

Charred WICKS

Why? You have an old pair of scissors handy. You keep snipping a little here, a little there, trying to keep the flame even. The same thing every evening; but don't blame it all on the wick. If you use

ATLANTIC Rayolight OIL

Instead of ordinary kerosene, you won't have charred wicks. There's a great difference in kerosenes. Rayolight Oil is so perfectly refined and scientifically purified that it always gives a sure, true light and an even, steady heat without smoking, sputtering or any nasty burny odors. Results like that are worth being particular about. Insist on getting Rayolight Oil. You'll always find it at stores that display the sign: "Atlantic Rayolight Oil for Sale Here." That store is a good place to deal regularly, too.

It's a scientific fact that, of any artificial light, a kerosene lamp is the most restful and pleasing to the eyes.

BEING SCHOOLLED AT CAMP MEADE

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS TEACH LADS OF FOREIGN BIRTH ENGLISH LANGUAGE— 300 WERE REJECTED

Camp Meade, Md., Nov. 19—It has been found that there are several illiterates among the men sent to Camp Meade from Pennsylvania and Maryland. To meet this condition, elementary schools have been established in the various units, and a course in the three Rs has become an obligatory upon such rookies as their military training. The method established makes it possible to teach the lads of foreign birth, who never learn the tongue of the land of their adoption.

In addition to the English classes, the lads are also being taught to speak French. The officers, too, are attending the French classes, and are acquiring a rudimentary knowledge of the tongue which they will need when the new army goes overseas.

The French instructors in the methods of warfare are also helping the lads master their language. The school, however, that is the object of greatest interest to the men, is the training camp for second lieutenants which is open here after January. All recommendations of men for this special course of training are to be in hand by December 1, and the lads are anxious to leave the camp and go to the front. There is only a possibility of about sixty men in each regiment being chosen to go in training for a commission.

It was announced that the rule against visitors coming into the cantonment on any day other than those set aside for visiting will be rigidly enforced. The men are now getting down to a hard course of intensive training, and the authorities do not intend that any one shall disturb them or observe them in training. Then, too, all visitors will be obliged to leave the reservation after 6 o'clock in the evening on visiting days.

Some friends and relatives of lads whose homes are somewhat distant have made the journey on days not set aside for visiting and were somewhat perturbed when admittance to the reservation was refused by the military police.

A list of about 300 men rejected for various reasons was given out at division headquarters. Most of the men were eliminated from the new army because of physical disqualifications. Some were exempted because they had been induced into the army through fraud. About eighty-two are Philadelphians. Four are from Maryland and the others from districts in Pennsylvania outside Philadelphia.

GROWING CROPS WITHOUT POTASH

The high price of potash has, in many cases, rendered farmers skeptical as to the possibility of turning a profit from its use. On the other hand demand for potash on the part of potato and truck growers has been greater than the supply. In some cases growers have even considered giving up the production of certain crops because of their inability to obtain what they consider to be sufficient potash.

That crops can be successfully grown without potash has been shown in recent experiments of the Maine experiment station. In 1915 potatoes grown without potash averaged 110 barrels per acre. With eight per cent potash in the fertilizer the average was 120 barrels. The use of potash was not markedly profitable.

In 1916 the same experiment station had two demonstrations, one on land unfertilized for two years, and the other on land which had had a high potash fertilizer for several years. The first experiment gave 104 barrels per acre without potash in the fertilizer, and 154 barrels where three per cent potash was included in the fertilizer. Potash, even at present-day prices, was enormously profitable. The potato crop, however, was profitable even where no potash was used.

The second experiment of 1916 was on land where a seven per cent potash fertilizer had been used the two years previously. The no-fertilizer crop was 120 barrels per acre. Eight per cent potash in the fertilizer gave 157 barrels. Indications are that there was a considerable residue of potash in the soil which was still available for the needs of the crop.

The New Jersey experiment station has carried out experiments of this kind on the typical sandy soils of that state. In one case a yield of 400 bushels of potatoes per acre was obtained with fertilizer containing two per cent potash. Incidentally, however, this was in a region where ten per cent potash fertilizers had been largely used in preceding years.

Doctor Brigham, commissioner of agriculture of Vermont, reports that potash on his farm increased the yield of potatoes 97 bushels per acre. The crop without potash was also worth while.

Save Pennies—Waste Dollars

Some users of printing save pennies by getting inferior work and lose dollars through lack of advertising value in the work they get. Printers as a rule charge very reasonable prices, for none of them get rich although nearly all of them work hard.

HIGHER PRICES FOR TOBACCO GROWERS

1916 scrap is now selling on a basis of 22c to 25c per pound. The present demand for good 1917 tobacco for 1918 bidders and wrappers justify the growers not placing any price upon their 1917 crops until some of the scrap is stripped so as to determine to what class each individual crop belongs.

According to 1917 prices already established on all active Southern markets, this excellent Lancaster County tobacco ought to command a delivery price from 30 to 40c per pound for wrappers, 20 to 25c for frosted, 15 to 20c for sized fillers, and 10 to 15c for scrap, for well sorted crops; 20 to 22c for severely frosted crops laid loose in bales; and 15 to 20c through for bad hail cut.

Many growers have already secured enough facts at my office, 749 Woolworth Building, to make them from $20.00 to $30.00 per acre on their individual 1917 crops.
