USEFUL INFORMATION FOR THE FARMER

The Value of Skim Milk—Every Farmer Should Have a Few Sheep at Least. The Proper Food for Chickens—A Cover Crop for Strawberries

The best treatment for fowls in an advanced stage of cholera is the instant use of a sharp ax and the complete burning of the carcass. Those mildly affected should be at once treated. The following will prevent cholera among fowls, but plain common sense must also be used, and plenty of it at all times.

After the coop or house has been thoroughly sprayed with a solution of one part crude carbolic acid to one part gasoline and three parts of hot water and allow to dry, spray and brush all the interior, nest racks, roosts, etc., with hot white-wash. Place clean straw chaff for a litter, and after a thorough cleaning of the water dishes or fountains, refill with pure cold water, to which is added to each gallon two ounces of well dissolved sulphate (not sulphite) of soda. A low no other liquid or drink for three weeks or a month. Disinfect all runs, etc., where cholera affected fowls have been, with the acid formula. Feed lightly or not at all on mash feeds, substituting cracked feed, dry grains in place, and the cholera will leave. Thoroughness in all particulars should be observed.

If the right crop is sown, a blanket which will lie flat in winter and protect the strawberries may be procured. These cover crops are superior to straw, in as much as they do away with the painstaking process of spreading and removing it. Another objection to straw is that it invariably seeds the plant with objectionable weed seed. A cover crop that dies down in winter protects the plants during cold weather, in the spring it is driven close to the soil by the rains, and there it smothers out the weeds and conserves moisture far into the next season. An excellent crop for this purpose is lettuce sown very thick. It should be sown so as to get a good start before frost. If sown broad cast and very thick, sorghum or Kaffir corn makes an excellent crop. Seeds should be covered as much as possible. Oats is a very satisfactory crop, though if the season be a dry one oats mixed with sorghum is better than oats alone. The above crops should have sixty days growth before frost, but this time is not always possible. These crops lie flat and protect the fruit from dirt; they also prevent the soil from baking and heaving. They protect and, no matter how heavy, do not smother the plants.

A little fresh beef or game twice a week is a great help to the chicks. It may be ground through a food-chopper. We also use the food chopper for cutting cabbage, raw potatoes, small apples, onions, etc., for the chicks. These take the place of green food. During the first week we feed young chicks hard boiled eggs and stale bread mixed together dry, with a little coarse sand added, or the egg shells crushed fine. Also, some finely chopped onions, celery tops or cabbage. Then the boiled eggs are left out and some steel cut oatmeal added. Sometimes...

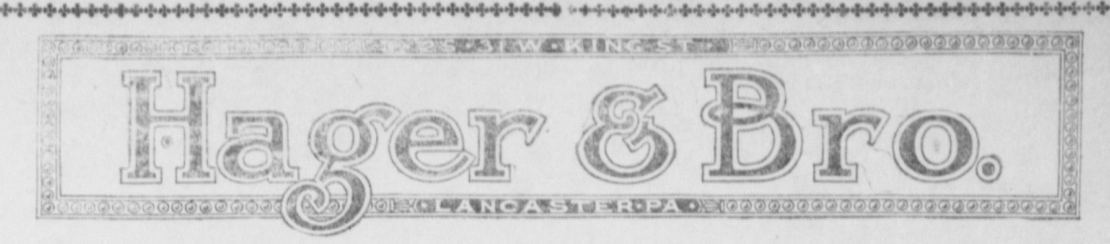

Exports continue in a volume and since the beginning of the year clearances are much more than last year. This with needs enlarged by actual, low normal after several extremely heavy interior Trade sentiment continues in anticipation of a less demand already apparent domestic way, permitting accumulations that will tend to prices. On the other hand, prices are relatively cheap, trade generally is showing liberal expansion, and the ease with which the country movement to date has been digested is bringing this market to the attention of investors who are willing to accumulate at going levels for the pull.

Aged Men Figure at Law
Alderman Stauffer on Wednesday evening gave a hearing to John F. Miller, of Mastersonville, charged by John W. Saylor, of White Oak, with disorderly conduct on a Manheim trolley car. Both men are about seventy five years old. For lack of evidence the magistrate dismissed the case.

Saylor on Wednesday evening appeared at police station and asked for lodging. He was not released and he appeared to be demoralized. He is being held until his friends can be communicated with.

Come to the Wind-Up Saturday of the West King Street Celebration Sale

Our Celebration Sale has been called the "Bargain Event" of the season—and Saturday there will be nearly three hundred genuine bargains from all over the store. West King Street is in gala attire this week and it's to your interest to take advantage of our splendid offerings.

