Never mind what any dealer promises you, you owe it to yourself to find out what the Factory Guarantee is on the automobile you propose buying and you should insist on this guarantee being made a part of the contract you sign when purchasing an automobile.

Some automobile manufacturers give no guarantee at all. That is one of the reasons why some dealers must offer you special inducements and discounts to sell their cars.

VERY VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR THE FARMERS

Do Not Do Any Cross Breeding—The Value of Winter Dairying—Alfalfa is the Dairyman's Friend—Feeding Sheep—Pure Bred Bulls

Keep the collars clean and dry. Keep the collars' feet level by rasping.

Don't allow the toes to grow too long. Long toes will cause ring-bones.

Do not use grease or blacking on the hoofs to close the pores, and prevent the entrance of moisture.

It is better never to let horses run on both sides of a wire fence, especially if there is a barb wire at the top. They are very apt to fight through or over it and are pretty sure to get hurt.

If breeding signifies anything at all it means that the qualities of the cow for producing a large amount of milk are to be transmitted to her daughter.

To set a hen with scaly legs, or with mites or lice on her, is inviting disaster, and there is no need of it. Dip the scaly legs up to the feathers in kerosene and the cause of the scales will be no more.

Most of our worst weeds are introduced in unclean seed grain. It is more difficult to produce clean seed than it is unclean, and for that reason many seed growers are tempted to sell seeds which contain many of the injurious weeds.

By the use of good pure bred bulls marked improvement can be effected in grade and scrub herds in a very few years. Increased profits will accompany the upgrading process. Practical, simple and profitable this work should appeal to all farmers owning nondescript cattle. Bulls suitable for the purpose are now within attractive reach. They can be bought privately or at public sale at values that are tending upward.

There are several points in feeding sheep that must not be overlooked. The feed lot must be dry, with plenty of clean, dry bedding; the animals must have plenty of clean, pure water, and the feed troughs should be kept clean. These should be arranged so that the sheep cannot foul them with their feet. Another point is to keep them from becoming excited or frightened. To this end it is better that one person feed them all the time.

Alfalfa is the dairyman's friend, surely, if the figure of D. H. Otis is correct. He figures that a ton of alfalfa contains 220 pounds of digestible protein which at six cents a pound would be worth $13.20, and if we got four tons to the acre, we could have a value of $52.80. Of course, for a dairyman to realize this much from an acre of alfalfa, he must feed judiciously in proper combination with other feeds; but if he realizes only one half of this amount, he is getting excellent returns from his land. Wheat bran, long and standard feed for dairy cows, contains only 122 pounds of digestible protein in every 100 pounds.

A good many dairy farmers are paying a great deal of attention to winter dairying. They find that they get better prices for milk and for butter during the winter than during the summer months. They have more time in winter to devote strictly to dairy work. The calves may be brought along to the best advantage during the winter months, and they are ready to make good use of the young grass when it comes on in the spring. Such dairymen allow the herd and calves to take care of themselves to a certain extent during spring seeding and summer harvest, when their attention is fully occupied with growing crops. It is another way of spreading the work of the farm through the entire year.

A reader asks us what we think of crossing pure bred Leghorn and Barred Plymouth Rocks, in order to get a breed of fowls larger than the latter. Our advice is to stick to a pure breed, as just as soon as we cross the two we take the first step backward and, from thence on we will have only mongrel fowls, which become more worthless with each year. Many pure breeds of fowls are large enough for the demands of any market, and they will lay almost as many eggs, all things considered, as will the Leghorns. The trouble is that the larger breeds often sit and hatch out a brood, and sometimes more of chicks during the summer, while the Leghorn loses no time that way. An incubator or common hen does the work of hatching for the latter, while the former is expected to attend to that herself, but is given no credit for results.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

By Dr. David H. Reeder, Chicago, Ill.

Danger of Infection:—I have before me Farmer's Bulletin number 462 issued free of expense by the department of agriculture at Washington. The title of this pamphlet is "The Sanitary Privy."

One of the greatest problems that has confronted man since the first dawn of Civilization has been the safe and sanitary disposal of human excrement. Men love fixed habitations, they live in villages, towns and cities as well as in isolated places and the more dense the population of any one place the greater the quantity of waste or excreta and life if it is not properly destroyed or sterilized.

