New Standard Team Has An Even Break of Last Week's Games

The New Standard team met East Petersburg here on Saturday in a very good game. Three times during the contest the score was tied but the locals were finally nosed out in the eighth by one lone tally. The score:

Diamond Dust
This town was well represented at Rossmore Friday afternoon. Just a little stick work would have easily won that game on Saturday.

The game between the Richland and New Standard Clubs should bring out a big crowd. A Marietta lost a fast game to Wrightsville at the latter place on Saturday by a score of 4 to 2.

Mart Beamesderfer and Davie Covener of Elizabethtown, were in the Manheim lineup on Saturday. There is a rumor afloat that the Richland Club will try and get a field and convert it into a diamond. Brinkman, at short for the visitors Saturday, was real classy. He is getting his base ball schooling at Penn.

Cordella defeated Quarryville at the latter place Saturday 6 to 3. On Saturday Cordella plays at Landisville. Greiner, of Lancaster, will be in the box for the New Standard team on Tuesday evening against the Richland Club.

The Mount Joy Juniors went to Landisville Saturday and very easily "skunked" the Juniors there by a score of 9 to 0. Lititz had Ephrata to a 6 to 2 score but "Slimmy" Shenk slipped and the pretzel boys lost out on Saturday 7 to 6.

With Elmer Brown up, Mountville easily defeated Manheim on Saturday 7 to 2. His twirling was a feature, fanning 14. The attendance at the Saturday games is very poor. The receipts will barely pay for the water boys, much less guarantees. Why don't the fans come out and support the team?

The strong Florin base ball team will be the attraction here on Saturday, the game with this team scheduled for Tuesday evening having been postponed on account of wet grounds. One of the worst exhibitions of the national pastime seen at Rossmore in a long time, was the game between Mountville and Ephrata on Friday when the former won in ten innings 11 to 10. Each team used two pitchers and had no less than a half dozen errors.

The New Standard base ball team met Florin here last Thursday in a very good game which was close and interesting. When the battle was over the local team had gone the circuit once oftener than the Florin aggregation and were declared the winners 4 to 3. We were unable to get the box score.

Some Game Thursday
There will surely be something doing in town Thursday evening when the New Standard base ball team meets the Richland Club team. The former team has been playing the greater part of the season and is going good, while the latter has played only a few games, its personnel consisting of such stars as Joe Brene man of the Mountville team, Frank Schock, who has had considerable college and some league experience, Owen Brandt, also an ex-college and league man, and a number of other stars. These teams will play a series of three games and every indication points to a very interesting series. Thursday night's game will be called at 8:10.

From there Mr. Johnston and a Professor of the University will go to Arizona on research work and will be gone for some time. Mr. Johnston feels it quite an honor to be chosen from the many students at that college for this work.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR MOTORISTS

A Temporary Patch
A very serviceable blow-out patch that will take you safely home may be made out of tire tape. Clean the fabric around the blow-out with gasoline and apply strips of tape, first lengthwise and then crossways, until the hole is well covered. Then cover the tape with a thickness of cloth to keep the inner tube from sticking and the patch is complete.

Wire for Connections
The vibration of an automobile make it necessary that wire used for electric connections should be composed of a number of fine flexible strands and this cable be covered with moisture-proof insulation. Special wire for this purpose is furnished by the trade, but for emergency work the ordinary double electric light extension cable will do very well.

Emphatic Tire Points
The more air a tire contains the less it will heat up in service. Over-inflation causes injurious vibration of the whole car. Under-inflation hastens breakdown, but gives easy riding. Heavy cars wear the treads down rapidly, light cars the sides. Drive wheels wear the tires one-fifth faster than front tires. There is no certain mileage in any tire. It's the driver's care that counts.

Casing Repairs
Time is one of the essential factors in doing a good repair job on a tire casing. Several vulcanizations, one over the other will make a better wearing patch, allowing plenty of time between them. Common gasoline now contains some grease and a higher grade should be used for cleaning the rubber. The casing should be left on the demountable rim and fully pumped up when vulcanized.

"Pounding"
If "pounding" is regular and continuous it is likely to be from lost motion in bearings. If irregular and occasional, it is more likely to be due to pre-ignition from incandescent carbon or from imperfect electrical connections. If it is accompanied with an occasional miss, especially if the missing is more frequent when the car is running than when the engine is running idle, it is more apt to be imperfect electric connections.

