COLORED MAN KILLED AT RHEEMS

PREMATURE EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE AT A QUARRY, SHATTERED HIS LEG AND HE DIED AT THE HOSPITAL

A premature explosion of dynamite, which occurred at the quarries of the Pennsylvania Lime, Stone and Cement Company, at Rheems, Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock, shattered the right leg of John Williams, colored, 35 years of age, of Rheems, which resulted in his death, that evening at 5 o'clock, in the General hospital.

Coroner Benjamin S. Dillinger and his physician, Dr. John J. Newpher, of this place, held an investigation at the hospital that night and decided that death was purely accidental, the explosion causing a compound, comminuted fracture of the right knee, which produced a great amount of hemorrhage and the shock was the direct result of Williams' death.

Williams was employed by the company as a dynamiter, and he with several others were in the act of connecting the wires to discharge a quantity of dynamite. The charge had been placed in the drilled hole, and Williams was connecting the wires to the fuse, when it exploded. Williams' right leg was almost torn from his body, the flesh being completely blown away, and the bones shattered. Roy Schroll, a fellow worker, within fifteen feet of the explosion was untouched, injured either by shrapnel or the force of the discharge.

Other employees hurriedly took Williams to the office of Dr. A. F. Snyder, of this place, who immediately ordered him to the Lancaster General hospital, to which institution he was admitted at 4:45 o'clock. Death followed in one hour.

That the explosion of the dynamite was premature was the discharge due to the fact that the method of tearing loose the rocks, was first to drill a hole, in which a small charge of dynamite was exploded, thus enlarging the hole. A second charge was further enlarged the opening, and the third charge of a large quantity of the dynamite was to render apart the side of the hill, had workers accordingly to reports, had exploded the first two charges in quick succession, which caused the earth to become heated, and when the third charge was placed, the heat caused the explosion.

IS FREED FROM BLAME OF KILLING A WOMAN

Coroner E. R. Miller exonerated J. Omar Nissley from all blame in connection with the killing of Mrs. Susanna Gehman on last Tuesday evening at the corner of West Chestnut and Mulberry streets, Lancaster, by his automobile. The coroner held an investigation, at the police station on Friday evening. He deemed it unnecessary to select a jury, as no conflicting elements were at issue.

The testimony of a number of witnesses tended to show that the accident was unavoidable. None of the witnesses called could state that the automobile was running at an excessive speed, the only witness to the fatal accident was Boyd Winklebeck. He saw the woman struck and killed, but he could not ascertain at what rate of speed the automobile was running. He stated he heard a grinding noise of the brakes just before the automobile struck Mrs. Gehman. She was then turned over several times and thrown beneath the machine. She was dragged about fifty feet, he said. Mr. Nissley, who was driving the car, is a son of Clayton L. Nissley. The family formerly resided at Donegal Springs where they have many friends.

MANY MEN WILL BE RE-EXAMINED

EXEMPTION CLAIMED MUST AGAIN BE PRESENTED—QUESTIONNAIRES ARE NOW BEING CIRCULATED TO DISCHARGED MEN

Washington, Nov. 17.—New regulations under which the remaining available of the nine million men registered for military duty will be drafted for service with the colors were announced to-day by Provost Marshal General Crowder. The new regulations are coincident with the division of eligibles into five classes, and the circulation of the official questionnaires, which have been discussed in previous announcements. The new regulations, as has been announced before, repeal all preceding regulations, cancel all exemptions and discharges granted under the old system and restore every registered man to his original status. He will hereafter be required to undergo all examinations anew and present his claims for exemption again.

As the new classifications make more liberal provision for leaving men with dependents in the classes to be called last, it is practically certain every man who had a legitimate exemption on the ground of dependency under the old regulations will get the same under the new ones. The first-class which embraces men wholly without dependents is expected to bring in fully two million men. The questionnaires now are being circulated among the registrants at the rate of five per cent. of each local registration each day. Voluntary medical and legal boards being organized in each district will assist registrants in making out the forms and supporting affidavits which are very complete.

The effect of the regulations is to close the ranks of the Army, Navy or Marine Corps absolutely to men between twenty-one and thirty-one years of age, where they have dependents in the home, who would suffer if they went to the front. Local boards are constituted judges of all such cases.

For the first time also a way is provided in which men physically unqualified for front line duty in the Army, and yet able to do some part of the work of a soldier, may be called for limited military service behind the lines. Partial physical exemption may be granted by local boards to create this new classification.
