

Charles H. Zeller

High Constable of Mt. Joy borough and was also a member of the Borough Council. He served one term as deputy coroner of the borough. He was an active member of the Lutheran Church and had been secretary of the Sunday-school of that church for many years. He was a conspicuous figure in secret society circles and was a member of the following orders: Aurelia Council, No. 162, Sr. O. U. A. M.; Independent Order of Americans, Hermit Castle, No. 68, Knights of the Golden Eagle; White Cross Commandery, No. 159, Knights of Malta; of Lancaster; Williamsport Lodge, No. 145, L. O. O. M. of Williamsport.

His mother, Mrs. Margaret Zeller, and three brothers and sisters survive: John B. S., a clerk at Hotel Weber, Lancaster; Jacob H. Mount Joy; Harry H. Mt. Joy; Mrs. Etta Bennett Mt. Joy; Mrs. C. L. Eby, Lemoyne.

The deceased was a man of strong personality and his years in harness as an auctioneer had made a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. He was a man of engaging personality and was possessed of a fund of humor that made him a delightful acquisition to any gathering of any sort. With his demise passes away one of the last members of the family of auctioneering in Lancaster county.

The funeral, which was exceptionally well attended, took place yesterday afternoon at 1:30 at the house and at two o'clock in the Lutheran church. Interment was made in the Eberle cemetery.

THE MIDDLETOWN FAIR

Big Exhibition and Carnival Company in One Enclosure Next Week

Arrangements have been completed to make the Middletown Fair, which will be held next week, August 24, 25, 26 and 27, the greatest exhibition ever held in Daphnion county. Besides the many fast horses that have been booked for the races, the exhibits in every department will be presented on an enlarged scale.

In addition to the many entertaining Midway attractions, the Great Liberty shows, one of the largest Carnival Companies in the country, will be on the grounds the entire week, giving exhibitions day and night. There will be big fireworks displays Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights.

GAME LAWS MADE PLAIN

Rabbits and Squirrels Cannot be Sold According to Law Enacted

The last legislature passed a game law, introduced by Representative Phillips, of Clearfield, which specifically forbids the sale of rabbits and squirrels killed in the state, and forbids the shipping of all game except when accompanied by the shipper.

The new law prohibits the ownership, transfer, sale or transportation of ferrets except under license which will only be granted by the game commission for good reasons. It forbids the taking of bear in any way except by the use of a rifle or gun shooting only one ball and forbids the trapping of bear in any way. It prevents hunting for hire, by making it illegal for any man paid as a guide or in any other way as a hunter to give, sell or present game of any kind to his employer and similarly forbids the employer receiving game from such employee or guide. It fixes the game season as follows:

Squirrels of all kinds, grouse, woodcock, quail, wild turkey, Monticollan or ring-neck or English pheasant, black birds, Hungarian quail—	October 15 to November 30, inclusive.
Rabbits and hares—	November 1 to November 30.
Deer—	December 1 to December 15.
Bear—	October 15 to December 15.
Raccoon—	October 15 to December 31.

It fixes the bag limits as follows:

Per Day	Per Week	Per Season
Wild Turkey	1	1
Deer (male)	1	1
Bear	1	1
Grouse	5	20
Quail	3	25
Woodcock	10	20
Hungarian Quail	4	10
Ring Neck	4	10
Squirrels	6	20
Rabbits	10	30
Hare	3	15

Ring-neck pheasants raised strictly in captivity may be killed by their owners on their own premises during the open season without regard to number.

It is made unlawful to shoot at any doe or fawn, the penalty being the same as that provided if the deer is killed and similarly the wounding or killing in any manner of female deer and fawns is forbidden.

Formerly Lived Here

Frank Hiteshue, who died in Columbia last week, was a resident of this place fifty years ago, where his father conducted a merchant-tailoring business in the building now occupied by the Herald Printing Co. Another son, Oliver, was killed in the battle of Fort Fisher in the Civil War and the body was brought home for interment.

Maytown High School Picnic
The Maytown High school Alumni Association will picnic at Accomac Saturday, August 21. Many of the alma mater from several states will be present. The committee is arranging a fine program for the pleasure of the guests.

Warsaw is about to put up a sign "This place has changed hands."

RHEEMS

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Sload, the P. R. R. agent of this place spent a few days at Atlantic City.

