Mrs. Elizabeth Shank

Death Sunday night claimed the oldest woman in Marietta, and in this section of Lancaster county, when Mrs. Elizabeth Shank died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Sargent, where she had resided for a number of years. Mrs. Shank was a most remarkable woman and had only been in bed a few days prior to her death. Last Monday she fell and never recovered, although the attending physician pronounced her death due to the infirmities of age. She was born in Perry county, March 16, 1825, and was in her 92nd year.

John C. Rutherford

Word reached Marietta yesterday announcing the death at Royalton, of John Clayton Rutherford who was a former resident of near town. He was born at Newtown, this county, and was 35 years of age. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rutherford and when he was a young man the family removed to Royalton, where they have since resided. His death was due to an operation for appendicitis, after a short illness, superinduced by pneumonia. He was a traveling salesman for the C. F. Sauer Company, and visited this section frequently. Besides his parents he is survived by his wife, Kathryn and the following children: Sadie, John, Ruth and Grace. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Miss Mary, William and Joseph, of Royalton; Dr. F. Allen Rutherford, Pottstown. He was for many years a member of the Church of God. The funeral will be held this afternoon at two o'clock, from the late home, with burial at Middletown. Rev. Herbert Smith, of Lancaster County and Rev. F. Hoover, of Middletown, will officiate.

Miss Pauline Vonhausen

Miss Pauline Vonhausen of Marietta, died Monday night at her home, from a complication of diseases. She was a cigarmaker by trade and was 40 years old. For many years she was a member of Zion Reformed church at Marietta. She was born in Marietta and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vonhausen. Besides her parents, one brother, Philip survives. The funeral will be held on Friday morning at 10

EXTRAORDINARY CASE

By KENNETT HARRIS.

Admitting, that Stefferson is dead, for the fact is altogether beyond dispute, there is not the least doubt that he was an out-and-out scoundrel when living.

There was not a wet eye at his funeral. It was about the most arid affair with in the officiating clergyman's recollection. The widow's pocket handkerchief was black bordered but it was certainly not moist, and it would have been a wonder if it had been. She had been afflicted with Stefferson for 11 years.

He, the late unlamented, had not enjoyed the best of reputations when Mrs. Stefferson married him. She was warned how it would be. She might have forgotten it, but all her friends told her so. They knew that the kind of son Stefferson had shown himself to be would not make the best kind of husband.

The unfaithful son had proved to be a faithless husband. Marriage, so far from curbing his appetite for strong liquors, seemed to have removed any slight restraint he might have felt.

He was relieved of the necessity of working for a living because Mrs. Stefferson had money. Luckily, it was tied up in such a way that she was unable to touch the principal.

It was nearly two years after that Mrs. Stefferson had altogether discarded her mourning. The rest had done her good. She was getting comfortably stout and had regained quite a little of her youthful good looks.

She was sitting in her prettily furnished little parlor attired in a particularly becoming house gown. A large Angora cat was parring in her lap, occasionally turning a lazy yellow eye up at the cheerfully trilling canary. The piano was open and there was music on the rack. A vase on a bookcase held some vivid La France roses and on the sill of the sunny bay window there were embroidery materials and a box of bonbons.

Mrs. Stefferson laid down her novel when her visitor was announced and got up to the

THE ELEVENTH HOUR

Little talks on Health & Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D., Commissioner of Health

Do you belong to the army of the Eleventh Hour? Do you pant through the station gates a moment before the train leaves? Keep your engagements and transact your business with the lash of Father Time snapping behind you? If you do, perhaps you pride yourself on belonging to the Eleventh Hour brigade and talk knowingly of how much better you work "under pressure." Don't be deceived.

You are perfectly aware that the chauffeur who runs his car at break-neck speed, slams on the brake when he wants to stop and who always takes the hills on high gear, "just to show what the engine can do," has little consideration for the continued efficiency of his machine. The finest motor ever built is but a fraction as complicated as the human engine.

So it behooves everyone to bear in mind that the wear and tear of working under strain and continually driving business on high gear, cannot be continued without risk.

Fortunately employers and employees are coming to realize that a certain degree of relaxation increases efficiency. However, there are thousands of business men who drive themselves relentlessly with an indifference which they would never permit an employee to display in handling the least costly equipment. The nerve force that proves so successful as a motive power, when exhausted results in complete breakdown.

A reasonable degree of deliberation and the exercise of forethought may save you much mental and physical strain without the least impairment of efficiency.