Very Special Lot of Women's & Misses' Suits for $10.00
This special Celebration Sale offering is made for this week only. They're a good honest fifteen dollar value. All wool mixtures in fall shades of tan and gray. The plain tailored three and four button coats are satin lined, and the skirts are in attractive side effects.

A Good Raincoat for $1.95
Those who've seen this little lot of raincoats are very enthusiastic over the values. Naturally, you don't expect much of a raincoat for $1.95—but these compare favorably with grades that ordinarily sell for most twice as much. They're plaid back gum coats and come in tan. Women's and misses' sizes.

Then, at $10, are plaid back English Slip-ons. In tan, olive and black. Either plain coat or raglan sleeves. Fully guaranteed—the best raincoat we've ever sold for ten dollars.

Women's Sweaters at $1.95
These all wool sweaters are very special values. In plain and fancy weaves—black, gray and white.

Heatherbloom Petticoats, 95cts.
These are regular $1.50 grades—a fortunate purchase. Black only, and have full "Heatherbloom" label.

Special Assortment of Women's Five Dollar Hats for $3.95
For West King Street Celebration Days, we've taken about forty of the good five dollar street hats to make this interesting offering. There's a wide variety of jaunty little styles for everyday wear.

We Can "Shoe the Whole Family" And Do It Well

This crisp October weather is outfitting time for everybody—the old summer shoes have done their duty and now give place to the high cut styles.

The Week in Grain
Compiled for the Mount Joy Bulletin, at Mount Joy, Pa., by Wm. L. Bear & Co., Pennsylvania Building, Philadelphia, Pa., by D. B. Lehman, Manager, Woolworth Building, Lancaster, Penna.

Phila., Pa., Oct. 20, 1912.

Developments in Europe over the double holiday were of an alarming character, and Monday morning found both English and Continental markets greatly excited. So far as the grain list was concerned, there was to be considered not alone a war in the Balkan states to shut off supplies from thence so far as exports were concerned, but even of greater importance the possibility of the Dardanelles being closed to commerce and the natural outlet from southern Russia be in blockade. Under this impetus initial quotations Monday morning were sharply higher, forcing quite the best prices of the autumn months with May wheat showing the dollar level. It was the signal for prompt and extended profit taking with the recession accelerated toward mid-week when the completion of peace negotiations between Italy and Turkey rendered the closing of the Dardanelles much less probable. Liberal receipts to all primaries weakened the domestic situation and the week closes with prices practically at the same level as a week ago.

Exports continue in a volume and since the beginning of the year clearances are much more than last year. This with needs enlarged by actual, low normal after several extremely heavy interior Trade sentiment continues in anticipation of a less demand already apparent domestic way, permitting accumulations that will tend to prices. On the other hand, prices are relatively cheap, trade generally is showing liberal expansion, and the ease with which the country movement to date has been digested is bringing this market to the attention of investors who are willing to accumulate at going levels for the pull.

CHARACTER TOLD BY EYES

Truthfully Have They Been Designated by the Wise as the "Windows of the Soul."

Eyes are the most certain revealers of the criminal nature. Many an expert detective tells a criminal by just one glance—not at him, but from him. The criminal eye varies greatly in setting, but not so much in color.

Sometimes it is deeply placed in the head, as if it tries to hide, fearing the result of its own involuntary revelations. Sometimes it is bulgy, protrusive like a frog's and heavy-lidded. Such eyes, in connection with some other signs, denote treachery, mendacity, and general cruelty.

Of the criminal eye there are many remarkable anecdotes. The murderer Francis Ford had little about him to indicate the criminal. To most people he rendered himself companionable by facetiousness and easiness of manners.

Years before his crime a young girl—afterwards the Countess dell Rocca—who had never left home, and lacked experience of life, recoiled from him violently when introduced, and refused to endure his presence. When questioned why she behaved thus, she answered: "If that man has not already murdered people, he will do so." The girl's prophecy very soon came true, and when the scientist Lombroso inquired by what sign she had foretold his character, she replied: "The eyes; I saw him in his eyes."

Morton—Husler
Miss Sallie Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Morton of this place, and Mr. Claud T. Husler of Shippensburg, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at Hagerstown, Md., last Thursday by Rev. Jamison at the Lutheran parsonage. After a wedding trip to Shippensburg, Leesburg and Mason and Dix on they returned home Sunday evening. They will reside in this place, the groom being employed at the Grey Iron. They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

Mr. Samuel Knight will move to East Petersburg tomorrow.
