

Backing Up the Purchaser

If we didn't have an eye to the future, and if we didn't care what you or anybody else was going to think of us, we could sell engines and other machines for much less money, but we could not put IHC quality into them. The kinks would start coming in right away, and soon there would be no market for IHC engines.

IHC engines stand for everything that is opposed to such a policy. The IHC way is to build always for the respect and good will of the American farmer, and to that end it has been successfully working for many years. The dealer who sells you an IHC engine expects on its merits to do business with you again. The purchaser of an buys security and safety with it. He banks on the many years of square dealing and the reputation back of all IHC machines. He knows it is the best engine bargain because it gives him efficient service in all kinds of farm work — pumping, sawing wood, spraying, running repair shop, grindstone, cream separator, etc. He knows that IHC responsibility for it lasts as long as the engine is in service on his farm.

IHC oil and gas engines operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, kerosene, distillate, and alcohol. Sizes range from 1 to 50-horse power. They are built vertical, horizontal, portable, stationary, skidded, air-cooled and water-cooled. IHC oil tractors range in size from 6-12 to 30-60-horse power, for plowing, threshing, etc.

Look over an IHC engine at the local dealer's. Learn from him what it will do for you, or write for catalogues to

Playing War

OUR FLEET OPENS "ATTACK" ON NEW YORK CITY AT MIDNIGHT

Eighteen Giant Sea Fighters and Destroyer Flotilla Trying to Pass Sound Foul—Corp. C. L. Zerphy of this Place, a Participant

Corp. C. L. Zerphy, a son of Peter Zerphy of this place, sends us the following clipping relative to war manoeuvres at Fort Terry, N. Y.

The United States Atlantic Fleet at one minute after midnight this morning began a mimic attack on the defenses guarding the Long Island Sound approach to New York, and the metropolis may be in the hands of the "enemy" before the week ends, without New York citizens knowing it. Theoretically the Sound has been mined by the coast artillerymen of the regular army, and the commanders of Fort H. G. Wright on Fisher's Island, Fort Michio on Great Gull Island, are busy planning a welcome that will (in theory) send the great fleet under Rear Admiral Badger to the bottom of the Sound.

This six days' "war" is for the purpose of demonstrating the efficiency of the coast artillery arm of the national defense. The fleet that is to-day bombarding the Long Island defenses is supposed to represent some first-class foreign power which has suddenly decided that the time is opportune to put the Monroe or some other doctrine to a war test. And so until next Saturday the mighty naval organization under Badger must be considered as foreign and not American.

In addition to the battleships of the Atlantic Fleet, the "enemy" also has several flotillas of torpedo boat destroyers and submarines, and like the battleships, these deadly little ships are all busy in the effort to capture New York to-day. Major Gen. Thomas H. Barry, commanding the Eastern Division of the army on Governors Island, is directing the defensive operations, and has under him twenty-two complete companies or coast artillerymen from the various fortifications in New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

During the joint manoeuvres Gen. Barry will make his headquarters on the mine planter Gen. Frank, while Admiral Badger will direct the assault from the bridge of the super-dreadnought Wyoming, the flagship of the Atlantic Fleet. Col. William G. Hann is Gen. Barry's chief of staff, while Commander Charles F. Hughes is acting in a similar capacity for Admiral Badger.

"The defenses that will figure in these exercises," said Col. Haan yesterday, have all been fully manned up to the full war strength, twenty-two companies, fully equipped and each officered by the maximum number of officers, being on duty. During the exercises the Atlantic Fleet, under Admiral Badger, will represent a foreign power and the fleet will manoeuvre as one of the enemy would in an attempt to destroy the defenses that figure in the problem.

It may be stated that the organization for defense by the coast artillery has been standardized, and that in these exercises nothing but standard and improved methods will be permitted. Reports will be required from observers and those taking part as to how the standard and adopted methods and organization, both as to personnel and material, served during the exercises.

The battleships that are taking part in the exercise are, in addition to the Wyoming the super-dreadnoughts Arkansas, flagship of Rear Admiral C. McR. Winslow; the Florida, the Utah, the Delaware and the North Dakota and the first line battleships Vermont, Louisiana, Michigan, South Carolina, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Connecticut, Idaho, Kansas, and Ohio. The destroyers that figure in the "enemy's" line-up are the Plummer, Lamson, Preston, Reid, Smith, Roe, Drayton, McCall, Terry, Henley, Mayrant, Perkins, Sterrett, Walker, Warrington, Monaghan, Ammen, Barrows, Patten, Trippe, Jenkins, Beale, Fanning, Jarvis and Jenett. There are also two flotillas of submarines in addition to the auxiliaries of the Atlantic Fleet.

The regulations governing the operations of the coast artillery as approved by Gen. Barry provide for simulation of fire by coast guns, exactly as would be the case in the event of actual warfare. The battleships and destroyers will simulate fire by firing blank cartridges from one gun on the engaged side at the rate of one round to the minute.

The present exercises are the first of the kind held in this part of the country in eight years.

Old lady (offering policeman a tract)—"I often think you poor policemen run such a risk of being offered had, being so constantly mixed up with crime." Policeman—"You needn't fear, mum. It's the criminals' own fault, they're mixed up with us."—Punch.

The Doctor—"Every man needs a pad. It's a mental safety valve. Better cultivate one." The Patient—"I have (mine)." Doctor—"What is it?" The Patient—"Collecting unpaid bills. Perhaps you'd add one?"—Cleveland Post.

Three Barns Destroyed

ing, was entirely consumed in a comparatively brief period of time.

For the past several days Clayton Hershey, of the same vicinity, had his threshing outfit at the Sheik farm working on the season's crops of wheat and oats. About 300 bushels of grain had been disposed of, and there remained about 150 more bushels on which it had been intended to start operations later. All the grain was consumed and Mr. Hershey lost his entire threshing outfit and one horse, which was burned to death in the barn. Mr. Long lost one horse, six cows, one bull, one calf and a number of farming implements. Mr. Long had his crops and implements covered by insurance, but Mr. Sheik, the owner of the farm, had no insurance on either the buildings or his crops. The loss to the entire property will reach about $4,000. The barn, together with the adjoining shed, made a structure about 80 by 40 feet in size.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock lightning struck the barn on Jonas Souder's 50-acre farm, a mile and a quarter northwest of Rohrerstown, and it and its contents, the summer's crops and part of last year's corn crop, with a lot of agricultural implements, were destroyed by fire. A calf perished in the flames. Mr. Souder was having his wheat threshed by Clayton Bowers, of Centerville, and his entire outfit, excepting the engine, which was outside the building, was destroyed, as was an automobile belonging to Mr. Bowers. By strenuous efforts neighbors, forming a bucket brigade, saved the house, tobacco shed and other outbuildings, excepting the pig sty, which was burned. The wash-house was on fire several times, however. The total loss by the disaster is about $5,000.

Would you go to a tailor for a suit of clothes if you knew he bought the goods in Chicago, had the coat made in Lincoln Neb., the vest in St. Louis Mo., and the pants in Springfield, Mass., and that all he had to do was to put in the pockets and sew on the buttons?

The motor car company which is going to be in business five years from now is the concern that builds its own product from the ground up. They can build it cheaper and they can build it better. You want a car don't you, that is backed by a company that won't be quitting business about the time you are needing some mechanical replacements?

What are acknowledged as the best motor cars on the market? Name them over. Aren't we right? Aren't they the cars built by the concerns that sell them?

The Buick Motor Company builds everything from the ground up. We are building a motor car that sells because it is a good car, a powerful car, a durable car, and economical car.

What's Buick has done for others, a Buick will do for you.
