VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR THE FARMERS

Three Good Rules to Follow in Feeding the Dary Cow-The Poor Man's Necessity and the Rich Man's Luxury—Care of Sore Shoulders

The dairy farm that is stocked to ts full capacity without being over stocked is a pretty safe investment. That sheep are sure death to the woodtick, cause of the dreaded spot-ted fever, seems to be borne out by an experiment conducted by Dr. L. D. an experiment conducted by Dr. L. D. Frick, a government expert. Dr. Frick placed about 150 woodticks on six sheep, dividing them equally among the animals. Of the ticks placed on the sheep all but six were found dead 48 hours later, and the six are believed to have dropped to the ground. The grazing of sheep on infected grounds, it is suggested, would rid them of this plague. With the advent of spring work comes shoulder and foot troubles in First of all, remember prevention is the easiest solution of the problem. The old fashioned method of bathing the shoulders with an oak bark solu-tion, alternating with cold water several weeks prior to working, thereby hardening and tanning the skin, was good one. This, of course, is a tedious job on a big ranch with many horses, but will repay on colts. A large collar is just as bad as a tight one, and be careful that is is not lumpy. A firm, snug fitting collar, with good pads, of course is best. As substitute for the oak bark, try tannic acid in alcohol or glycerine, in a 10 to 20 per cent. solution. Begin several times a day, and alternate with a salt water solution. Begin work gradually, and should the shoulders get raw and infected, the advice of your veteriniarian may

A bulletin of the Connecticut exeriment station says that "the silo is the poor man's necessity and the rich man's luxury, for by it both gain a better and more independent living. It is a well-known fact that much more of the nutrients in the corn plant and other forage crops can be saved in the silo than by any other method. Besides the advantage of silage in economy of preserving so large a perecntage of the feeding quality of forage crops, it furinshes a succulent in the winter when it is needed to stimulate the assimilation of food in an animal, to keep the appetite active and the diorgans healthy. In a summary of its conclusions the bulletin says that any farm product can be silved providing there is sufficient sugar in the mixture to be fermented into acid to preserve it. The following mixsilo successfully and make a very desirable and nearly balanced ration. Alfalfa and rye, clover and timothy or wheat or oats, and oats peas and corn, and cowpeas and soybeans. Nothing excels the feeding of silage, especially legume silage, during the dry summer months for keeping up the flow of milk to its highest point. It is not necessary to spend the me necessary under ordinary conditions to figure out an extra ration for each individual cow. It is pract.cable, owever, to make a mixture of grains and other concentrates and to feed each cow from this grain mixture in proportion to her daily milk yield, and then to give her all the roughage she will eat up clean, and be reasonably sure that she has had all the food she needs to produce milk to the limit of her ability under ordinary con-yield, i. e., give her, for example, one pound of grain mixture per day where she gains too much weight.

should be removed immediately, the manger swept clean and a much smaller amount given at each sucturns, as evidenced by the cleaning of her manger, the amounts she is on full feed.