For thousands of years water or the plan of sewerage has been the principal means of sewerage disposal, air, water and sunshine being recognized as the most powerful of nature's purifiers. The population of the earth is constantly increasing, however, and every time we make a new discovery in sanitary science or means of increasing the longevity of the human race and decreasing infant mortality, we add to the increasing population. It is noted with satisfaction, however, that the size of the families are generally decreased while the quality appears to be gradually increasing, which in my opinion is as it should be.

The system of sewerage adopted by one city may adequately dispose of their sewerage, but at the same time may be polluting the source of water supply for other cities. Therefore, as time passes and the population of cities increases, that method of disposal must be superceded by a system that will at once sterilize fecal matter. This can be done perfectly by devices recently perfected, but the question of expense remains to be solved. I believe the time will come when each home will be properly and economically equipped with sanitary devices that will forever solve the problem not only for cities but for each home no matter how isolated it may be. When that is done and it is recognized by all that public as well as individual safety depends upon the strict observance of the sanitary laws we will no longer see our loved ones suffer and die of preventable diseases.

You will remember, no doubt, that I have always advocated, the removal of the cause before we could expect a permanent cure of any ailment. During the last few years we have made wonderful strides in overcoming diseases. Our combined campaign against Typhoid Fever through the "swat the fly" movement and the judicious use of anti-typhoid vaccination, has accomplished wonders, but not until we entirely remove the cause, which is breeding places of flies, filth, will we entirely overcome Typhoid Fever.

Until laws are passed which compel every man to carry out sanitary rules that will prevent the accumulation of filth and the breeding of flies, we will have Typhoid Fever and other diseases. Your own home may be strictly sanitary but your neighbor ten rods away may have a big manure pile and an open privy vault. His own family may be what we call "a carrier" or case of Walking Typhoid and is, therefore, a constant menace to the entire neighborhood, even to people hundreds of miles away. Now, you can readily see how the flies from that neighbor may come into your home and cause the death of one of your loved ones, but how could that neighbor cause the death of your strong healthy son who is a hundred miles away at a school and has not been home for six months, I will tell you in the next lecture.

AN OLD LAW

Attorney Funk Says Blue Law Forbids Masquerade Balls

While looking for a certain law, J. Clarence Funk, a Harrisburg attorney, stumbled over a curious blue law. The law, which was passed in 1808, prohibits the holding of masquerade balls or masquerade parties. It was never repealed and is still in force, although it has been many years since anyone has been arrested on either charge. Here is the act as it was passed by the Pennsylvania State Assembly 106 years ago.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, That masquerades and masked balls be and are hereby declared to be common nuisances; and every keeper within this Commonwealth who shall knowingly permit or suffer a masquerade or masked ball to be held in his or her house, and every person who shall set forth, promote or encourage any masquerade or masked ball, and every person who shall knowingly attend or be present at any masquerade or masked ball, in mask or otherwise, being legally convicted thereof, shall for each and every such offence be sentenced to an imprisonment not exceeding three months and to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand or less than fifty dollars and to give security in such sum as the court may direct to keep the peace and be of good behavior for one year."

Ruhl's Picnic

Ruhl's Sunday school picnic will be held in Aaron Stoner's grove, near the church, on Saturday, Aug. 8. The Germania Band of Mannheim, will furnish the music. Able speakers will be in attendance. A free supper will be served to all who attend. This is always a well attended picnic and a pleasant time is assured.

A Rumor

It is rumored that what was formerly Wagner's Park, a short distance northeast of Elizabethtown has been purchased by a party from the present owner, Phares Risser, and that a Park for the holding of Sunday School and other picnics will be created.

An Old Ticket

A young man from Elizabethtown, spending the Fourth at Middletown, made the trip on a ticket that was dated July 1st, 1870, making it 47 years old. He must have "froze on" to some of his dad's old relics.

FEED GROWING FEED

A chicken grows in proportion to the feed it consumes. Successful poultrymen study in every way to increase their chickens' appetites.

The Park & Pollard Growing Feed increases their appetite. The more they eat of it the more they want.

Whenever your chickens are hatched from January to December feed them this ration until they are six months of age.

Our customers that have used it say it is even better than they claim. Your money back if you don't like it.
