Predictions for 1913

The spring if not severe will be unusually mild. During the summer months there will be a marked increase in temperature. As heretofore, June 21st will be the longest day. The weather will be unusually warm for the insurance companies; there will be a frost for office-seekers. The proper time to sow seeds will be in the spring; crops should be gathered at harvest time; eggs will be plenty in the theatrical business; the corn crop will be about the same if No. 5 feet are put in 3 shoes. In case of a lack of rain there is every indication of a prolonged drought; toppers should reform and keep on the water wagon; heavy winds will blow as long as the legislature is in session; the plum crop will not be as plentiful as heretofore.

Had Ligament Torn

Mr. Benjamin Greenawalt of this place while hauling the household goods of Mr. Frank Greenawalt on Monday, figured in an accident which might have resulted seriously. While going over the New Haven street bridge, the horse Mr. Greenawalt was driving began to trot and while trying to hold the horse, he fell off the wagon, one wheel going over his foot, while the other foot was caught in the wheel. He is badly bruised and a ligament in his leg was torn. He is unable to be about. Since the accident Mr. Greenawalt has constable Joe Kramer driving the horse and if he doesn't behave Joe is liable to "pinch" him.

Natural Query.

The reason we give the shows we do," remarked the theatrical manager, "is on account of the tired business man."

"Why, don't you think he's tired enough?"—New York Times.

Another Distinction.

"Is she his first love?"
"Oh, no; she is just his first wife!"—Judge.

They Are Safe

Mrs. Nobs of this place was informed yesterday that her son, Mr. Paul Buohl and wife at Dayton, Ohio, are both safe, having escaped the big flood.

Walking to San Francisco

Walter L. Moore and William F. Phillips of Wilmington, Del., stopped at this office Friday. They are walking to San Francisco in 200 days on a wager.

Are Safe

Relatives of Mr. Harry Grosh and Mr. Ephraim Shelly have received telegrams from Dayton, Ohio, stating that they both have escaped the floods and are safe.

The regular monthly meeting of Friendship Fire Company will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30.

The appraisalment of the Charlotte Stoner estate was held this afternoon.

Mrs. J. Harve Gingrich and Miss Anna Myers are spending the day in Elizabethtown.