A Convenience
A piece of canvas 18 inches square is a good "carry-along." It saves the knees when you get in and out of the (out) a prayer on your lips to reach some inaccessible part. It will keep the jack from slipping on ice, snow or wet surfaces. It will keep the inner tube from getting in the mud or dirt when inserting one along the road. It will answer to strain the gasoline, keep the tools from rattling, for protection in handling hot parts and will make an inside blow-out patch that will do very well.

NEW ALARM AND CALL SYSTEM
California's Invention Made Especially for Hotels

A fire alarm and call system, invented by G. M. Homan of Okdale, Cal., is intended especially for hotels. The system is arranged so that if an occupant of a room wishes to be called at any hour, say at 4 a. m., he inserts the plug at that hour on the clock dial in his room. Then when the hour hand of the clock in the office passes over 4 o'clock the circuit closes and the buzzer rings in his room for twenty-five minutes, or until he gets up and pulls the plug. The same action takes place in every other room where the same hour has been plugged. When the call is made in the room the drop on the annunciator board operates and the clerk, after replacing same, makes a note on the register that such a room has received a call, so that no complaint can be brought in.

Fire alarm switches with a red light to designate them are located in various places in the halls, so that in case a fire is discovered the closing of the switch will notify the clerk on which floor the fire is located, by means of a bell and a light. He in turn rings a bell and turns on a light in each room by screwing down a luminous ring on the clock until a contact is made on the dial. If the clock is high on the wall the switch is used. Hence all occupants can be notified at once.

Leo Heckinger Weds
Leo Heckinger, a well known young ball player of Columbia, was married to Miss Daisy Mae Keller at York. "Heck" is a pitcher, having twirled here on numerous occasions, and is well known in this place.

CROWS GLORY IN SHAME
"Birds of Omen" Swag in Black and Pretend That They Like It.

In all times and countries man has regarded crows with superstitious awe, as birds of omen, the familiars of witches and evil spirits, and the confidants of deltines whom they never failed to betray. Odin took them for his heralds and counsellors, but could not trust them, and they blabbed the secrets of all. They were the scoundalmongers of Olympus, and to their evil tongues poor Crotons owed their death. Indra, in wrath at their talebearing, hurled them down through all the hundred stages of his heaven. They would have disclosed to his enemies the hiding place of Mohammed in the rocks of Thaur, but the dove built her nest, and the spider spun her web to hide it. No bird surely had nobler opportunities and everywhere it proved itself unworthy of its trust.

It was satisfactorily established by the old writers that the crows got their blackness in punishment for their sins. It seems to have been a futile punishment, for there is no living thing that shows in its demeanor less evidence of a repentant spirit. Instead of being ashamed of their blackness, crows, as an Indian writer has said, "swag in it, and pretend that they chose that exact shade for themselves."

What color crows were before they were smitten black is uncertain. It is a strange fact that they are most closely allied to the jays and magpies, on one hand, and to birds of paradise on the other, so the possibilities are infinite. But the classical legend that they were originally white gains some support from the frequency with which albinos appear among all kinds of crows.

The voice of almost every member of the crow family has in its very harshness an unbirdlike and partly human quality that could not fail to impress the primitive imagination. In spite of the common idea that crows do nothing but caw, the old augurers recognized no less than 85 intonations of the raven's voice, each with its special significance. From the ringing "Rak! rak! rak!" of the hooded crow, the Swedes have borrowed their fierce cheer, the finest battle cry possessed by any people.

Nearly all the true crows as well as many of their near relatives will pick up more or less of human speech in captivity, and it is sometimes hard to believe that the styness with which they invest their remarks, their aptness and intonations are altogether accidental.—London Times.

Famous Sayings of Naval Heroes
John Paul Jones, naval hero of the Revolutionary War, hoisted for his flag thirteen white and red stripes and inscribed under a serpent ready to strike the motto, "Don't tread on me!" But his most memorable bit of phrasing was his reply to the captain of the Seraph who, at the end of an hour's conflict, asked him to surrender. "I have not yet begun to fight!" retorted Jones. And events justified his assertion, for the Bonhomme Richard (named in compliment to Benjamin Franklin) took the larger vessel. Later, when Jones was told that George III. had knighted the captain of the Seraph for his gallant conduct in the battle, Jones said: "Never mind; if I meet him again I'll make an earl of him!"