A. D. Bard and family spent part of last week visiting the Wm. K. Brubaker family at Mountain View.

The P. R. R. maintenance track force received orders to work ten hours per day until further notice.

There still remains whole fields of oats out in the fields awaiting some day that the sun would shine so it can be dried.

Mr. Phares N. Greiner of Springfield, Ill., spent a few days with his brother, N. N. Greiner and family on Greider avenue.

Messrs. P. E. Groff and Ray Helsey spent part of last week at Philadelphia, where they purchased a Maxwell touring car.

Mr. Milton Paulus, a prominent East Donegal township farmer attended the Johns Keller stock sale last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Amanda S. Kready and son Robert took a hike across the country one day last week visiting in Maytown, Marietta and the Fleethers peach orchard.

Mr. Jos. A. Fisher, a R. F. D. mail carrier at Flushing, O., arrived at the Jos. W. Kraybill residence last Saturday where he joined his family who have been in the East the past month.

The Landis Bros. have sold a car load of Reo Autos recently to farmers in this vicinity. Mr. Henry Miller a prominent farmer of near Bainsbridge took possession of one of these famous Reo 1916 model cars last week.

One evening last week about 8 o'clock the main trolley wire was broken about one half mile east of this place causing a delay to traffic for several hours. Robert Forney pressed his jitney into service for a short while.

Owing to the daily rains the past four weeks it has become necessary for the Landis Bros. to have a large pump in operation to keep the water in check in order to get the high grade of lime stone to their pulverizing plant where they put the meal into bags 100 lbs. each at the rate of 70 bags per hour.

Last Monday evening an unknown drunk driving a faithful bay horse attached to a buggy. The man was rather small being able to crouch upon the seat and sleep while the horse went too and fro on the pike dodging the autos. Attracting quite a crowd around him when the horse stopped.

They Must Be Healthy

The efforts of the Pennsylvania Railroad to insure that no person with even a tendency toward a communicable disease shall have anything to do with serving food on its trains and in its restaurants have had results. A quarterly report just made to the Company of an examination made of all the Pullman employees who serve food in buffet broiler Pullman cars on the Pennsylvania Railroad, shows that not a single one of the 65 employees was found to have any trace of a communicable disease.

Carranza's title of first chief seems to be tautological as well as misleading.

TOWER OF CHIMES.

The bell tower erected in honor of Lewis Miller by Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, his daughter, and other children. A huge set of Meneely chimes tell the hour, tell the curfew and play over popular airs and hymn tunes for the "20,000 friendly folks" at Chautauqua, N. Y. Its cupola offers a splendid view of Chautauqua lake.

Religious Conference Program at Chautauqua, N. Y.

Religious interest at Chautauqua Institution, Chautauqua, N. Y., has always been a "live" rather than a dominating factor in that remarkable assembly which Theodore Roosevelt has called "the most American thing in America."

Bishop Vincent, the founder, always attracted the ablest and most sincere men from all walks of life for his famous sixty day forum program, whether they were ministers of statesmen or presidents of the United States.

Most summer assemblies are either operated by some religious sect as a philanthropy or are launched as a commercial enterprise pure and simple. Chautauqua Institution, however, was carefully kept on a non-sectarian basis from its very beginning in 1874. Every denomination has been invited to its platform and church houses are at present maintained by Congregational, Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, Protestant Episcopal, Baptist, Disciples, Unitarian and Lutheran societies.

Dean Shailer Mathews of Chicago, Theological secretary and president of the Federated Council of Churches has charge of the religious department, its lectures and study courses. Other famous preachers, such as Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, president of Armour Institute, Chicago; Bishop Charles D. Williams, Episcopal Bishop of Michigan; Bishop Francis J. McConnell of Denver; Dr. Samuel B. McCormick, University of Pittsburgh, take part at Chautauqua, N. Y.

Injured Romance

"It certainly looked as though Providence was helping us," said the woman who had just got back from her summer home in the country. "My youngest sister, Sallie, is at the romantic period that all girls live through when all you can do to save them is to lock them up in a dungeon, and the law won't allow that! I've been so worried for fear she would marry that man! The trouble is he looks so attractive! But I knew the first time I laid eyes on him that if he lost his money his wife would be the one who would have to slave and economize instead of him. I felt it in my bones that if the coffee was poor he'd make her wish she had died when she was young and happy! But there wasn't a bit of using Sallie that! I even listed sympathetically when she raved over his taste in neckties, the superb fit of his clothes and the way he looked at one when he talked. And yet they say that girls should be allowed to pick out their own husbands!"

