BIGELOW WINS HIS APPEAL
 Income From Automobile Licenses Goes to Highways

The action of Judge J. S. McCarrell in the Dauphin County Court on Monday, in sustaining the constitutionality of the appropriation of income from automobile licenses to the State Highway Department for maintenance of State highways means that the State highways of Pennsylvania will now receive the attention which they should have had, and it will enable the department to proceed at once with necessary repairs throughout the State.

Two actions are decided by the opinion filed. In one the Auditor General and State Treasurer are directed to draw warrants and pay requisition made by Highway Commissioner Bigelow on the accumulations from automobile licenses, which, when the suits were brought, aggregated three quarters of a million dollars and which now amount to over a million. In the other, an action is brought against the Auditor General separately. The Court overrules motions to quash and permits amendments of the prayer by the Attorney General.

Judge McCarrell filed a voluminous decision in which there are many citations. He says in part:

"The act of July 7, 1913 undoubtedly appropriated the registration and license fees to the State Highway department, directing that they shall be deposited in the State Treasury for safe-keeping and shall be paid out upon requisition from time to time of the State Highway Commissioner."

In regard to the specific appropriation act, approved May 11, 1909, which the fiscal officers contended prevented payment of the money without specific appropriation by the Legislature, the Court says: "If there be any conflict between this statute and the act of July 7, 1913, it is sufficient to say that the provisions of the later statute must control."

In closing the Court says: "After careful consideration we are satisfied that the act of July 7, 1913, is valid legislation, that its tenth section specifically appropriates the moneys derived from registration and licenses to the State Highway Department, and that these moneys have been paid into the State Treasury for safe keeping until required by the State highway commissioner for the use which they were thus appropriated."

The decision is a big victory for Highway Commissioner Bigelow. The Auditor General and State Treasurer, both Progressives, were bent on crippling his management of the Highway Department by withholding funds which were clearly entitled to be devoted to road purposes.

Immediately upon hearing of the decision of the Court, Mr. Bigelow issued a statement in which he declared that the State Highway Department was now in a position to put in repair all of the highways of the Commonwealth.

The Commissioner added that unless further litigation was inaugurated, the progress of work by the State Highway Department during the coming summer would be steady, and that every effort would be made to put the highways in first-class condition. He said that this work would be started at once.

The opinion of the Court is so sweeping that Auditor General Powell must either acquiesce or else put himself in the position of blocking road maintenance by taking on appeal.

WHY MOUNT JOY MERCHANTS SHOULD ADVERTISE IN THE BULLETIN

$1,200,000.00 For a Name

The Royal Baking Powder business was sold not long ago.

For the name alone the owners received $1,200,000.00.

Building and equipment were a mere side issue. A better factory and more up-to-date equipment could be obtained in a short space of time by the expenditure of a few thousand dollars, but to develop a trade name until it became as valuable as the Royal Baking Powder brand would have taken many years and the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars for advertising.

RHEEMS
 Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Newgard announce the arrival of a daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen King spent last Sunday with his parents at Malvern.

Mrs. Joseph W. Kraybill attended the funeral of Mrs. Herr at Mount Joy last week.

Mr. William Miller and Miss Viola Ream of Mount Joy, spent Saturday with her aunt, Mrs. George Ulrich.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Weaver entertained a number of guests from Nescopeck, several days last week.

D. G. Brinsler purchased five cars of choice hay in the vicinity of Maytown, last week which he loaded at Lobata for the Eastern market.

Mr. Paris Hinkle and Miss Yagely from Lancaster and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ream and daughter Viola of Mt. Joy spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Ulrich.

Harvey Hostetter purchased a load of coal to be used to bale his large amount of hay in order to make room for the present crop which has a fine appearance.

Mrs. Amanda Wissler, Mrs. John Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hoover and Milton Shank of near Millersville, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shank.

John Martin purchased a large quantity of tobacco plants at the Rheems hot house from which he had about an acre planted previous to the drenching rain Monday evening.

Aaron Groff and force of mechanics covered the large barn of B. H. Greider with sheeting last Monday and Tuesday to take place of the shingle roof that served for more than 50 years.

John G. Reist and B. H. Greider are harvesting their Alfalfa the past week the usual amount of white caps can be seen throughout the fields of Reist which he uses to plough it for special feeding purposes.