Stephen Decatur's destruction of the frigate Philadelphia in the harbor of Tripoli was declared by Lord Nelson to have been "the boldest and most daring act of his age." But it is as an epigrammatist that he is mentioned here. Decatur gave the famous toast at a Norfolk dinner: "Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right, but, our country, right or wrong!"

When Decatur captured the Macedonian her captain, Carden, tendered his sword. The American bowed and said with a smile: "I can't take the sword of a man who has so bravely defended his ship; but I'll thank you for that hat." The two officers had met prior to the beginning of hostilities and each man had bet a hat on the fighting qualities of his ship. This was in the War of 1812-15. The Macedonian lost her mizzenmast. Decatur heard a gunner remark "We've made a brig of her," and immediately gave the order: "Aim for the mainmast, boys, and we'll make her a sloop."

Lawrence's dying words, "Don't give up the ship!"—which you may read upon his tomb in Trinity Churchyard—were the inspiring shout at the battle of Lake Erie.

Perry's victory near Put-in-Bay Island was immortalized by the message written upon a scrap of an old letter this American sent to Washington: "We have met the enemy and they are ours." The "they" inventoried "Two ships, two brigs, one schooner and one sloop."

Commodore Hull, aboard the Constitution, in his memorable engagement with the frigate Guerriere, held his fire until within a few hundred feet of his enemy, although Old Ironsides was shot almost to pieces; then he literally tore the Guerriere to splinters. His command amid the roaring of the enemy's guns: "Now, give her a broadside!" is parodied by Dewey's calm order, "Gridley, you may fire when you are ready!"

Pantheistic
"You admit you are guilty, then," thundered the judge. "Ah do, Judge. Ah's guilty. Ah stole dem pants. But, your honah, dere ain't no sht when de motive ah good. Ah stole dem pants to get baptiz'd in."

widow of the late Jacob S. Hershey, occurred Friday morning at eleven o'clock at her home in Landisville, following an illness of complication of diseases. She was in her 86th year. Deceased was born at Turkey Hill, Manor township. Her father was the late Adam Breneman. She is survived by two daughters, Alice and Lillie, both at home. One sister also survives, Mrs. Elizabeth Eborly of Lititz. One grand-daughter, Miss Anna C. Hershey, also remains, as does one brother, John J. Breneman. The late Benjamin Breneman, whose death only occurred last week, was also a brother of the deceased.

Mrs. Hershey was a member of the Mennonite church. The funeral services were held from the late home on Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock and at ten o'clock at the Mennonite church. Interment was made in the family cemetery, near Marietta.

Christian T. Shenk
Despondent over family affairs, Christian T. Shenk of Millersville, well known in political circles, shot himself in the right temple, in a bedroom of the Kindig House, and died instantly. His body was found by Mrs. Levania Keller, employed at the house, on Sunday.

Mr. Shenk walked into the Kindig House on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock and asked for a room. He registered as Mr. Stranger, Lancaster. He stated to the manager, who knew him as one of his patrons, that he did not want to be disturbed, if there were any calls for him. He retired for the day without partaking of supper. This was the last that was seen of him until his desperate deed was discovered.

When Shenk made no appearance at either breakfast or dinner on Sunday, a search was made for him. The maid knocked a number of times on the door of his room and received no reply. She then tried the door and found it secure. She then notified the manager, and they ascended a number of flights above Shenk's room, and from the balcony saw Shenk's body thru the window of his room, stretched across the bed, a revolver in his right and and lying in a pool of blood.

Shenk was employed at the County prison at one time as a clerk. Lately he had been engaged as foreman in a number of warehouses. He was a former Deputy Revenue Collector and is very well known here, and was the former husband of Elizabeth Swade of this borough, having been divorced about a year ago.

TUMBLE MAY COST A LIFE
John H. Myers, of Elizabethtown, Seriously Hurt by a Fall

John H. Myers, a well known resident of Elizabethtown, on Friday fell from a hay mow, receiving injuries, the extent of which cannot be ascertained at present, but which may prove fatal.

He was assisting in hauling hay on the Grove farm, in the southern part of the borough, and was on the hay mow when the large doors blew shut. Mr. Myers, in trying to push them open with a piece of wood, lost his balance and fell to the ground below, a distance of about twenty feet. He landed on his right shoulder tearing away the cap and otherwise injuring himself internally. Fellow workmen carried him to a nearby house, where Dr. W. B. Thome rendered medical attention. He is about fifty-five years of age, and has a wife and several children.
