Nature's laws are perfect, but disease follows if these laws are not obeyed. Go straight to nature for the cure, to the forest; there are mysteries here that we can fathom for you.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists, eight years of hard work experimenting to make this pure glyceric extract and alternative of the greatest efficiency and without the use of a particle of alcohol.

"Some time ago I got out of health—my stomach seemed to be the seat of the trouble," writes Mr. EZRA WILLIAMS, of Belleville, Kans. "I commenced to doctor with all the doctors at home as well as with other specialists on stomach and digestive organs. None seemed to do any good—in fact, most of the medicines did me harm. Finally, I wrote to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., who replied, stating that I had liver complaint with indigestion and constipation, and advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets'."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for liver ills.

SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN

A Flea Made in Behalf of Equal Rights at the Polls

Mr. W. L. Heisey, of Rheems, sent the following article to the Lancaster Morning News, where it appeared Saturday morning.

After having the pleasure of bearing Miss Patten at the Lancaster County Teachers' Institute, explaining how Betsy Ross made the flag, and remembering many of the other important lessons she taught her audience, and after having enjoyed the educational advantages of the musical entertainment of last Monday night by a young lady, a native of Lancaster county, and referring to several of the most important lessons taught by the lecturers all during this week in Martin Auditorium by the teachers' institute, and when at the conclusion of the institute both the county superintendent and all related to and interested in the schools, because of the special music and singing, of the Lancaster county teachers, and after the institute have sung the patriotic hymn and the song dedicated to Lancaster county as printed on the inside of the last cover page of the institute music, and in addition to this after we have attended many of the sessions of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in their recent convention in this city, in which such able leaders as Mrs. Elizabeth P. Griest, Miss Amanda Landis, and others from our own county have played such an able and important part, we fall to understand how in this progressive age, when the spirit of the times and the need of the hour require and compel an early settlement of the question of woman's suffrage, the Hon. W. U. Hensel, if correctly quoted in The Morning News of this city of even date, should oppose giving the ladies of Pennsylvania the right of suffrage.

We hope, however, that our mothers, wives and daughters and all the members of the W. C. T. U. Christian Endeavor Societies, Sabbath school organizations, church organizations, and all other people who desire the common good, including the politicians, officeholders and voters will encourage that which we believe is the need of the hour, an early enfranchisement of the ladies of Pennsylvania and the county.

A Salt River Poem

A Democratic friend of Strasburg sends the following Salt River poem to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Chandler. The author has been asked to be their pilot, as she has been there so often.

Up the traditional river, The losers must go, No sandbars to stay them, Tho' the waters be stormy Tho' the weather be low Or the weather be fair, The G. O. P's and Bull Mooses Are all going there, The delectable island to Which they must go, The Salt River leads them With its strong briny flow, Four long, lonely years, They'll be coralled, you see, With Taft and with Teddy For sweet company.

CONSTRUCTION OF TRAP NEST

Without Use of Device Results From Individuals of Any Flock Must Be Uncertain.

(By J. L. JONES, Mechanical Engineer, Oklahoma Experiment Station.) It is not necessary to dwell on the advantages of using trap nests. The primary object is to develop a heavy laying strain. It has been found by the use of trap nests that the number of eggs laid per hen in an average flock varies from 40 to 245. Without using trap nests, the results from such a flock would be uncertain and probably unsatisfactory. It is the object of the poultryman to breed and build up the strain which lays the heaviest, by breeding to the heavy producers.

For fanciers, the trap nest is indispensable on account of the fact that in the ordinary pen there are from six to twelve females to one male. If trap nests are used, and there are as many as there are females in the pen, it is possible to distinguish each hen's eggs, while if the trap nests are not used, this is impossible.

The use of trap nests goes far to prevent the hens forming the habit of egg-eating. They are likely to form this habit if kept in limited quarters. If so kept, they are probably not given the very best food, and probably not enough of it, especially animal food.

The accompanying drawings of a bank of trap nests are almost self-explanatory. The nests are built without any top or bottom. The hen enters through the back of the nest, brushing under the hanging wire, which releases the door. She then passes on to the next compartment toward the front end. To inspect the nest and to remove the hen, ascertain her number, and secure the eggs, the front door is simply unbuttoned and let down. It will be noticed that the two doors are fastened together with a cord, so that when the front door is let down, the trap is automatically set again. The hen will find it difficult to leave through the back door at this time, as the hanging wire permits her to go one way only. These are so simple that in making them in almost any quantity, the material should not cost over 15 cents, at most per trap nest.

SOME FACTS ABOUT TURKEYS

One Sensible Thing Is to Keep Best Birds for Breeding and Send Others to Market.

Turkeys kept for breeding stock should be the best that there is in the flock. It is difficult for some people to keep their best turkeys and send the others to market, but it's the only sensible way to do. The habit of selling the best is not characteristic of only the least intelligent people; it is common with the people who have raised turkeys all their lives, and people who would not think of breeding other stock of the farm in such a careless way. These people have attained the success and profits in turkey raising that are enjoyed by the man who handles them as fairly as he does his cows and hogs.

The best care in the world can do little with poorly bred poults and turkey chicks. You cannot expect large turkeys from small breeders. Size is not the only thing to be considered in selecting the stock; thrift and firmness have as much to do with the choice as the size; big, well-built bodies and legs to be desired also.

And on top of all, do not ruin the vigor of your strain by too early breeding.

Fresh Air Is Needed

Fowls are obliged to throw off much of the waste of the body through the lungs. They do not sweat in the same sense that do other animals, but instead breathe several times faster than sweating animals when heated. To keep in good health a hen requires nearly seven times the amount of fresh air in proportion to its size as does a horse.

Difference in Strains

There is almost as much difference between different families or strains of each breed, as between the different breeds. Therefore, receive with some allowance the praise or condemnation of any breed.
