Farmers Column
VERY VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR THE FARMERS

Care and Feeding of Young Chickens
Shipping Poultry Products—Farms Adapted to all Kinds of Poultry—The Little Things Will Count

The little things on the farm this year will likely mean more than ever before. The chickens, eggs, butter, fruit, vegetables, etc., will provide a living on most any farm if attention is given to them. And the living is the most important and the most expensive item in the farmer's account. Why not study how to make a living with little things and leave the larger things for cash income?

No one should start into the growing of poultry on a large scale with the idea of getting much out of fancy breeding and showing. Better start with the production of a fine line of table eggs and dressed poultry and in the course of years branch out into the fancy business. It takes much more knowledge and experience to handle the fancy side than it does the practical side.

Poultry which is to be shipped by mail must be marked perishable. The carcasses must be suitably wrapped in oiled paper, then in heavy corrugated pasteboard, then an outside wrapper of good, strong paper, or enclosed in boxes so constructed as to protect the other parcels. Eggs in parcels weighing more than twenty pounds will be accepted for local delivery when so packed as to prevent damage to other mail.

There is room enough, feed enough and time enough on most farms to raise several different kinds of fowls. Not only could a large flock of pure bred chickens be kept, but turkeys, geese, ducks and guineas could also be raised. Where one lives within reach of a city or good shipping facilities it would not be a very difficult matter to make several hundred dollars a year in clear profit from the fowls on the farm. Much depends upon the interest taken and the facilities for raising the birds and marketing the products.

Studies at the Missouri agricultural experiment station warrant the following recommendations in regard to the care and feeding of young chicks. During the first two days of the chick's life it should rest and be kept warm. It is better without having food until it is forty eight hours old. Then the following mixture should be fed in dry litter and also in a shallow tray: three parts finely cracked corn, one part steel cut oats. Keep some of this in the litter at the time. Chicks should have access to a clean drinking fountain which should be so constructed that they cannot get themselves wet. It is also desirable to give them access to sour skim milk or buttermilk. Twice daily the chicks should receive rolled oats of the following mixture: three parts bread crumbs, three parts corn bread, one part boiled egg. This mixture may be fed dry or it may be moistened with sour milk. A very small amount of charcoal and finely cut green food should also be fed. Continue the mixture of wheat, corn and oats until the chicks are four weeks old, changing gradually from the finer to more coarsely ground feed. Keep the following mixture in a box where chicks may run to it at all times: 20 parts wheat bran, 20 parts corn meal, 30 parts wheat middlings, ten parts beef scrap, sifted fine, and one part bone meal. Keep fine charcoal and grit where chicks may have free access to it. Feed four times daily. Continue the feed and give the chicks milk. It may be advisable to feed a wet mash once a day at 4 p. m. Feed only what the chicks will eat up clean before going to roost. Change gradually from chick food to cracked corn and wheat. Chickens that are not yarded should be fed corn and wheat in litter as a scratch food and should also have access to a dry mash in a hopper where they can help themselves. Raise chickens with the simplest rations possible. Clean food, consisting of cracked and ground grain; animal food, such as sour milk, butter milk, commercial meat scrap and bone meal; clean water, plenty of shade, comfortable and dry quarters, freedom from lice and access to clean, fresh earth are essentials for successful brooding.

The inventory of the personal estate of Mrs. Mary L. Baer, dec., late of Lancaster, widow of Reuben A. Baer, has been filed. It is made up of stocks, bonds, mortgages and other securities and the aggregate is $362,139.19. Her largest holdings were 275 shares of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company appraised at $55 per share, a total of $15,125 and 235 shares of the Farmers Trust Company appraised at $255 per share, a total of $59,925. She had on deposit subject to check $36,676.59.

The inventory of $362,139.19 does not include the valuable residence on East Orange street. The foundation of her fortune was laid by her deceased husband, as the publisher of Baer's Almanac, a German Weekly paper and a book store. She added largely to it since his death by profitable investments.

ELDERLY WOMEN SAFEGUARDED

Tell Others How They Were Carried Safely Through Change of Life.

Durand, Wis.—"I am the mother of fourteen children and I owe my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I was 45 and had the Change of Life, a friend recommended it and it gave me such relief from my bad feelings that I took several bottles. I am now well and healthy and recommend your Compound to other ladies."
—Mrs. MARY RIDGWAY, Durand, Wis.

A Massachusetts Woman Writes:
Blackstone, Mass.—"My troubles were from my age, and I felt awfully sick for three years. I had hot flashes often and frequently suffered from pains. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now am well."
—Mrs. PIERRE COURNOYER, Box 229, Blackstone, Mass.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backache, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness, should be heeded by middle-aged women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has carried many women safely through this crisis.

vania will receive five per cent. of that amount, or $18,106, she leaving no direct heirs. There are seventeen nephews and nieces to inherit the estate. They live in all sections of the country.

SALUNGA
Mr. Frank Bair has settled in the old homestead.
Mr. John Spangler is quite sick with a complication of diseases.
We are informed that one resident of Baconville, folded his umbrella under his arm and took flight westward.
One or two tenants have failed to vacate their late homes thus causing some ill feelings between certain individuals.
The day of free pikes is coming our way and we hope also the waistless steam engine will soon be among the things of the past.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonas E. Miller on Sunday entertained Rev. Hottenstein, Elias Eby and family, Samuel Eby and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kauffman.
Mr. Walter Peifer and sister Miss Elizabeth, made a run to Philadelphia, to visit friends and also attended the Methodist Conference. They returned highly pleased with what they saw and heard.
Some of our April fittings were the Sertzer family into the home bought from Elias Homberger Jr. Al Dattisman from the Jacob Herr home near Mastersonville; Harry Gibble into part of Mrs. Susan Newcomer's home; Roy Raffensberger to the home vacated by Samuel Montooth at Chiques; Harry Strickler to the home purchased from Howard Peifer; Ben T. Rogers to Gap, Pa.; and J. Howard Peifer into the home vacated by Amos Bertsfield.

The procession of movings or fittings is turning out to such an extent that we can soon have the pleasure of recognizing and judging of our latest neighbors. The weather for moving and gardening has thus far proved extremely trying to the most patient housekeeper but the time is not very distant when spring fever will succeed. While pointing our pencil we cast our eyes out of the window and behold an auto completely enshrouded in a cloud of dust where one week ago it required a good strong engine to drive a car through six or 8 inches of Lancaster county mud on our Harrisburg pike.

Fair Haven, Vt.—"I was so nervous and run down that I could not do my housework for my little family of three. I had doctored for nearly two years without help. One day I read about Vinol, and thanks to it, my health has been restored so I am doing all my housework once more. I am telling all my friends what Vinol has done for me."

Worth Careful Thought

Do you read the label to know whether your baking powder is made from cream of tartar or, on the other hand, from alum or phosphate?

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes, and adds to the food only wholesome qualities.

Other baking powders contain alum or phosphate, both of mineral origin, and used as substitutes for cream of tartar because of their cheapness.

Never sacrifice quality and healthfulness for low price.
