PLAIN CLOTHING

This old established firm, WATT AND SHAND who have been doing business in the center of the business district of Lancaster city have carried PLAIN CLOTHING in the stocks almost as long. They have always been proud of the selections of PLAIN CLOTHING which they carried in their stock.

They were always very careful to see that the garments were made to order with the wishes of the Plain sects, the quality of the materials was first and then the fit and the tailoring. Each one of these essentials had to be perfect before a garment was offered for sale.

The same points are considered today and the quality has increased enormously since those first days.

The guarantee of a perfect Fit still in force.

The quality of the materials and the workmanship and tailoring of the garments of the same high grade.

We are prepared to meet all demands for plain clothing. We have suits in stocks while the made to measure section is perfection; the service is the finest, the most satisfactory in the country, because our customers are satisfied.

should be re- frumpery which have fastened themselves on our medical faculties and our state examining bodies. Medical students should be accepted before their intellectual and moral enthusiasm has been fagged out by agnostic collegiate disciplinarianism. Until the end of the war a high school education, with the urge that goes with it to do, is a better equipment for a medical student than the bachelor's or doctor's degree, with the intellectual fog with which it is ordinarily sealed.

Now that things are facts, and if the war continues for several years, the old-fashioned neighborhood midwife will be an absolute necessity, while the home apothecary shop will again make its appearance.

The Home Health Club book vol. 5, entitled "Medicinal Plants of America," and the instructions for their use in treating the milder ailments, should be in every home, and every neighborhood should have a local Home Health Club where these articles should be read and discussed, and the simple method of home treatment described in the other club books should be taught, so that it may not be necessary to call the over-worked doctor for the various ailments that you can as well treat yourself.

I would recommend all of you to study and apply the suggestions given in my last article for the cure of appendicitis and for sore throat.

YOU READ the Other Fellow's Ad

You are reading this one. That should convince you that advertising in these columns is a profitable proposition; that it will bring business to your store. The fact that the other fellow advertises is probably the reason he is getting more business than is falling to you. Would it not be well to give the other fellow a chance to be 50,000 physicians for each 1,000,000 people in France. These men should be physically fit and equipped by proper hospital experience. They should be young and capable of the ranks; indeed, a comparison of them ought to be made with the fifty, who have had administrative affairs of the war of an extensive sort. It is unwise to limit medical service to a birthday age of twenty-five as it is to require a birthday age of thirty to thirty-one to go into the military service. There is no reason to think that it will be sooner, the scarcity of attendants in the United States, irregular, will be great. With less than 100,000 men of suitable age and ready physical condition to draw the first two drafts of 1,000,000 each will leave the medical corps of the United States in the hands of the decrepit, the infirm, and the enemies. If we learn from the experience of England, we will find that such a condition does exist. There seem to be certain things we as a profession ought to do. First of all, we ought to insist that the draft does not disqualify any legitimate pursuit of any by any student, fit or unfit for military service, now matriculating or preparing the study of medicine in college or scientific school. It is inevitable that a large number of theoretically prospective medical students will be diverted to more inspiring fields or aviation, engineering and other activities of the war. The enrollment of medical students is likely to fall off, or be reduced from the unfit, from alien and possibly from "slackers" and students become exempt from military service. It is inevitable that to cut off, in the second draft, all the aged
