussed by Principal Wertz, who advocated "not how much, but how well."

Mr. I. Kraybill, teacher of the Florin Grammar School, discussed "How to Teach Reading." He discussed very carefully, but distinctly, the ideals to be attained, as well as abundant means to attain the end desired.

After singing Charles Dickens' "Autumn Leaves" the institute adjourned, to meet on Saturday, November 2. A programme for that meeting will appear later.

AGED LADY SCALDED

Mrs. Emanuel Christy, of Kinderhook, Victim of Accident

Yesterday morning Mrs. Emanuel Christy of Kinderhook, was badly scalded at her home in that place. She is well advanced in years and the accident occurred while Mrs. Christy was washing in a small building, adjoining the house. At about 9 o'clock she lifted a boiler of water from the stove and was about to pour it into a tub when she tripped and fell. The water poured out of the boiler onto the upper portion of her body. Her cries brought assistance and she was carried into the house. A physician was summoned and found that she was terribly scalded about the body, both arms and face. The skin and flesh was literally parboiled. She suffered awful pain, and her condition was regarded very serious and probably fatal.
