Nissley Characteristics.

Characteristics of the Nissley family were discussed in a paper prepared by H. N. Nissly, cashier of the Union National Bank, of this place, Mr. Nissley was unable to be present and in his absence the paper was well read by his daughter Miss Carrie N. Nissly. The outstanding characteristics as catalogued were substantially as follows:

Beginning with the earliest families, the Nissleys were agriculturists to the sixth generation without any exception that we know. They were, likewise, very adept with tools, and the blacksmith and work shop was an essential adjunct to the early Nissley homesteads. They were a very thrifty people. Religiously, they are largely members of the Mennonite Church, in the records of which nite Church, in the records of which are found the names of many Nissleys, as among its preachers and leaders, and regular attendants at

A Chart and History.
A very carefully prepared chart and history of the first Nissley family in America was given by Amos R. Nissley, of Florin. This history was exceedingly interesting, and brought to the attention of many who brought to the attention of many who heard it, some facts that had never before been known, as to when the first Nissley came to America, and where his original location was. It may be of general interest to Lancastrians to know that nearly the entire northeastern section of Lancaster was at one time owned and corpored. was at one time owned and occupied not only by the first (Jacob) Nissley but by two or three of his immediate descendent generations following.

Another item of interest has been Another item of interest has been discovered, that when the tract finally passed into the possession of others than the Nissleys, that the following reservation was made and recorded: "Saving and excepting always the family graveyard as the same is now enclosed, which hath heart for a heart result." lowing reservation was made and recorded: "Saving and excepting always the family graveyard as the same is now enclosed, which hath heretofore been used and appropriated, and is to remain and continue as and for a burial place, under the direction of the descendants and the heirs of Jacob Nissley, deceased, forever."

The emigrant ancestors of the Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Miller, Mr. Norman S. Miller, Mr. Norman S. Miller, Mr. Norman S. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Da

reirs of Jacob Nissiey, deceased, for-ever."

The emigrant ancestors of the Nissley family were granted a war-rant by the Provincial Land Office on July 27, 1717, so this reunion was in reality, a celebration of the two-hundredth anniversary of their first hundredth anniversary of their first claim upon land in America.

This history as given by Mr. Nissley, also very clearly brought out the successive changes of the several families, the descendants of the first Nissley in America, until he reached that portion of the history which located Martin Nissley, Jr., on the homestead where this reunion was held.

Walter N. Rutt, of Florin, gave a history and list of descendants.

J. Clarence Reist, of this place, talked on the subject of some of the early Nissley possessions, showing that they have always been large land owners, without almost any exception. Mr. Reist used a chart in which he showed the exact lines of tracts as owned in the earlier days of the familiar including the large from from owned in the earlier days of the family, including the larger one from which the homestead at which the reunion was held, was a part. He also has in his possession several deeds. one of which is a patent deed, bearing date of 1759, securing 350 acres in Mount Joy township, which afterward became the Nissley, of Lancaster was present, and gave a talk which was much enjoyed by all present.

A Permanent Organization A permanent organization was effected, as follows: President, J. E. Nissley, Guthrie, Okla.; Vice President, Amos R. Nissley, Florin; Secretary, Henry F. Garber, Florin; Treasurer, J. Clarence Reist, of this place; Executive Committee, E. G. Reist, of this place; Amos Fridy, Elizabeth-town; M. N. Reesor, Fontana; Amos Hershey, Manheim; H. N. WHAT IS FOOD ECONOMY Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D.

Hysteria of the individual is very Hysteria of the individual is very catching, often becoming an epidemic. Community hysteria in a representative form of government destroys its efficiency. Hysterical people are apt to run to great excesses and neglect those things in life which are of the greatest importance, not only to the success of the individual but of the community. At present, we find individuals and whole communities hysterical on the whole communities hysterical on the economy of food-stuffs, even to the extreme of confining themselves to a maize (corn) diet instead of having a well balanced diet with the variety of food that will not only stimulate the appetite and the digestive glands, but will meet Nature's demands.

Man is an omniverous being. can best economize by eating what agrees with us. To resist tuberculosis and other wasting diseases and to keep in the best form for the working of our physical and mental body, particularly in these times of high nervous tension, we should have meat or some good vegetable protein as a substitute in moderation once a

In addition to this we want fat, preferably butter or cream or fats of animals, the latter only cooked sufficiently to heat them through. With he proteins and fats we want a carthe proteins and tats we want a car-behydrate (starch or sugar).

Today there are many diet lists being given to the public worked up into tables based upon their heat-producing power. The trouble with these diet receipts is that they are based upon tests made upon those having perfect digestion and a nor-mal amount of physical exercise in a normal atmosphere.

Life is a factor scientific medicine cannot measure. It forbids the human body from being compared with an inorganic machine or test tube experiments in the laboratory.

The digestive tract and its many glands that vary in their powers to prepare food for the assimilation of the body, are governed by the nervous system. They vary greatly in their life power to produce digestive secretions. For the reasons given each individual, after once realizing that meats, fat, starches and sugar are necessary in various proportions to maintain his health, vill have to make an intensive study of what digests, so as to give him the best health and keep up his weight to give him energy, and per-mit him to sleep, and to be of good

You will always find that people differ from each other in their selection of foodstuffs, some doing well on a large proportion of vegetable food, others doing better on a reasonable amount of meat and carbonydrates or starch, while others have to avoid starches and sugar to prevent violent indigestion and illegalth.

We often find powerful men who live on very little food, while many frail, illy-nourished people have good appetites and eat plenty. These things are hard to explain. The laws Nature are so profound that even today in this scientific age we find the digestion of people differs so that we must at present attribute it to the variation of life force. From our actual experience in life, after long devotion to the feeding of people, we have learned that a mixed diet is essential to good health. The practical experience of the individual must be a factor in guiding him in the selection of foods and the quantity he can eat.
