CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN MET

Ten Thousand Dollars Given for Missions During Past Year

The East Pennsylvania Conference of the Church of the Brethren was held at Elizabethtown on Wednesday and Thursday. The retiring officers presided until the new organization was effected at three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The retiring officers serve as the Credential Committee. The new organization resulted with I. W. Taylor, of Neffsville, as Moderator; Ralph Schlosser, of Elizabethtown, as Writing Clerk; Jesse Ziegler, of Royersford, Reading Clerk. All the churches of the district were represented by delegates and many visitors. The Conference being open to all, The State District has a membership of above 6,000.

The sermon of Wednesday evening was preached by J. W. Myer, of Lancaster city.

The business proper was opened at 8 a. m. on Thursday. The mission work in the State District was given careful consideration, and encouraging reports were given by the workers in the several fields. The new Mission at Lake Ridge, N. Y., looks very promising, that being a fine agricultural country, with land at reasonable prices.

The Sunday-School secretary gave a report showing a marked increase in the schools in attendance, interest and contributions. Upwards of $10,000 was raised during the year for mission work by the district. A new church will be erected at Shamokin, also at Lincoln.

Two new churches are under course of erection at Bareville and Boonsboro, Md. The church house at Ephrata will be enlarged and special accommodations made for the Sunday-school.

The work of the Conference passed off very pleasantly. J. H. Longenecker, of Palmyra, Pa., and John Herr of Myerstown, Pa., will represent the district at the Annual Conference to be held at Hershey, June 2 to 10. Two papers were sent by the Conference to the Annual Conference. The next district meeting will be held at the Mohler meeting-house, near Ephrata, the last Wednesday of April, 1916, and Thursday following.

A surprise party was tendered Mrs. David Heisey who resides on the Baker farm, near Chickies, Friday evening, and to say that she was surprised is putting it mildly. #### 101--He Never Worried

Pincus Zatulove, who never worried, died Monday at the age of 101 years and seven months. His home was in New York city. On July 5, his birthday, his four children, thirty-four grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren gathered at his home and, despite his years, Pincus Zatulove was the life of the party.

Total abstinence from worrying, long walks, plenty of fresh air and moderate indulgence in tobacco and liquor made up Mr. Zatulove's long life recipe. He was born near Kiev, Russia, and came to the United States thirty-five years ago. Until twelve years ago he was engaged in the manufacture of shirts. At that time he retired from business. His wife died fourteen years ago.

Rev. C. D. Rishel Still Agitating Street Markers for Mount Joy

We are looking for a greater Mt. Joy. Its boundary has been enlarged, a greatly needed annex to our Public School building is now being erected. The chocolate factory is assured. What next?

About two years ago the undersigned secured about two hundred and fifty one names to a petition, praying the borough council to pass a bill favoring the placing of sign boards at the several street corners, giving the name of the streets. The petition was presented personally to the Council action had been taken, and for a time it seemed that signboards, so highly serviceable would quickly be placed on our street corners.

Months and years have disappeared in eternity, but the signboards or sign plates where are they? Shall the request of those petitioners, be passed by without more than a passing notice? Why?

It seems singularly strange that our good council, to whom we look for matters pertaining to the best interest of Mount Joy, should without any justifiable reason ignore their humble petition.

I heard from some source that the property holder would object to have signboards nailed against their buildings. Other towns and cities placed these signs regardless of such objections. It is sincerely hoped that our home council will take up this matter at its meeting in May.

RAW FOODS

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D.

This is the season, when the amateur gardener's eyes are delighted by the rows of summer vegetables that are poking their green leaves above the warm earth. The season for raw foods has already arrived.

Lettuce, water-cress, radishes, parsley, cucumbers, leeks, berries and many other toothsome growing things burden the market stalls and tempt the house-wife after the winter menu of canned vegetables.

A certain percent of raw foods is an excellent stimulant to the appetite and a wholesome change at this season of the year. Care should be exercised however, that they are properly cleaned before being eaten. Often the laborers in the truck gardens and those who handle the truck before reaching the consumer are careless in the use of dangerous fertilizers and some pick and prepare the vegetables for market who are also careless to a degree that is almost criminal.

All vegetables to be eaten raw and berries, even at the risk of slightly injuring their flavor, should be thoroughly washed before being eaten.

Gardens should be fertilized with care. No night soil should be used on truck gardens from which the produce may be served uncooked.

Watercress must not be grown in polluted streams. Watercress from polluted streams often produced epidemics of typhoid fever. Bananas should be thoroughly washed as soon as they come into the hands of the consumer, so that the dirt taken on during transportation will not be conveyed to other edibles.
