EDITORIALS

Spring evidently has mastered the hesitation. . . . They wanted Mr. Bryan's goat and got merely his llama. . . . Most blue Mondays can be traced to a pink Saturday night.

In the event of war with Mexico, we can use Texas as a breastwork. . . . John Lind has been summoned to do some heavy listening in Mexico City.

Any great political party is liable to have its family quarrels these days. . . . Here is where the garden rake in the back yard qualifies as a means of grace.

To offset the soporific news from Mexico one should read the reports from Ulster. . . . Diplomacy seems to consist in talking about everything except the matter at issue.

Unfortunately the United Kingdom has no baseball leagues to distract the public mind. . . . It takes a Solomon to tell whether some of the New Spring hats are for men or women.

Another "Roosevelt Record" is to be broken in the matter of White House Weddings. . . . A whole lot of people are as much concerned over the Canal tolls as if they owned ships.

If we ever do have to take charge of things in Mexico we had better give Texas the contract. . . . Beef packers at least do not trouble us with ripe odors from their Argentine slaughter houses.

It would certainly be tough if a parcel post shipment were sent to the Dead letter office. . . . They have been tangling in Texas all the time, it seems, but they have never called it by that name.

Perhaps Ambassador Page could relieve the tense situation in London by making another funny speech. . . . The watchful waiting policy cannot be persisted in very much longer—the baseball season will soon open.

Now that an Italian torpedo boat rammed a passenger steamer the European Naval holiday is all off. . . . Still while the nations go on christening Dreadnoughts the wine agents need not feel entirely downhearted.

Women really ought not to take politics as seriously as did Mme. Calixta in Paris, who shot an opposition editor. . . . It takes a bright sunny Easter to put a crimp in the claims that the peach crop of the country has been destroyed.

When the "Reds" marching under the Black flag show the white feather, the color scheme will be complete. . . . Forming a mackerel trust. However, Villa telegraphs that his next move will be according to circumstances, that is to say, if he doesn't go north he will go south.

Ambassador Page has received a number of degrees since he went to England. His recent address was responsible for the third. . . . Fishers in Norway and Sweden are the codfish bell remains true to its Democratic principles.

Being a baseball hero may not be so spectacular as being a Mexican general, but it is more healthful and the meals are regular. . . . There is nothing startling in the story that Huerta is in pressing need of money, that state of things being the backbone of the status quo.

President Wilson's whimsical little speech at the Washington Press Club is well calculated to endear him to the many Americans who are just folk. . . . Who said money was scarce? The first national bank of Aurora Illinois, advertises money to loan to farmers for feeding cattle.

Speaking of the Progressives—Vic Murdock says they want Canal exemption; if they can't get that, will good fat offices do instead. . . . When it comes to the suffering occasioned by the income tax, the blow appears to have fallen heaviest on the actress brides of rich men's sons.

Mexican federals are fighting so determinedly as to arouse the determination that they are trying to cut off the head of the snake. . . . Mexican federals are fighting so determinedly as to arouse the determination that they are trying to cut off the head of the snake.

SALUNGA

Landisville and Salunga have joined in a contract with the Edison Light & Power Co. for furnishing 40 Tungsten lights for the joint towns.

All the arrangements are completed and the number of lights will be slightly increased in the two towns.

The burglaries in Landisville on Saturday night have very much disturbed our seventy good neighbors beside causing a depletion of funds.

The loss was not great so far as the cash goes but we folks do certainly feel as though our time and patience was somewhat trespassed upon by the intrusion.

Misses Esther Steinkomph, Mary Baker, May Kauffman, Anna Long, Mary Trout and Grace Mumma of Landisville, Elizabeth Peifer, Salunga, Ella Habecker of Rohrerstown, Daisy Spangler and Blanche Martin of Mountville and Ruth McAllister of Elizabethtown were entertained by Martha A. Eby on Tuesday.

A meeting of the Board of Control of the Landisville Camp Meeting Association was held in Lancaster last Tuesday when assessments were settled and other matters of importance connected with the Association. Mr. Bertsfield and wife, who moved into the Superintendent's house will have charge of the grounds and from present indications the couple will prove quite competent to handle the crowds that congregate around the woods.

NORTHWEST RAPHO Many Sunday Schools started on Sunday.

Mr. Allen A. Shaffer and family made a Sabbath evening hike to Henry Shenk's.

The first time you see Frank Shenk Sr., please note the smile across his face, all because it's a boy.

Lizzie S. Hollinger is staying at Jacob K. Garman's since Monday.

If beef was the highest when the cow jumped over the moon, then beef feeds made a sure second.

Lease Hollinger made a Sunday call at the home of N. W. R. correspondents.

Samuel R. Gible delivered his tobacco to Elizabethtown Saturday.

Oscar Frey made a short call at the Gantz homestead on Sunday.

Mrs. John Stern had a new roof put on the rear extension of the barn by Esheleman, Shelley, Witmer and Stern.

C. G. Hollinger and John Sowers sold their filler tobacco to Gible of Mountville at 2 cents and their wrap papers to John Longenecker of Mount Joy at 5 cents.

A Profitable Cow On February 19, Mr. D. H. Bream, at Silver Spring, purchased a Holstein cow at a public sale held in West Hempfield township, and on February 29 she gave birth to twin calves. On Monday of this week the pair were weighed, one tipping the scales at 162 and the other at 158 pounds.

Erected Fine Birdhouse M. S. Helfrich, of Ironville, who is a great lover of birds, recently erected a fine bird house at that place which is now tenanted by a fine flock of the feathered tribe.

Bankrupts Discharged Wilson S. Kready, East Hempfield, Aldus M. Charles and Henry G. Good Conestoga, were discharged as bankrupts in the United States court at Philadelphia on Tuesday.

Go Thou and Do Likewise Miss Daisy E. B. Grubb, it is announced, has given $5,000 of the Lancaster General Hospital.

Some of the unfavorable comments addressed to Huerta is gradually being transferred to Carranza and Villa.

Train bandits have appeared in the South Carolina, dividing the line of Cole Bleese.
