DIPHTHERIA ANTITOXIN

Little Talks on Health & Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D.

There are few absolute specifics known to medical science. In the majority of ailments to which mankind is heir the wise physician is he who studies his case with the idea of eliminating those things which hamper the natural functions and gives Nature every chance to restore her balance.

One of the few specific remedies that science has produced upon which the physician may depend to effect a common use in neutralizing this disease, few people know how great a boon to mankind this discovery is. Within the last few years many physicians practicing today diphtheria was a disease before which the members of the profession were practically helpless. Thousands of young lives were sacrificed and whole communities were overcast by the shadow of death following epidemics of this disease.

Without the use of antitoxin the death rate from this disease often exceeds 40 per cent. When diphtheria antitoxin is used in sufficient quantities immediately after the onset of the disease prompt recovery follows with few exceptions. Unfortunately one of the first evidences of diphtheria is sore throat which to parents may appear to be only a slight cold. If this is really the onset of diphtheria the disease develops within a short time with terrifying rapidity into the more advanced stages. For this reason every case of sore throat among children should be watched with the greatest care and wherever possible early medical attention should be secured.

Records of the State Department of Health which have been compiled show the results of the treatment of thousands of cases. They prove that the deaths from this disease, after the treatment with antitoxin, occur when there is delay in administering it.

From a death rate of zero on the first day it increases to 50 per cent. on the fifth day. Antitoxin may be administered in enormous doses without danger. Cases are on record in the department where 135,000 units have been required to effect a cure in an individual case.

Diphtheria antitoxin is not alone a curative agent but is also a preventive and should be used in immunizing doses to prevent the spread of the disease among those who have been exposed to it.

With this wonderful specific at the command of the medical profession there should be few deaths from diphtheria. Those which occur in the great majority of cases are due to the fact that the early symptoms have been overlooked or neglected by parents and the resulting delay in securing prompt antitoxin treatment.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of the country, no city so large, no village so small but that Lydia E. Pinkham has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Crusen, of Bushnell, Ill.

BUSHNELL, ILL.—"I think all the trouble I have had since my marriage was caused by exposure when a young girl. My work has been housework of all kinds, and I have done milking in the cold and know when I was too young to realize that it would hurt me. I have suffered very much with bearing down pains in my back and such miserable pains across me, and was very nervous and generally run down in health, but since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my back never hurts me, my nerves are stronger, and I am gaining in health every day. I thank you for the great help I have received from your medicine, and if my letter will benefit suffering women I will be glad for you to print it."—Mrs. JAMES CRUSEN, Bushnell, Illinois.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HODGDON, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep. Then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health. Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Of course, the most important thing to do is to telephone or send at once for a physician, but while waiting for him keep active. The prompt use of spirits of ammonia or common household ammonia may be of great value in cases of cocaine poisoning. Hold the bottle of ammonia or smelling salts so that the patient must inhale the vapor. Rub the limbs vigorously and keep the body warm with hot water bottles, hot bricks or hot bags of salt or sand. When the doctor arrives he will probably give a heart stimulant or strychnine in the form of hypodermic injections. No other person is justified in giving such a stimulant, although a nurse may give it when so ordered by the doctors.

In all cases where old formulas are at hand which advise the use of whiskey as a stimulant, they should be disregarded. It is now positively known that whiskey does not give the stimulating effect it was formerly supposed to give. A safe and simple stimulant which may be used in all cases where whiskey was formerly used, may be found in your own kitchen, capsicum, or common red pepper. It is one of the most pronounced and at the same time one of the purest and strongest stimulants in the whole Materia Medica. It is unequalled when a prolonged and powerful stimulant is needed as in congestion, chills, heart failure, etc. It is difficult to administer in the form of an infusion or tea, but the powdered capsicum may be given in capsules if they are at hand, otherwise prepare a mixture as follows: Three tablespoonfuls of common red pepper, two tablespoonfuls of salt, Rub the mixture and stirred into a paste and then pour onto this half a pint of very boiling water. As soon as a cold strain is off, being careful to not agitate or toss the mixture, stir up the portion that has settled to the bottom. And to this liquor or tea one-half pint of good sharp vinegar and you will have the best stimulant that you could possibly get. A tablespoonful every hour is the proper dose for an adult.

In cases of emergency and a physician cannot be reached a layman is justified in giving about five drops of digitalis in cases of Acetanilid or Phenacetin poisoning, then proceed to stimulate as above described.