"My heart sank when he came across the lake to visit us. Before his arrival I had hopes of John Derrick, who is so much everything that a girl should fall in love with that of course Sallie wouldn't pay any attention to him at all."

"Gerald was quite the most beautifully got-up individual," continued the woman who had just got back from her summer home, "when he came out in his white flannels, that you could hope to see, and he bent over Sallie like a duke when he handed her anything. John had to go fishing alone that evening, because Gerald kept Sallie on the porch. He said he was surprised that she would ruin her hands with hooks and minnows and such things. That settled it! A man who dislikes fishing has a kink of some sort in his character. Sallie just sat there drinking in his monologue on higher art and ethics of life and the poetry about her eyes. Meanwhile, poor John was down alone on the pier getting pneumonia maybe and mosquito bites certainly, with no one to sympathize with him. I could have slapped Sallie with good will."

"John came back to our place to dump what was left of the bait in the minnow tub and to say good night, and then he went down to his cottage like a soldier, leaving Sallie on the porch with his hated rival. He remarked casually that he believed he'd start early next morning on the canoe trip that he had spoken of and would be gone several days. I could see Gerald's eyes gleam with satisfaction, and Sallie seemed stricken dumb for a minute with surprise. However, she turned to Gerald the next second with a satisfied sigh that sent John careening off through the geranium bed, thinking it was a path."

"Finally I called Sallie in and said it was getting late. Gerald said he believed he'd walk down to the pier and smoke a last cigar and he held Sallie's hand longer than he had any business to when he said good night."

"I was nearly asleep when Sallie woke me. She said that there were queer noises in the yard below. We tiptoed to her window and listened. Now, you have to keep minnows in something big and we have ours in a tub out near the house. And the man who brought the load of stones for the rocky two days before had spilled them out near the same place. I could make out a white gleam and I whispered to Sallie that it must be Gerald returning. The white blot stopped suddenly with an awful 'woof!' and I knew he had run into the strip of chicken wire stretched between two trees to keep pedestrians out of a flower bed. He tried again and banged into a tree. Then quite distinctly I heard his opinion of people who did not have electric lamp-posts and cement walks in the country."

"My goodness!" Sallie gasped, in horror. "Hush!" I told her. His exquisites sensibilities are hurt and you can't blame him! Then he came on in the dark again carefully. He stubbed his toe over one rock that had rolled out from the rest, and swore. Then in two seconds he plunged headlong into all of them. The carnage was awful and the language illuminating."

"Be quiet!" I ordered when Sallie moaned. "What can you expect when his beautiful ideals get bumped that way?"

"Just as Gerald straightened up and struck out again he hit the minnow tub and went in head first. Those fish must have been surprised to shoot through the air as they did."

"Sallie was clutching me and weeping over his terrible temper, but I had presence of mind enough to remind her that his nature was very fine. Then I dragged her into a kimonos and down stairs with me, because I wanted to complete the lesson. I had the lights on when Gerald finally got in. He looked like a cross bear and the victim of a steam roller and a drowning. I said sweetly we had come to see if he needed any help and then Sallie fled."

"She seemed sort of subdued during the rest of Gerald's visit and when John came back she literally fell on his neck. Yes, they're to be married at Christmas! Oh, mercy not! To John, of course."

RU-BER-OID

ROOFING
COSTS MORE - WEARS LONGER

Every roll of RU-BER-OID that we have sold has given perfect satisfaction.

We know that RU-BER-OID is made of better materials than any other roofing that we could lay. It contains no paper, wood fibre, tar, asphalt or other short-lived materials such as are found in cheaper roofings.

RU-BER-OID roofs put on more than 20 years ago are still water-tight and look as good as new.

RU-BER-OID roofing always looks well. Its color is attractive gray—the same shade as more expensive slate. Colored RU-BER-OID (Koloroid) is made in permanent Tile Red and Copper Green.

Come in and let us show you this roofing, which is so good that it is widely imitated. So called "Rubber roofings" are counterfeits. There is only one RU-BER-OID. The genuine has the "Ru-ber-oid Man," shown above, on every roll.