Howard Landis received a modern motor cycle last week with which he joins in with a number of others to keep up a continuous racket by riding to and fro. Some one might suggest to them to extend their practicing territory by going to Lancaster and return.

The storms that passed over this place at 7 o'clock and 9 o'clock p. m. were the most destructive of this season. There was a driving wind that tossed chairs and other loose articles about like feathers. The rain came down so fast that corn fields appeared like lakes.

Miss Della Shank, a prominent music teacher who has a large number of pupils of Elizabethtown, Mt. Joy, Florin and this vicinity, gave a musical in the Rheems school house last Friday evening where she and her pupils entertained a crowded house of spectators who were all well pleased with the talent they displayed.

John Martin, a Donegal farmer comes to the front with a record hard to equal last fall he purchased 11 steers at the Lancaster stock yards, on the junk pile as they term poor quality of cattle. Monday morning he delivered them to Gingrich Bros., where they figured out the gain on average per head to be 490 pounds.

WHY MOUNT JOY MERCHANTS SHOULD ADVERTISE IN THE BULLETIN

A $2,000,000.00 Example

Without a dollar's worth of business in sight, the Ward Baking Co. erected and equipped two magnificent bakeries in New York City, at a cost of $2,000,000.

They knew the possibilities of advertising and depended upon advertising to make their New York business a success.

The result was that in eight months they obtained distribution for 350,000 loaves of bread per day.

Without advertising those two million dollar bakeries would be accumulating dust and cobwebs, and the two hundred autos used for delivery purposes would be idle.

WHY MOUNT JOY MERCHANTS SHOULD ADVERTISE IN THE BULLETIN

A Guarantee in Every Ad. There is a guarantee in every advertisement. The man who advertises any article unworthy of the public is but hastening his commodity to be likened to a very powerful success by the most direct method known. In this respect, advertising is merciful doom.

The man who advertises an article worthy of confidence is hastening to magnify his success.

If your business possesses the essential without which there can be no success, why not magnify it.

When you advertise, make up your mind to magnify your business—make up your mind at the same time to use the best magnifying instrument obtainable—the Bulletin.

NAMES THAT DICKENS USED

Carved on English Tombstones, They Recall the Works of Great Author.

The happy discovery in Chalk churchyard of "the immortal names" of Twist, Flight and Guppy reminds me that some years ago in Bunhill Fields cemetery I noticed on some tombstones not far apart from one another the following names: Sarah Brass, Garland and Sophronia, all of which appear in "The Old Curiosity Shop;" Oram, the name of the undertaker in "David Copperfield;" and Blight and George Sampson, names occurring in "Our Mutual Friend."

George Sampson is the much subtitled son of Bella Wilfer's sister Lavinia. "Young Plight," whose wages were 15s a week, is elaborately described as being "managing clerk, junior clerk, common law clerk, conveying clerk, chancery clerk, every refinement and department of clerk, of Mr. Mortimer Lightwood, Solicitor." Dick Swiveller's "The Marchioness," whom he named "Sophronia Sphinx," as being "a name euphonious and genteel, and furthermore indicative of mystery," is known to everybody. In "Our Mutual Friend," however, there figures a much less distinguished and well known Sophronia, the wife, namely, of "the ginger whiskered" and respectable Mr. Lammle.—Correspondence London Times.

WHEN THE ROMANCE FADED

John's Prosaic Recollection Decidedly Not What the Young Wife Had Expected.

"John," she asked, cuddling up to him, for it was the third anniversary of their marriage, "what was the happiest moment of your life?"

"Ah, dear," he replied, "I remember it well. I shall never forget it. If I live to be a hundred years old, that moment will always stand out as plainly as it does tonight."

She sighed and nestled a little closer, looking longingly up into his honest blue eyes. After a moment's silence she urged:

"Yes, but John, dearest, you haven't told me when it was."

"Oh," he answered, "I thought you had guessed it. It was when you came to me in the summer, if you remember, and told me that you had decided to trim up one of your old hats so as to make it do for the winter."

Then the celebration of the third anniversary of their marriage became uninteresting and formal.

"Nobody Eats Possum Now."

The South has long been cursed with stories of things said to exist here as to be peculiarly Southern that are the mere fictions of the exuberant imaginations of professional Southerners south of the line and professional Southerners who have never been farther south than Washington.

