DRESS
Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D.

Unquestionably Eve was the first human being to concern herself with the matter of costume.

Today, some evidence to the contrary, the primary object of clothing is to protect the body from heat and cold. Man's dress has through all ages, of necessity, conformed more or less to these practical purposes.

When it comes to stemming a tide the king of Romania is now in a position to appreciate exactly how the late Canute felt about it.

HOME HEALTH CLUB
By Dr. David H. Reeder, Chicago, Ill.

Epilepsy: During all the ages of recorded history there has been reports of the terrifying fits of people subject to epileptic seizure. I presume that as much study, thought and earnest research has been devoted to the fearful malady as to Cancer and until the present day the results so far as a cure has been concerned have been about equal.

Dr. Wm. Hold has devoted many years to the study and treatment of the disease and of his results I will let him tell you. The interesting feature about Dr. Held's method, which he offers freely to the profession, lies in the fact that he offers to treat, free of expense, one hundred cases for the Home Health Club. He does this in order to prove to the world that his simple, safe and sane and harmless method is a real cure for the dreaded scourge. I will be glad to hear from any sufferer and extend Dr. Held's offer to any of my readers. Dr. Held's article will appear in several instalments, the first of which follows:

The interest in the subject of epilepsy is in many respects a social one. The epileptic problem affects people outside of the domain of the medical profession and is not only important from the standpoint of disease, but its features ramify into the legal, moral and social sphere more than any other similar condition. There is for instance, a very vital medico-legal connection as in the relation of epilepsy to crime; there are moral and hygienic considerations as suggested by the fact that several states have enacted laws prohibiting the marriage of epileptics; then there are the precautions taken by those states who have established epileptics' colonies for the protection of both the epileptic and society.

Apparently in full possession of their physical and mental faculties, in the midst of their occupation, while at work or at play, waking or sleeping, in church, in school and on the street, sometime with and again without warning, the patient is suddenly seized, swept of consciousness and thrown into the epileptic state which may vary in degree from a slight, fleeting unconsciousness to the most violent convulsions, spoken of as the epileptic fit.

The epileptic problem engaged the attention of ancient healers and it seems as if the problem were staring at us like an oppressive memory from that time, with the same sphynx-like attitude as in the misty past. Sphynxlike, because in the light of accepted standard theories the problem has remained unanswered. The spectacle of the convulsive fit so impressed the ancients as something uncanny and weird, that their fertile imagination soon ascribed supernatural significance to the disease. They looked upon it as a dispensation of the gods and termed it the "Sorbis Sacer" or holy sickness. The medicine man of the dark age insisted that the patient was possessed by an evil demon.

ADVERTISING A SALE!
YOU don't leave your rig in the middle of the road and go to a fence-post to read a sale bill do you? Then don't expect the other fellow to do it.

Put an ad in this paper, then, regardless of the weather, the fellow you want is ready to pay for your announcements while seated at his bedside.

If he is a prospective buyer you'll have him at your sale. One extra buyer often pays the entire expense of the ad—and it's your ad that won't print that buyer.

An ad in this paper reaches the people you are after. Bills may be a necessity, but the ad is the thing that does the business.

Don't think of having a special sale without using advertising space in this paper.

One Extra Buyer at a sale often pays the entire expense of the ad. Get That!

I'D LIKE TO OWN A LITTLE PLACE BESIDE THE SOUNDING SEA; A BOATHOUSE AND A BUNGALOW WOULD JUST AGREE WITH ME.

STRANGER, I RECKON THIS IS IT BEYOND THE SLIGHTEST DOUBT. BUT IF YOU WANT A BETTER VIEW COME WHEN THE TIDE IS OUT.

Yes We Sell the Letz Grinder Because it Stays Sold

10 Reasons Why You Should Buy a LETZ FEED MILL

- Fine Grinding
- Wet Grain Grinding
- Light Running
- Silent Running
- Quick Changeable Plates
- Self-Sharpening Plates
- Self-Aligning Plates
- Long Life
- Large Capacity
- Efficient End Thrust Bearing

Letz plates shear the grain instead of crushing it, therefore require less power. One farmer tells us he has ground 90 bushels of corn in one hour in his Letz.

We sell the Letz because it does the business.
