Blackbirds Are Flying South Besides the official weather prog nosticator there are many persons the world over who claim to be able to forecast weather conditions. Some will tell you that when the back of it is a sign of an approaching rain storm. Pain in the scar left by a deep wound or the stump of an amputated leg or arm is said by others to be a sign of wet weather. One so-called weather sign is the action of the blackbird, which, along with many other feathered creatures, spends its summers in the north and winters in the south. Many flocks of blackbirds already this year have Heckler recently paid a visit of inan early winter.