Nobody now eats possum, and nobody now eats possum and sweet potatoes. Once the negroes ate possum once in their lives, but no negro ever made a second assault on a dish of possum. A man who could enjoy possum should have a copper riveted stomach and a taste for pure fat with a strong odor. There is no such thing as persimmon wine. Once there was persimmon beer. It is about as palatable as rainwater flavored with dried apples.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Brand-New Excuse.

Casey announced to his wife, Ellen, that he was going to the ball game. All day he was gone. Night came, but no Casey to take his place at the head of the table. Midnight and no Casey—one o'clock—two o'clock—three o'clock—no Casey.

As the six o'clock whistles began to blow Casey stumbled up the front steps into the house and awakened his wife by his efforts to negotiate the stairs. She hopped out of bed and met her better half in the hallway.

"Well," said Mrs. Casey, determined to write on her Amazon face.

"Saltillo, Hlin," said Casey, weakly. "The game was called on account of daylight."

Fans Unhealthful.

Though the electric fan brings refreshing coolness to hot places, it does not ventilate a closed room, and Langlais and Satory, French experimenters, have found that the ordinary fan tends to lessen the air's purity instead of increasing it, the stirring up of dust being probably responsible for a large addition to the bacteria.

During dancing in a ballroom the number of bacteria per cubic yard of the air rose from 4,000 to 720,000. For ventilation an ozone generator may be used with the fan, or an exhaust fan may be placed in a hole in the outer wall so as to pump out the vitiated air when, of course, fresh air will take its place.

Great Classical Works Lost.

There are more ways of destroying a book than burning it. The old monks were adepts at another form of destruction with what they considered laudable motives. Vellum was costly and they were indefatigable in erasing the best works of the Greek and Latin to make room for a life of some saint or other on the same sheet. In the Vatican one of the books of Livy can be faintly discerned beneath a missal and Cicero's "de Republica" underneath a mass of monkish writing. And the quality of the monk's composition was seldom comparable with what he destroyed.

Herff-Brooks $1375
Our Competitor

We don't know what competition will say in answer to this unusual advertisement. It's the first time competition has been asked to make such a comparison with so remarkable a car at so remarkable a price. So far as we are concerned, we don't much care what they say.

We are building cars for our dealers and their people; not for competition. When so unusual a proposition comes out, competition generally warns both dealers and buyers to stay away from it. This warning is not the result of any fine moral standard, but it is the natural fear of not knowing how to meet the other man's proposition until after they have seen what approval it will find from most dealers and owners.

When a proposition is as good as the Herff-Brooks proposition competition doesn't mean the loss of many sales to us because the dealer or owner has only to see the Herff-Brooks to realize that against such merit, at such a price, abuse and criticism must fall away unnoticed.

Remember that the only competition we will have is cars costing from $1,750 to $2,000 and that competition is a compliment. Ask competition the price of his car; then make him prove that there exists that difference in price between what he has to offer you and the Herff-Brooks at $1,375.

Suits Made to Sell From $18 to $22 Special at $15

Did you read yesterday's announcement about this special offering in Summer Suits? If not, for explanation, let us say that it is not our regular Summer Reduction Sale, but a SPECIAL PURCHASE OF 250 SUITS to clean up a manufacturer's stock.

EVERY ONE GOES AT $15.

Some are worth $18, some $20, and a great many $22. There are not all sizes to each pattern, but we will say right here there isn't a pattern among them that we'd hesitate one minute to wear ourselves. That really ought to go without saying, for manufacturers seldom put "punch" patterns into high class garments, selling from $18 to $22.

There are those popular Tartan checks you see so many of the "boys" wearing; there are fancy grays and plain grays; fancy blacks—in fact, the very cream of the season's best patterns—AT A PRICETHAT SAVES YOU FROM $3 to $7 over what you'd have to pay had we bought them before the season opened.

Preaching vs. Practice

If one of your competitors were to "spring" an innovation in the way of a sale, a new matter of displaying merchandise—anything at all—

You would do the same thing just as soon as you could, if you considered it of value to your business.

Why copy them in the small things and not in the big things?

The greatest business men are the warmest advocates of advertising.

The fact that they practice what they preach is the factor which made them the greatest business men.

Money spent in the Bulletin will be of far more benefit to you than a thousand times the same amount in the bank.
