NO FEEDERS AT PRESENT
State Refuses to Raise Ban on the Feeders and Breeders

The state of Pennsylvania has declared a quarantine for foot and mouth disease against the state of Kentucky and no cattle will be received from that state under any circumstances.

It had been planned to admit cattle for breeding and feeding purposes, but for the present they will be admitted for immediate slaughter, only except from Kentucky, which is under quarantine as far as this state is concerned.

The area in the state which will remain under quarantine includes parts of five counties. Part of Philadelphia is quarantined, together with certain premises in Schuylkill, Warren, Erie and Allegheny, about which a three-mile limit has been drawn.

The rest of the state is free, permits being required for shipments from other states or restricted territory.

The board will permit county fairs and agricultural exhibitions to show live stock this year, if it does not come from quarantined territory.

PAPER MONEY INSTEAD OF GOLD

Change Shocks Old Timers of California, But Otherwise Will Work no Trouble.

One of the interesting results of the establishment of the new Federal reserve banks is the gradual disappearance from ordinary circulation in the far west of gold coin. The Pacific Coast has been the only part of the United States in which gold coin in the pockets and hands of the people has been the regular medium of exchange. In other sections the gold has been in the banks and treasury and has been represented in the pockets of the people by various forms of paper money.

The custom of using gold in California was inherited from the early gold mining days, when private mintage and even gold in an unrefined form was in common use. Aside from its practical advantages, western people have taken pride in maintaining a custom that distinguished their section from the rest of the country. Even during the Civil War and the years immediately following it, when the rest of the nation was on a depreciated paper standard, California remained on a gold standard and boasted of being the only place in the United States where either gold or silver was in general circulation.

Notes and commercial obligations in California have always been payable in gold coin, the fact having been specified on legal papers of all kinds calling for the payment of money. The constant use of gold for large transactions and the absence of pennies have been characteristic of California.

Since the start of the European war and the establishment of the Federal reserve banks, there has been a tendency on the part of the financial institutions to encourage the use of paper money and there is more of this in circulation in the west than ever before. The new money, as being introduced merely enforces on the Pacific Coast the customs of the rest of the country and will do no harm, except to shock the sentiments of the old Californian who will look back with regret to the days when "hard money" was the sole medium of exchange in the golden West.

"ELECTRIC" TOWEL IS LATEST Device Tried Out at Washington Does Work in 30 Seconds.

The new municipal building at Washington, D. C., is equipped with "electro-towels," devised by its superintendent, J. M. Ward. The electro-towel is simply an electric hand-dryer. It looks like a rectangular box with the front face knocked out and set on a pedestal which brings it about waist high. The box is large enough to accommodate an ordinary pair of hands. There is an electric heating device in the stand and a blower which forces the air through ducts into the box on top, where the hands are held while drying. A lever operated by the foot turns the current of hot air into it and sets the blower at work.

Superintendent Ward contends that as the lever is operated by the foot and the hands are merely extended into the box through the open front they come into contact with no part of the device, and so the operation is perfectly sanitary. It takes thirty seconds to dry hands in this way.

FIND ANCIENT COIN IN KANSAS
 Bears Bust of Osirus, Pharaoh of Egypt, 250 B. C.

An Egyptian coin in use about 250 years before the birth of Christ is in the possession of Rev. G. L. Rarick, of Scottsville, Kan. It is a brass coin about as large as an American half dollar. The obverse side of the coin bears the bust of Osirus, Pharaoh of Egypt, who reigned 250 B. C., and was one of Egypt's most beloved rulers.

The reverse side bears a figure of the Sphinx, with the sun rising behind a row of pyramids in the background. Both sides bear various characters and symbols.

It was found about five years ago by Clarence Warner while digging near Lucas, Kan., and presented by him to Mr. Rarick. The coin is in good condition and was pronounced a genuine Egyptian coin of ancient date by Dr. Don Nichols of Philadelphia, an authority on Egyptian curios.

BIG ANCIENT STATUE IS FOUND
 Alexander the Great in Sculpture Unearthed in African Town.

Libya, in Africa, again has given an ancient piece of sculpture to the world. At Cyrene, once the principal city of ancient Cyrenaica, a colossal statue of Alexander the Great, lacking only a part of the right forearm, has been excavated. It is a magnificent marble copy of the celebrated bronze of Alexander by Lysippus, which is known only by the copies of it on coins, the original having been destroyed.

The statue probably was made fifty or sixty years after the original, in the third or fourth century before Christ. It is larger than life and represents Alexander, entirely nude, standing, looking upward, with his right arm outstretched and his left holding a spear, on which he is leaning.

A combination of mirror, comb and identification card to be carried in a person's hat has been patented.

WEEKLY ARTICLES WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE MT. JOY BULLETIN BY DR. DAVID H. REEDER OF CHICAGO, ILL.

Disease or Bullets: It has been estimated that before the war in Europe is over, 30,000,000 men will be lined up with the most deadly weapons they can devise for the purpose and object of killing one another. These men are the best physical specimens to be found in their respective countries. It is almost unbelievable and yet it is a fact, these men are killing one another and the men who can show that he is the most daring and efficient in killing his fellow man is decorated with badges of honor. It is said to cost, however, nearly $4,000 to kill a man with the weapons used. The weaker men, the women and children and the crippled and exhausted men who return from the war must pay the $4,000 in the form of war taxes and yet there are but few, if any, of them that personally would be willing to pay even $4.00 to have one of the citizens of the opposing countries killed.

In most of the large cities we have what we call Gunmen, who will kill a homeless stranger for a few dollars. Now, if we could transport all of these to the front, we would not be particular which "side" of the front. Thirty millions of men seems like an almost incomprehensible number and we speak of this war as the world's greatest calamity, and yet the number that will be killed is small compared to the deaths annually by some of the preventable diseases that afflict humanity. Just think of this for a moment. The population of the whole earth is slightly over 1,900,000,000 which is an increase of 140,000,000 over the population of 4 years ago. Now, if there were some means of killing all of the men engaged in the European war, all of them at one stroke, the population of the earth would still be 110,000,000 more than it was four years ago.

The best efforts of the brainiest men of the world are directed toward stamping out and overcoming disease and increasing the longevity of man. Laws are in force everywhere that are designed to encourage procreation and make criminals of those who seek to prevent it, and yet, at the present rate of increase of population, standing room for fighting will ultimately be at a premium and wars such as the present will be looked upon by our descendants as a mere back yard scrap.

If man life continued to multiply, and it will, animal life must ultimately disappear to make more room for man and his machines. As animal life becomes more rare disease also will become more rare. In time we will recognize the fact that only the physically, mentally and morally fit should be granted the privilege of parenthood and even that privilege will be limited.

Disease is more deadly than bullets, and we are slowly but surely conquering many diseases that were thought to be incurable. Disease kills the weaklings, and the aged, bullets kill the young and strong. In spite of all the wars and in spite of all disease the population of the earth continues and will continue to increase. In time, quality not quantity will be the question for statesmen to solve, otherwise, as science conquers the diseases which kill the weaklings in time if peace, the physical struggle of the strong in wars for bread and elbow room will reduce humanity to a population of weaklings and the upward struggle will again begin at the bottom.
