Legislative Gossip

eloquent language the folly of the old leaders of the Republican party in ignoring the significance of the recent state elections pointing to discontent in the Republican party with the Republican management. Failure on the part of Republican legislators to heed the people's wishes would, he stated, mean that many of them might not return to the next session.

Mr. Baldwin, on the other hand, scoffed at Scott's prediction, terming it "political hysteria" and said that no law the legislature would pass would secure honest elections. But the bill was passed anyhow by 144 yeas to 51 nays. It provides that the only disability that can justify a voter in asking or setting "assistance" in the marking of his ballot is real physical disability, such as blindness, or being armless, or some other incapacitating affliction just as apparent to the election board. Illiteracy gives a man under this bill no right to "assistance." If he cannot read or write he must have a specimen ballot marked for him outside the booth, and he can take this into the booth with him and use it in marking his regular ballot. If he should be unable to do this he does not get to vote. The house made its sentiment quite clear in this matter of illiteracy, which is that while every man has the right to vote, it is his own duty to qualify himself to use that right by learning to read and write. If he does not do this his loss of the voting privilege is due to himself alone.

How this measure will fare in the Senate remains to be seen.

Protection of Miner's Wages
The coal miners of Pennsylvania will feel an interest in the bill offered by W. A. Lenker, of Dauphin County making it mandatory upon coal operators who pay their men by the car to keep at the miners' chutes, or some other convenient place, a record of all cars mined. This record shall be the final basis in computing the miner's earnings per car without any deduction for slate or other refuse that may be loaded on the car in the usual and natural course of mining and loading coal. This record must be open at all times to the inspection of miners. Penalty for conviction of violation, a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100. It is believed the bill will pass the House without much opposition but its fate in the Senate is problematical.

Work of the House
The House has fixed March 17th as the last day for introduction of new bills, except local bills requiring advertisement in county papers. More than 1000 bills have been offered since the legislature convened on January 7th. On account of the inaugural ceremonies at Washington on March 4th, the Assembly after adjournment this week will not reconvene until March 5, and the Senate not until March 10. House Committees are working hard these days, many night sessions being held, and much consideration is being given important measures. Public hearings have been given on measures of State-wide importance, and many are availing themselves of this opportunity to present arguments for and against certain measures.

Seeking to Annul Coatesville's Charter
In line with the recommendation of Gov. Tener proposing the annulment of Coatesville's borough charter, because of the lynching of a negro there some time ago, Senator Salus has introduced a bill providing for such annulment. This was by request of St. Paul's Baptist Church, colored, of Coatesville, and the National Benefit Association of Colored People. Salus stated that he approved the bill, but it will be strenuously fought anyhow, particularly on the House side.

Minimum Wage Bill
Another Progressive measure for a minimum wage for working girls and women has been introduced in the House by Mr. Bigger, of Allegheny. This minimum is to be fixed after investigation by a commission. The bill strikes directly at the "sweatshop" evil and will in consequence be bitterly opposed by that class of manufacturers. Special privilege and uncommon greed are working hard to throttle Progressive measures placing humane restrictions about the employment of men, women and children, but public sentiment is clearly with these bills.

Oregon Plan of Primary Proposed
The Democrats, through Mr. Humes, have introduced a bill to establish in Pennsylvania the Oregon plan of preferential preference primaries for United States Senators. The will of a majority of the voters expressed under the provisions of this bill, makes it mandatory upon the General Assembly to elect the candidate for United States Senator receiving a plurality of votes cast, regardless of his political affiliation. It also permits candidates for State Senator and Representative to declare their views about supporting the popular voice at the election in the General Assembly. Candidates declaring to

Committee on Dual Office Holding
Speaker Alter has appointed the following committee to investigate dual office-holding on Capital Hill: Messrs. Geiser, Walton, DeFrees, Shafer (Columbia), and Roney. The number of men holding down two or more fat jobs at the Capitol is fairly large, and has been increased during the administration of Governor Tener, who lost no time in providing an extra berth at $3000 per annum for his Executive Controller, Samuel Todd, as Secretary to the Capitol Extension Commission, thus doubling his salary. The Governor's Private Secretary, Walter Galtner, is another who has been well looked after in this direction; also Secretary W. Harry Baker, of the State Senate, who is said to be receiving about $9000 annually in the various positions he holds.

Mercantile Tax Repealer

By a vote of 122 to 70 the House has decided to place the mercantile tax repeal bill on the calendar, notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Ways and Means Committee. Mr. Roney declared that the repeal of this measure would deprive the Commonwealth of about $1,400,000 revenue. Mr. R. J. Baldwin thought the merchants of the State could well afford to pay three mills on the dollar when the farmers about him are paying thirteen mills. Mr. Lowers said that inasmuch as many members had pledged themselves during the campaign to favor repeal of this measure, it was only fair the bill be put on the calendar to give them an opportunity to put themselves on record as standing by their pledge.

Woman Suffragists Aroused
Advocates of woman's suffrage are inclined to believe that the Senate Committee having their referendum bill in its keeping are not much disposed to report it out until too late to pass it. They report Chairman McIlhenny as reached for a little while because of the congested state of the committee's work. Now the women propose to do a little investigating on their own account to learn for themselves just how many important measures are now in the custody of this committee. Anyone laboring under the impression that the woman's suffrage workers have lost interest in their fight on this question should pay a visit to Harrisburg and they will learn otherwise.

Auditor General's Staff
By the overwhelming vote of 145 to 24 the House on February 18 passed the bill providing for reorganization of the Auditor General's Department along modern lines which are expected to secure at least several million dollars of additional revenue to the State annually. It is pretty certain to pass the Senate and receive executive approval.

Local Men Were There
Many prominent officials of the Penna. Railroad attended the sixth annual banquet of the Agents' Club of the Phila. Division at Hotel Wheatland, Lancaster, on Saturday night. There were 150 in attendance among them being Messrs. W. W. Cassel and J. H. Stoll of this place.

Manufacturing Gas Iron
R. J. Myers, superintendent of the Grey Iron Casting Company, and J. Harry Miller, foreman in the polishing department of the same concern, have invented a gas sad iron which they will place on the market in the very near future.

Bought a Lot
Mr. Samuel K. Landis of Lancaster purchased the large lot or rather square of ground opposite the residence of George Rahm, corner of Lumber and David streets, on private terms.

Moyer's Big Sale
Mr. G. Moyer will hold his big public sale at his place of business in this borough on Saturday, March 15, when he will dispose of a large lot of light and heavy wagons, implements, etc. C. H. Zeller will call the sale.

Is Buying Horses
Mr. Ed Ream, the extensive horse dealer of this place left yesterday for points thruout Berks and Lebanon counties where he will buy a carload of horses and mules for his big sale here on Monday, March 10.

Special Shoe Sale
The latter part of this week Mr. Harry Laskewitz will open a big reduction sale on shoes for men, boys, women and children. Watch for his circular which will appear in a few days.
