Creditors of the Kline Motor Company Will Accept Fifty Cents on the Dollar

Following a conference in York on Friday between directors of the Kline Motor Car Company, of Richmond, Va., a former York enterprise, and creditors, it was announced that an agreement had been reached with practically all of the holders of merchandise claims for settlement upon a basis of fifty cents on the dollar. The total of the merchandise liabilities was said to be about $37,000.

Samuel E. Bailey, formerly president of the company, and one of the heaviest stockholders, said that the future of the company is in some doubt. For the present, he said, it is proposed to take up the bank indebtedness and complete the orders on hand.

That a mistake was made in removing the plant from York was the opinion expressed by Mr. Bailey, who is also head of the York Carriage Company. In Richmond, he said the company was confronted with difficulties in securing materials and workmen and in properly housing its workers. All of these things, he said figured in bringing the concern to the wall.

The Week in Grain

Compiled for the Mount Joy Bulletin at Mount Joy, Pa., by Wm. L. Bear & Co., Pennsylvania Building, Philadelphia, Pa., by D. B. Lehman, manager, Woodworth Building, Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 14, 1913

Damage reports from Argentine shaped the course of grain prices during the week with wheat up 1 1/2 and trading on a very large scale. While the damage was reported as heavy over an area of about 2,000,000 acres, the fact that the next few weeks will be the critical time of the crop leads to the conclusion that possibly the whole territory around Buenos Ayres and Bahia Blanca may be affected. If this should prove to be the case it would affect over 5,000,000 acres and could not but have a great effect on prices here because of the small amount that would be available for export, most of which is done in January and February. The dry weather in India, together with the attitude of Russian shippers in holding stuff for better figures has produced a strong tone in the Liverpool market, Winnipeg in turn reflecting this condition at times, notwithstanding the fact that good receipts at that primary are still reported. The increased winter wheat acreage on this side of the border is the favorite argument among the bears who point to the good start which the new crop has received and predict a big yield on the 36,000,000 acres. World's visible supply increased 10,000,000 bushels but Broomhall's International Review inclined to the bull side. Strong cash markets in the southwest, a renewal of export business, low price level, undoubtedly heavy damage in Argentine and the fact that both winter and spring crops have been financed and are back of us are some of the bull points made by those who look for higher prices. The market closed the week with a strong tone and the bulls expressing confidence.

Corn was strong throughout the week with the December option in best demand. Cutten was again active with Bartlett Frazier also on the bull side. The December option showed a gain of 2 cents within the week although the Government report was decidedly larger than the trade looked for. The farm reserve, however, was less than expected and with strong cash markets at all points it proved comparatively to force a big covering movement in closing days of the week. New crop is not yet a factor and receipts of old corn have been rather light while husking returns have been rather disappointing in many sections. The matter of weight is now entering into the price movement as was pointed out by Bartlett Frazier on Friday. In a broad trade with offerings light and natural course was upward and although December led the movement by reason of a heavy short interest, the May option followed closely and was well taken at all stages.

CORN GROWERS RETURN

Winners in Fair Association Contest Spent Two Interesting Days

The winners in the corn growing contest of the Lancaster County Fair Association, who received a free trip to Washington as prizes, returned on Wednesday evening after having spent two days of interest in the capital city, during which they had an interview with President Wilson. Upon their return one of the number wrote an account of the trip, as follows: "The corn growers' trip to Washington, D. C., in charge of J. F. Sel-domridge, secretary of the Lancaster Fair Association, has been a grand success without a doubt. Leaving Lancaster on Tuesday morning at 6:40 o'clock they arrived at Washington at 11 A. M., whereupon they immediately took a sightseeing trip over the city in an automobile, after which they went to the Metropolitan Hotel for lunch.

"The afternoon was spent in a trip up Washington monument and through the Smithsonian Institute, National Museum and Centre Market. In the evening the visitors were delightfully entertained in the House of Representatives office building by Mr. John M. Groff, private secretary to Hon. W. W. Grist, and also visited the Congressional Library, the finest building of its kind in the world. Wednesday was a day of eager expectation for the boys, for after going through the Treasury Department building they were greeted by President Wilson in the White House. After this they went to the Capitol, where they were given an opportunity to see the House and Supreme Court in session. In the afternoon they went to the navy yards and were shown through the various shops where great guns, shells and other war materials were manufactured. The trip throughout was instructive and was enjoyed to the fullest extent by all.

Among the winners were Henry R. Eby of near town and Paul Peifer, Salunza. Vaccinate R. R. Men Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 18.---Departure of freight trains from Enola yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad was held up for a couple of hours today until 85 men could be vaccinated. This was necessitated by the prevalence of small-pox at Hunting-ton and other points on the Middle division.

SAVE YOURSELF, SHOP EARLY

Dr. Dixon's Seasonable Advice to the Vast Army of Christmas Shoppers

For the next five weeks 2,500,000 women in Pennsylvania will be busily engaged in their Christmas shopping. Under ordinary circumstances 60 per cent. of it will be done within the last ten days. The old adage about the early bird securing the delectable morsel seems to fall to lure the gift buyers from their habit of chronic procrastination. Not only is it of financial advantage to the individual and of benefit to the thousands of employes of shops, but early shopping may also effect a saving of lives and health according to Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, the Commissioner of Health. Dr. Dixon says "The great bulk of Christmas shopping is done by women and if they realized the enormous saving of nervous energy which would result from shopping early, early in the Holiday season and early in the day, there would be less need for premeditations on this important subject. The mind is in a better condition in the morning to make the necessary decisions, one's judgment is naturally affected by one's physical condition. Then too, the atmosphere in the stores is better earlier in the day and there is far less congestion of the transportation lines. Under crowded conditions the air becomes vitiated, and as a result the vitality of the individual is lowered. In this physical state the natural resistance is lessened and the shopper is much more likely to succumb if in chance contact with communicable disease. The danger of catching cold is also greater under the conditions tending to the development of colds into pneumonia prevail wherever the ventilation is poor. The excitement and nervous exhaustion which follows too lengthy periods of shopping have a tendency to aggravate any weakness which there may be of the vital organs; hence it is advisable not to extend the shopping expeditions over too lengthy a period.

Children should not be taken into the crowded stores when it can be avoided. Conditions which make the adults susceptible to disease are to them to an even greater extent. In addition to the shoppers of clerks, delivery men and other employees of mercantile establishments who under the most favorable conditions must of necessity put forth unusual exertion and undergo an unusual physical and mental strain. Consideration for them and their welfare as well as the more selfish consideration should prompt every one to make every possible effort to shop early."

Lays Off 1,000 Men Fewer specifications have forced the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to lay off 1,000 men. This is the first time since the structural plant started business, six years ago, that it has been compelled to reduce operations. The reduction in output reflects the depressed condition of the building trades.
