A DRUNK OR A THIEF, WHICH?

Stranger Found on the Porch at the Home of Mrs. Sarah Ebersole

There was considerable excitement in the west end Monday evening about 9:30 when the report was circulated that thieves were trying to effect an entrance at the home of Mrs. Sarah Ebersole, on Hemp street.

A few of the neighbors responded and saw a man striking matches near the house. He was some robber at that for the first thing he done was to tie the dog after which he laid on the porch. Several men held the man prisoner until Constable Kramer arrived, after which he was placed in the lockup.

He was given a hearing before Justice Jos. R. Strickler at noon yesterday and committed to jail for his appearance at the September term of Court. He gave his name as William C. Kaufhold, of Columbia. He is charged with attempted felonious entry.

Antwerp

MR. CLARENCE STOLL, OF MT. JOY, WRITES HOME

Two Very Interesting Letters Received by Mr. J. H. Stoll Within the Past Few Days, Telling of the Foreign Situation at Present--Mr. Stoll's Family Safe

Dear Father: Antwerp, Aug. 8, 1914. "Situation in Europe is serious, Germany has declared war on Russia, France and Belgium. On the latter because Germany has wanted this support for a long time--in fact all the countries want it.

Factory is demoralized, but are still operating. So much has developed since yesterday that we hold "councils of war" every two hours.

German and Belgium cavalry had an engagement on frontier this morning. Heard this morning that last passenger boat leaves here for England tonight, then all communication is cut off. Will try to get word whenever favorable.

England will have to declare herself today as by treaty she is bound to protect this port.

Have seen a great many reports of parting but they are being compared with what will be the case everything left to the family we can't worry. We all hope for the best.

There is no communication with the countries except by practically no means.
